The saints' resurrection. 1 CORINTHIANS, 16. The manner of it.

25 For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.
26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death.
27 For he hath put all things under his feet. But when he saith, All things are put under him, it is manifest that he is excepted which did put all things under him.
28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him that put all things under him, that God may be all in all.
29 Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? why are they then baptized for the dead?
30 And why stand we in jeopardy every hour?
31 I protest by your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.
32 If after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantageth it me, if the dead rise not? let us eat and drink; for to-morrow we die.
33 Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.
34 Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame.
35 But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?
36 Thou fool, that which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die.
37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain:
38 But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body.
39 All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds.
40 There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.
41 There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for one star differeth from another star in glory.
42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption:
43 It is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power:
44 It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.
45 And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.
46 Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.
47 The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven.
48 As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.
49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.
50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.
51 Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,
52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.
53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.
54 So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory.
55 O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?
56 The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law.
57 But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.
58 Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.

CHAPTER 16.

1 How to proceed for the relief of the brethren.
13 Admonitions, 19 and salutations.

NOW concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye.
2 Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come.
3 And when I come, whomsoever ye shall approve by your letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem.
4 And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.
5 Now I will come unto you, when I shall pass through Macedonia: for I do pass through Macedonia.
6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, and winter with you, that ye may bring me on my journey whithersoever I go.
7 For I will not see you now by the way; but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit.
8 But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.
9 For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.
10 Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without fear: for he worketh the work of the Lord, as I also do.
11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conduct him forth in peace, that he may come unto me: for I look for him with the brethren.
12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desire him to come unto you with the brethren: but his will was not at all to come at this time; but he will come when he shall have convenient time.
13 Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong.

Exhortation to HEBREWS, XIII. various duties.

you the word of God; whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation;

8 Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to-day, and for ever.

9 Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.

10 We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.

11 For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burnt without the camp.

12 Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate.

13 Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach.

14 For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.

15 By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name.

16 But to do good and to communicate forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.

17 Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.

18 Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly.

19 But I beseech you the rather to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.

20 Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant,

21 Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well-pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

22 And I beseech you, brethren, suffer the word of exhortation: for I have written a letter unto you in few words.

23 Know ye that our brother Timothy is set at liberty; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you.

24 Salute all them that have the rule over you, and all the saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 Grace be with you all. Amen.

Written to the Hebrews from Italy by Timothy.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF JAMES.

CHAPTER I.

1 The apostle's address: 2 he exhorteth to patience in affliction, 5 to pray in faith.

JAMES, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations;

3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.

4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.

6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.

7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:

10 But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.

11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.

12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for Hypocrisy to S. LUKE, 12. be avoided.

50 That the blood of all the prophets, which was shed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation;
51 From the blood of Abel, unto the blood of Zacharias, which perished between the altar and the temple: verily I say unto you, It shall be required of this generation.
52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.
53 And as he said these things unto them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke him to speak of many things;
54 Laying wait for him, and seeking to catch something out of his mouth, that they might accuse him.

CHAPTER 12.

1 To avoid hypocrisy. 13 To beware of covetousness. 41 The faithful and wise steward. 49 Of divisions on account of the Gospel.

IN the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God:
9 But he that denieth me before men shall be denied before the angels of God.
10 And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that blasphemeth against the Holy Ghost it shall not be forgiven.
11 And when they bring you unto the synagogues, and unto magistrates, and powers, take ye no thought how or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall say:
12 For the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour what ye ought to say.
13 ¶ And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me.
14 And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you?
15 And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in

Vision of the ladder. GENESIS, 29. Jacob cometh to Haran.

ters of Canaan pleased not Isaac his father;

9 Then went Esau unto Ishmael, and took unto the wives which he had Mahalath the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nebajoth, to be his wife.

10 ¶ And Jacob went out from Beer-sheba, and went toward Haran.

11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night, because the sun was set; and he took of the stones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.

12 And he dreamed, and behold a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the angels of God ascending and descending on it.

13 And, behold! the LORD stood above it, and said, I am the LORD God of Abraham thy father, and the 21 So that I come again to my father's house in peace, then shall the LORD be my God:

22 And this stone, which I have set for a pillar, shall be God's house: and of all that thou shalt give me I will surely give the tenth unto thee.

CHAPTER 29.

1 Jacob, coming to the well of Haran, 9 meeteth Rachel, and is entertained by Laban: 15 he covenanteth for her, 21 but is deceived with Leah. 28 Rachel also given him to wife on a new agreement. 31 Leah beareth Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah.

THEN Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people of the east.

2 And he looked, and behold a well in the field, and, lo, there were three flocks of sheep lying by it; for out of that well they watered the flocks: and a great stone was upon the well's mouth.

Messiah's kingdom. PSALMS. The sovereignty of God.

23 Ye that fear the LORD, praise him; all ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Israel.
24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the afflicted; neither hath he hid his face from him; but when he cried unto him, he heard.
25 My praise shall be of thee in the great congregation: I will pay my vows before them that fear him.
26 The meek shall eat and be satisfied: they shall praise the LORD that seek him: your heart shall live for ever.
27 All the ends of the world shall remember, and turn unto with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

God's presence on the mount. EXODUS, 20. The ten commandments.

10 ¶ And the LORD said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and j sanctify them to-day and to-morrow, and let them k wash their clothes,

11 And be ready against the third day: for the third day the LORD l will come down in the sight of all the people upon mount Sinai.

12 And thou shalt set bounds unto the people round about, saying, Take heed to yourselves that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: m whosoever toucheth the mount shall be surely put to death:

13 There shall not an hand touch it, but he shall surely be stoned, or shot through; whether it be beast or man, it shall not live: when the l trumpet soundeth long, they shall come up to the mount.

14 ¶ And Moses went down from the mount unto the people, and sanctified the people; and they washed their clothes.

15 And he said unto the people, Be ready against the third day: n come not at your wives.

16 ¶ And it came to pass on the third day, in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled.

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

4 And he must needs go through Samaria.

5 Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground [a] that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.

6 Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour.

7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.

The praises of charity. 1 CORINTHIANS, XIV. The gift of tongues.

4 Charity [e] suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity [1] vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,
5 Doth not behave itself [f] unseemly, seeketh [g] not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;
6 Rejoiceth [h] not in iniquity, [i] but rejoiceth [2] in the truth;
7 Beareth [j] all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.
8 Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.
9 For [k] we know in part, and we prophesy in part.
10 But [l] when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
12 For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.
13 And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

14 Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy.
15 For he that speaketh in an unknown tongue speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for no man understandeth him; however in the spirit he speaketh mysteries.
16 But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort.
17 He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the church.
18 I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all:
19 Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue.
20 Brethren, be not children in understanding: however in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men.
21 In the law it is written, With men of other tongues and other lips will I speak unto this people; and yet for all that will they not hear me, saith the Lord.
22 Wherefore tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.
23 If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad?
24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all:
25 And thus are the secrets of his heart made manifest; and so falling down on his face he will worship God, and report that God is in you of a truth.

26 How is it then, brethren? when ye come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a revelation, hath an interpretation. Let all things be done unto edifying.
27 If any man speak in an unknown tongue, let it be by two, or at most by three, and that by course; and let one interpret.
28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the church; and let him speak to himself, and to God.
29 Let the prophets speak two or three, and let the other judge.
30 If any thing be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.
31 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted.
32 And the spirits of the prophets are subject to the prophets.
33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.
34 Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience, as also saith the law.
35 And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church.
36 What? came the word of God out from you? or came it unto you only?
37 If any man think himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things that I write unto you are the commandments of the Lord.
38 But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.
39 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak with tongues.
40 Let all things be done decently and in order.

6 Now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?
7 And even things without life giving sound, whether [g] pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the [2] sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?
8 For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?
9 So likewise ye, except ye utter by the tongue words [3] easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye shall speak into [h] the air.

10 [3] He sendeth the springs into the valleys, which [4] run among the hills.
11 They give drink to every beast of the field: the wild asses [5] quench their thirst.
12 By them shall the fowls of the heaven have their habitation, which [6] sing among the branches.
13 He watereth the hills from his chambers: the earth is satisfied with the fruit of thy works.
14 He g causeth the grass to grow for the cattle, and herb for the service of man: that he may bring forth h food out of the earth;
15 And i wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and [7] oil to make his face to shine, and bread which strengtheneth man's heart.
16 The [8] trees of the LORD are full of sap; the cedars of Lebanon, j which he hath planted;
17 Where the birds make their nests: as for the stork, the fir trees are her house.
18 The high hills are a refuge for the wild goats, and the rocks for k the conies.
19 He l appointed the moon for seasons: the sun m knoweth his going down.
20 Thou n makest darkness, and it is night: wherein [9] all the beasts of the forest do creep forth.

Christ promiseth JOHN, XV. the Holy Spirit.

my [m] name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14 If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.

15 ¶ If [n] ye love me, keep my commandments.

16 And I will pray the Father, and [o] he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever;

17 Even [p] the Spirit of truth; whom [q] the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, [r] and shall be in you.

18 I will not leave you [1] comfortless: I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but [s] ye see me: [t] because I live, ye shall live also.

20 At that day ye shall know that [u] I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.

21 He [v] that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.

22 Judas saith unto him, (not Iscariot,) Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world?

23 Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, [w] and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.

24 He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings: and [x] the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me.

25 These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you.

26 But [y] the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will

CHAPTER XV.

1 The union between Christ and his church, under the parable of a vine. 26 The office of the Holy Ghost, etc.

I AM the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman.

2 Every [a] branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away; and every branch that beareth fruit he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 Now [b] ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.

4 Abide [c] in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much [d] fruit: for [1] without me ye can do nothing.

6 If a [e] man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.

7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

8 Herein [f] is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples.

9 As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love.

10 If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and [g] that your joy might be full.

34 For [c] he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit [d] by measure unto him.

35 The [e] Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand.

36 He [f] that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but [g] the wrath of God abideth on him.

CHAPTER IV.

1 Christ revealeth himself to a woman of Samaria: 31 his zeal for God's glory 39 Many Samaritans believe on him. 43 He healeth the ruler's son.

WHEN therefore the Lord knew how the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John,

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

4 And he must needs go through Samaria.

5 Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground "that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.

6 Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour.

7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.

8 (For his disciples were gone away unto the city to buy meat.)

8 Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ;

9 And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ:

10 To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord:

12 In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, which is your glory.

14 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named,

16 That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man;

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love,

18 May be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height;

19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled [v] with all the fulness of God.

20 Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us,

21 Unto him be [w] glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

New Self-Pronouncing Teacher's Bible.

Preface to the New Aids.

THE BIBLE READERS' AIDS is designed to present in brief, concise form, yet full enough for use, the information needed by Bible readers regarding questions of importance connected with the Holy Scripture. Especially is it the desire to present facts and topics not always conveniently accessible, and thus to make this a handbook of Bible knowledge for the general reader who wishes the information in a condensed form, as well as a ready compendium for the student who may have access to good libraries.

The design has been to give the latest information in matters of biblical research, presenting fully the facts and briefly the best theories, being always conservative, and never in any way suggesting any doubts in matters of the inspiration or authority of the Bible, but seeking to strengthen the readers' faith through an intelligent knowledge of the truth regarding the Scripture. The present AIDS has necessarily been confined within defined limits, but it is hoped that it will be found to meet all proper requirements.

Most of the articles in these AIDS are based upon contributions originally prepared for and used in the Manual issued with other editions of this series of Bibles; but they have been rearranged by the editor of the AIDS to meet the special plan of this edition. Some of the most useful papers, however, have been prepared for this series.

The articles included in both editions were written by able writers representing the chief Protestant churches of Great Britain and America, especially qualified to treat biblical questions at once scholarly and popular. Care was taken to secure contributors who are believers in the Divine inspiration and the historical truth of the Holy Scriptures, and in the divinity of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. The Table of Contents will show the wide range of writers and the high scholarship of those enlisted in this undertaking.

In this arrangement special care has been taken to avoid repetition, and thus not only to have all matters regarding one subject in one place, but also to save valuable space in the AIDS. Preference has always been given, in the choice of material, to ascertained facts, though sometimes the authors' conclusions are stated, or the arguments of others are given, that the subject may be fully treated as it may be seen to-day.

The attention of the reader is especially called to the practical character of the topics chosen for presentation and to their convenient treatment. These include suggestions on the study of the Bible and its use in the church, Sunday school, and home; articles on questions connected with the choice, arrangement, and history of the various books of the Bible; a complete system of chronology from the earliest to the latest events of Bible history, including a brief and excellent study of the history of the Jews, and of the early Christian church; clear explanations of questions connected with the tabernacle, prophecies, sects, etc.; admirable illustrated articles on the Bible as it is related to ancient contemporary peoples and their history, together with studies of Jewish antiquities, poetry, and music, and full discussions of the important and interesting subjects suggested by our knowledge of the land of the Bible.

In the arrangement of these topics, special care has been taken to group them in convenient form for reference, so that any reader, with a few minutes of study, can know exactly where to find whatever subjects may be desired. This is independent of the very complete index to all important subjects treated found in the Word Book. Not only are the topics carefully grouped, but each article is presented in the manner which will make it most easily consulted; divisions of the subject, topics of the paragraphs, and important names are all printed prominently so that they may be readily seen.

The publishers are especially gratified with the fact that they first introduced illustrations into Bible Helps, the first edition of this Manual containing some of the best illustrations yet published. In preparing these, in this edition as in the former, the aim has been to give simply a few typical illustrations, rather than to encumber the book with a large number of pictures, which increase the thickness without adding material value. These illustrations have been chosen with the greatest care by the editor and his assistants, and cover all necessary subjects. Some of them are given directly in connection with the text, and therefore are convenient for reference to the student. In other cases it was impossible to introduce them into the text, but where necessary the proper articles are mentioned. The writers have made frequent references to these illustrations in the body of the AIDS, and the pictures themselves refer to the articles which they illustrate.

The peculiar features of this edition are the Books of Reference and the Word Book. After each topic is given a selected list of books bearing upon that subject, for those who desire to continue the study more fully. While these lists are not complete, yet an effort has been made to select books of practical value as well as scholarly attainments.

The Word Book is a new feature in Bible Aids. It includes those words which have been usually given in various alphabetical lists, thus often requiring research in several places before the information could be obtained. When necessary to give fuller descriptions than possible in the Word Book, the index reference will give at once the clue to its page and column in the general articles. This Word Book forms the larger portion of the AIDS, and includes Concordance, Index, Proper Names, Gazetteer, etc. It will commend itself to all desiring something for ready reference.

It is confidently believed that this new edition will prove valuable, and that its unique features will commend themselves to Bible readers generally.

THE AMERICAN EDITOR.

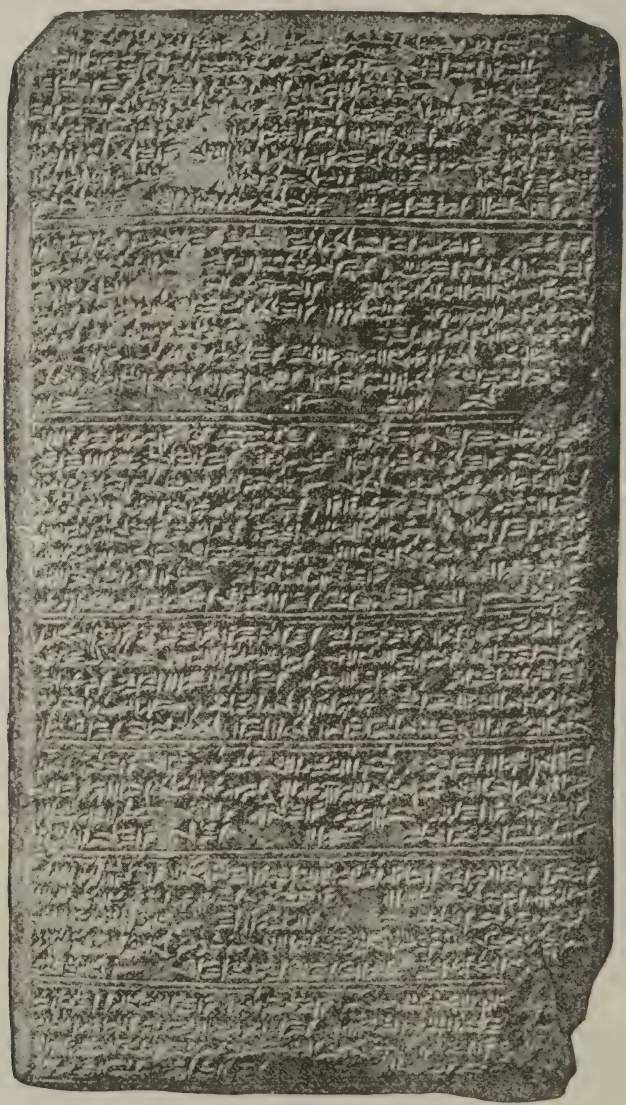

PLATE I.

TEL-EL-AMARNA TABLET.

OBVERSE OF ONE OF THE TABLETS FROM TEL-EL-AMARNA, IN UPPER EGYPT.

THESE tablets, of which about 320 were found, are mostly letters from Phenicia, Syria, Palestine, Babylonia, etc., to Amenophis III. and IV. of Egypt, and other persons, concerning affairs in those countries between 1500 and 1450 B.C. The Museum of Berlin possesses three in which the city Urusalem (Jerusalem) is mentioned. The text of the tablet here reproduced, which is one of the best specimens in the British Museum, is a letter sent by Tushratta, king of Mitāni, to Mimmuria (=Neb-mut-Ra, Amenophis III.), king of Egypt, his son-in-law, concerning their friendship, etc., and asking for a gift of gold. A list of the gifts sent on this occasion by Tushratta to the king of Egypt closes the document. Date about 1500 B.C.

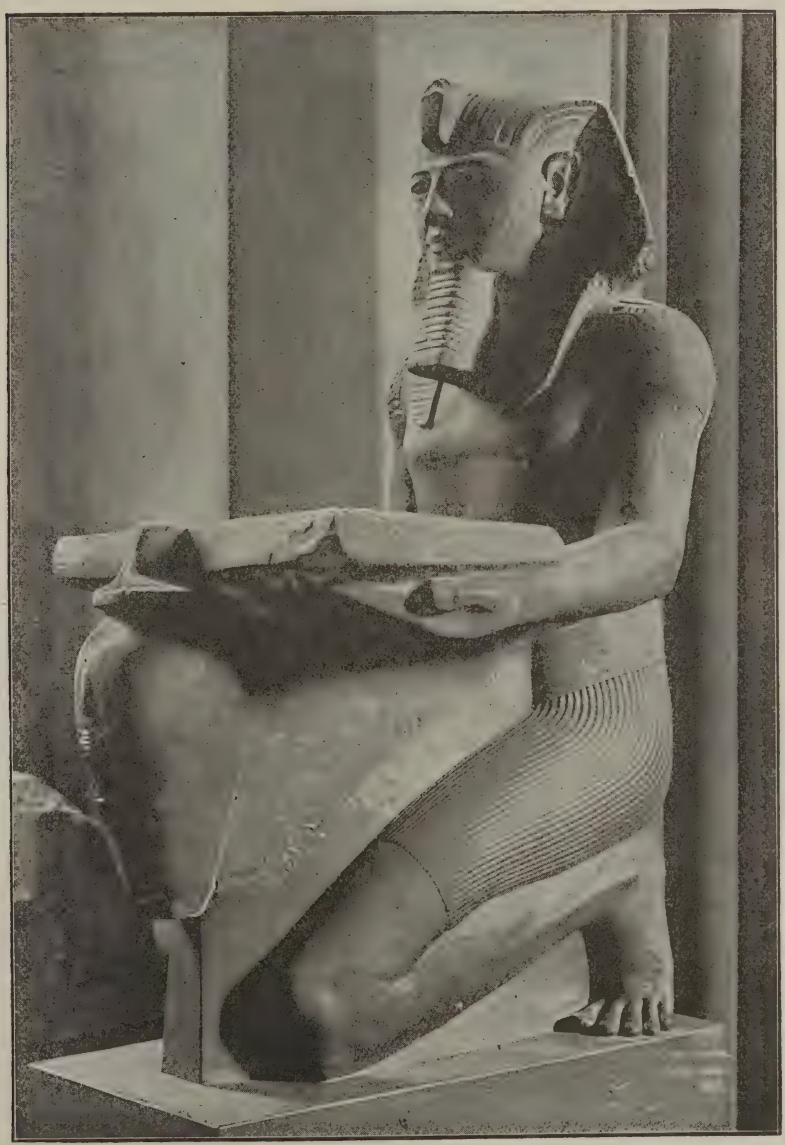

PLATE VII.

RAMESES II., KING OF EGYPT.

RAMESES II. was one of the greatest conquerors among the kings of Egypt. He was famous also as a builder of temples and cities, including the treasure-cities of Raamses and Pithom, built by the Israelites. He is regarded as the Pharaoh of the oppression. In the illustration (from a statue in the British Museum) he is kneeling, holding a table of offerings.

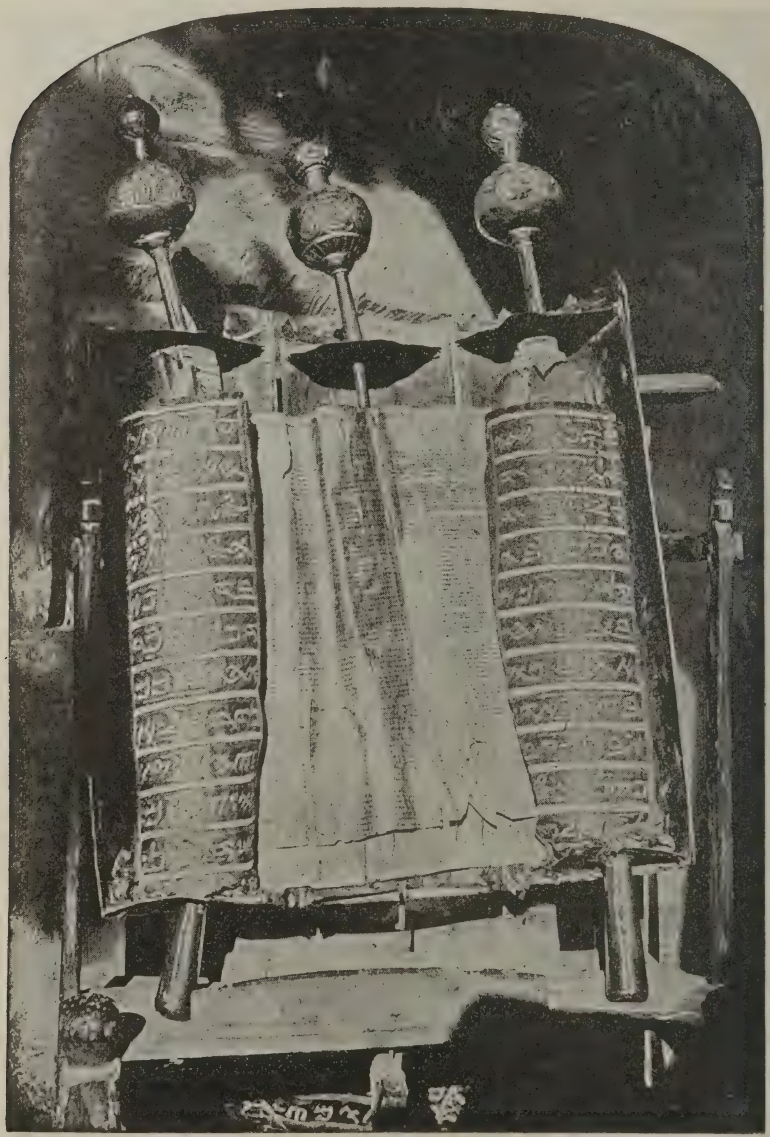

PLATE X.

THE SAMARITAN PENTATEUCH.

THIS celebrated scroll is in the synagogue of Nablus (ancient Shechem). It is written on ram-skins about 15 by 25 inches in size, which are much worn and stained. The text is written in gold, which still preserves its luster. It is kept in a cylindrical silvered case, opened on two sets of hinges. The outside of the case is richly embossed to illustrate the tabernacle of the wilderness, the ark of the covenant, altars, and other sacred implements.

Phenician style of character until the captivity, when they adopted the related Aramaic style, which ultimately developed into what is now used, namely, the "square" Hebrew character. It is not unlikely that the cuneiform system, which was in use in Palestine before the entry of the Jews, still lingered after they took possession of the country, here and there, and it has been supposed that Jer. 32: 10, 11 contains a reference to the writing of a contract, in the old Babylonian style, on a clay tablet, and provided with an envelope of clay, also inscribed, so as to insure the preservation of the record. This, however, is very doubtful.

The illustration on page 122 will serve to show what an Assyrian tablet in the cuneiform character was like (this example, however, is merely a fragment, and the trade documents of the Assyrians and Babylonians differed somewhat from texts of this class). The lapidary style of Assyrian cuneiform will be found on page 139 (Black Obelisk). See also PLATES IV. and VI.

TIBERIAS AND THE SEA OF GALILEE.

TIBERIAS is mentioned in the history of our Lord in John 6: 1, 23; 21: 1. After the fall of Jerusalem it became one of the chief residence cities of the Jews in Palestine. To its rabbinical school we are indebted for the "Masoretic vowel-points."

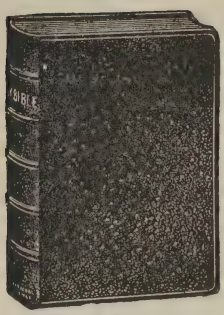
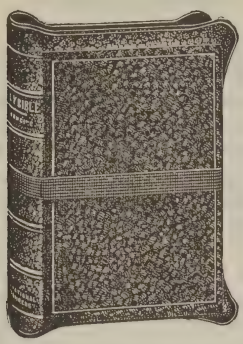
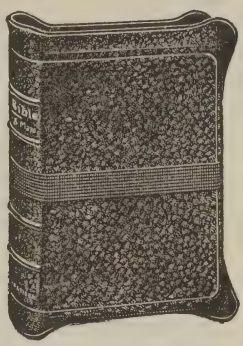
REFERENCE AND TEACHERS' BIBLES.



No. 103.



No. 112.



No. 143.

RECOGNIZING the demand for a series of GERMAN TEACHERS' BIBLES to correspond with the English lines, we have had made an entirely new set of German Bible plates in Bourgeois type. This page is a convenient size, and the book may be easily carried. The references are especially full. The Bibles have a very COMPLETE SET OF HELPS and the BEST MAPS, prepared by men of high scholarship. These Bibles have all the excellent qualities of the English Bibles, in paper, printing, and manufacture. THIS WILL BE THE ONLY LINE OF GERMAN TEACHERS' BIBLES IN THE WORLD. They are made with and without the Apocrypha. There are four series in the line, with thin and India paper editions. They will be found to answer all the requirements of the general trade.

In addition to the Teachers' Bibles, we have also prepared a line of GERMAN REFERENCE BIBLES, with the Apocrypha, and printed on thick and on India paper. An examination will show this to be an exceptionally good line.

ANY OF THESE BIBLES MAY BE HAD WITH DENISON'S PATENT INDEX AT $1.25 ADDITIONAL; OR, SILVERA'S REFLEX PATENT INDEX AT 75 CENTS ADDITIONAL.

A blind man JOHN. restored to sight.

54 Jesus answered, If I honour myself, my honour is nothing: it is my Father that honoureth me; of whom ye say, that he is your God:
55 Yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his saying.
56 Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day; and he saw it, and was glad.
57 Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?
58 Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am.
59 Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

4 I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work.
5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.
6 When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay,
7 And said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is, by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing.
8 ¶ The neighbours therefore, and they which before had seen him that he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?
9 Some said, This is he: others said, He is like him: but he said, I am he.
10 Therefore said they unto the lump is also holy; and if the root be holy, so are the branches.

17 And if some of the branches be broken off, and thou, being a wild olive tree, wert graffed in among them, and with them partakest of the root and fatness of the olive tree;

18 Boast not against the branches. But if thou boast, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches were broken off, that I might be graffed in.

20 Well; because of unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest by faith. Be not high-minded, but fear:

21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee.

22 Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off.

23 And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be graffed in: for God is able to graff them in again.

24 For if thou were cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and were graffed contrary to nature into a good olive tree: how much more shall these, which be the natural branches, be graffed into their own olive tree?

25 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits, that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob:

27 For this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins.

28 As concerning the gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers' sakes.

29 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 For as ye in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief;

Christ's crucifixion JOHN, XIX. and death.

15 But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate saith unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Cesar.

16 Then delivered he him therefore unto them to be crucified. And they took Jesus, and led him away.

17 And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place which saith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.

25 ¶ Now there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son!

Love is the ROMANS, XIV. fulfilling of the law.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.

3 For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil, Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same:

4 For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.

shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

10 Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

11 And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.

12 The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.

MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

Human Progress:

WHAT CAN MAN DO TO FURTHER IT?

By Thomas S. Blair, A.M. (Harvard). The author of this treatise, taking up the above question and finding the present state of human knowledge inadequate to furnish an answer, reasons that the complexity of the facts of human experience has proved too much for the philosophers, and looks about for an instance of better results elsewhere. This he finds in the case of the successful man of affairs. The present work is simply a report of the conclusions reached through the application of business common-sense methods to the inquiry in hand. 12mo, cloth. 573 pages, by mail, postpaid, $1.50

Lessons in Botany.

Arranged by Caroline E. Hilliard, New York. The exercises have been arranged for use in connection with Gray's "How Plants Grow." So far as possible the lessons are based upon careful study of specimens. Blank pages are inserted for drawings and records of observations.

Cloth, 104 pages, 75 cents

Bohemian Legends and other Poems.

By F. P. Kopta. Second edition. "Bohemian Legends and Ballads," when published in Austria in 1890, was confiscated by the government. At first, "John Huss," a poem of the collection, was the supposed cause of seizure, but later written notice to the author gave "The Patriots" as the true objection. As few books of Bohemian literature are to be obtained, it is hoped this volume may do something toward making the literature better known. 12mo, 183 pages, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents

The Naiad.

A story from the French of George Sand. By Katherine Berry di Zérega. Many years ago, George Sand wrote in her own inimitable style a story called "The Naiad," which is one of the most delightful of the explained class of ghost stories in any language, and it gives, too, in the course of the tale, a very interesting analysis of the relations between classes in France at the end of the ancien régime, when the rising tide of democracy and philosophy was about to overflow the institutions of the monarchy. This very charming little book was worthy of translation, and Mrs. di Zérega has very well performed her task. Her English is crisp and sprightly, and is rendered piquant by an occasional Gallic idiom. The book is dedicated to the memory of Mrs. di Zérega's daughter, the late Lady Frankland.

12mo, cloth, - - - - - $1.00

Rolands Squires.

A Legend of the Time of Charlemagne. By Mrs. Harriet Pinckney Huse. Square, 16mo, illustrated, - - - - 50 cents

Told at Tuxedo.

By A. M. Emory. The author's name here given is a pseudonym of one well known to members of the Union League Club, New York Clubs and Society in general, and as well Tuxedo residents. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

Tales of the South Seas.

By Thornton J. Hains. 12mo, paper, - - 50 cents

Choice Readings.

By Anna T. Randall, author of "Reading and Elocution." 12mo, cloth, with leather back, 407 pages, - - - 75 cents

Precious Words of Hope and Comfort.

This little book neatly bound in white, contains selections gathered from time to time from religious papers and books, intended to help and strengthen in seasons of sorrow. Price, - - - 25 cents

The Philosophy of Art in America.

A dissertation upon vital topics of the day; perhaps of all time. By Carl de Muldor (pseudonym). In it is outlined the whole field of the Fine Arts, carefully and comprehensively, if not exhaustively, treated. It is an eloquent plea for the usefully artistic and the artistically useful. The author is a member of the National Academy of Design, an artist of acknowledged great abilities, a student and a traveller. 12mo, cloth, - - 50 cents

Angelus Domini.

An Anthology in Art and Verse in relation to the Virgin Mary, selected and arranged by the editor and illustrator of "Songs for Christmas," "Songs of Easter," etc. 286 pages, blue cloth, $1.50; white, full gilt, $2.00; Levant morocco, $3.00; calf, $3.50.

The Protection of Woodlands.

Authorized translation from the German of Kauschinger-Fürst's "Waldschutz." By John Nisbet, D'Œc., of the Indian Forest Service, author of "British Forest Trees, and their Sylvicultural Characteristics and Treatment." The various portions are dealt with in a strictly scientific manner, though at the same time tersely, and from a thoroughly practical standpoint. As there is no special work on Sylvicultural Entomology in English, the chapter on noxious Forest Insects has been somewhat amplified. One volume, 8vo, with colored plates, - - - $3.50

The Hygiene of Beauty.

By Dr. E. Monin (of Paris), Secretary of the French Society of Hygiene; Chevalier of the Legion of Honor; Officer of Public Instruction. Translated under the immediate supervision of the Author. This manual is divided into two parts, entirely distinct. The first treats generally of beauty and its hygiene; the second gives the practical details of the cosmetic art. 12mo, cloth, 171 pages, - - - - - - - - $1.00

American Practical Hygiene of To-day.

By C. Gilman Currier, M. D. The author has treated his subject judicially. Accepted truths only are employed in these chapters; very positive opinions are not given unless they are those of a majority of leading thinkers. Therapeutic measures are not discussed unless they come legitmately within the province of hygiene. The author presents in popular form the results of extensive and careful study, observation, and experiment. The subject is one of such great importance and it is here treated so admirably that a copy of the book ought to be in every home. Most of the illustrations have been prepared especially for this work. 12mo, cloth, with many illustration, - - - - - - - $1.50

Koch on Cholera.

Translated by George Duncan, M. A., with prefatory note by W. T. Gairdner. M. D., LL. D., F. R. S., Professor of the Practice of Medicine, Glasgow University; President of the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh, etc., etc. Dr. Gairdner believes that at once this work will confirm with those who have hitherto believed in him, Prof. Koch's reputation as not only one of the most distinguished, but also one of the most trustworthy authorities of this century on all subjects connected with bacteriology in its application to diagnosis, and also to the prevention of disease; and will also, perhaps, win him some converts even from among those who have (in Dr. Gairdner's opinion quite wrongfully), disparaged the whole of his work on account of the imperfections of a small part of it. The setting forth of the facts are luminous and accurate, and the statement of his argument firm and logical. The treatise is simply a model of sanitary research. 8vo, cloth, 150 pages. - - - $1.50

Home Treatment for Catarrhs and Colds.

By Leonard A. Dessar, M. D. visiting Laryngologist to St. Marks Hospital and to Mt. Sini Dispensary, etc., etc. This small treatise has been written with a view of supplying the general reader with a trustworthy guide of instructions for the proper care, prevention and treatment of catarrhal troubles of the throat, nose and ears, and their complications. Its aim is not to bewilder the reader with a number of technical terms, but to afford a clear insight into the affections. The drugs and apparatus advocated can be obtained with facility, and at a moderate cost, from the nearest pharmacist, and they are only such as have been proven of positive benefit in the author's experience. The author urges most strongely, that the purpose of this little book is not to supplant the physician, but to acquaint the reader with the principals of promoting the health of the organs. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, - - - - - - - $1.00

(*)MOLLER. "Operative Veterinary Surgery." By Professor Dr. H. Moller, Berlin. Translated and edited from the 2d edition, enlarged and improved, by John A. W. Dollar, M.R.C.S.

Prof. Moller's work presents the most recent and complete exposition of the Principles and Practice of Veterinary Surgery, and is the standard text-book on the subject throughout Germany.

Many subjects ignored in previous treatises on Veterinary Surgery here receive full consideration, while the better known are presented under new and suggestive aspects.

As Prof. Moller's work represents not only his own opinions and practice, but those of the best Veterinary Surgeons of various countries, the translation cannot fail to be of signal service to American and British Veterinarians and to Students of Veterinary and Comparative Surgery.

(*)NOCARD. "The Animal Tuberculoses, and their Relation to Human Tuberculosis." By Ed. Nocard, Professor of the Alfort Veterinary College. Translated by H. Scurfield, M.D. Ed., Ph. Camb.

Perhaps the chief interest to doctors of human medicine in Professor Nocard's book lies in the demonstration of the small part played by heredity, and the great part played by contagion in the propagation of bovine tuberculosis. It seems not unreasonable to suppose that the same is the case for human tuberculosis, and that, if the children of tuberculosis parents were protected from infection by cohabitation or ingestion, the importance of heredity as a cause of the disease, or even of the predisposition to it, would dwindle away into insignificance. 12mo, cloth 143 pages.....1 00

"VETERAN."

Initiatory French Readings. Many objections have been raised to the numerous First French Readers, especially those containing little material really French or silly stories despised by bright children, and so on. Due to demands for a book containing material that would rouse the interest of the student by telling in simple yet attractive manner things that would hold attention, this volume was prepared.

In the first part, viz., the picturesque facts of Our Country, the child's groping after an elusive sense is done away with, and, encouraged by understanding easily, he is sure to retain, with little trouble, words and phrases with the sense of which he is already familiar.

The second part, viz., The Discovery of France by some young American travellers, is doubly valuable, as it contains training in the language with pleasurable instruction in the subject itself. Interest will not flag and the reading may be as rapid as desired. 12mo, cloth, 155 pages.....75c.

FOR TRANSLATING ENGLISH INTO FRENCH.

Short Selections for Translating English into French, including a few examination papers. Arranged progressively, with explanatory and grammatical notes. 12mo, cloth. 137 pages.....75c.

HENNEQUIN, Alfred, (Ph.D.)

A Woman of Sense and A Hair-Powder Plot. Two English plays intended for translating Colloquial English into French, with grammatical, idiomatic and dramatic notes. By Alfred Hennequin, Ph.D., of the New England College of Languages. 12mo, flexible cloth.....40c.

PROGRESSIVE FRENCH DRILL.

Preliminary French Drill, by a Veteran, 12mo, Cloth, 68 pages ....50c.

Drill Book.—A.—This book gives the pupils the power to speak from the start, and as it embodies systematically the main principles of the language, it will easily accomplish all the work a grammar is supposed to do—and much more. The vocabulary (English and French) will be found to be quite extensive, and contains most of the words in common use. 12mo, 118 pp., cloth.....75c.

B.—"The purpose of this book is to facilitate the mastery of the irregular verbs in all their tenses. The 'drill' is conducted by questions on everyday topics, which are to be answered in French. It is the outgrowth of practical experience in attempts to combine sound grammatical knowledge with actual living conversation, and it is admirably fitted to accomplish this result. —Boston Transcript. 12mo, 82 pp., cloth.....50c.

PRONUNCIATION.

French Pronunciation, Rules and Practice for the Use of Americans. 12mo, bds., 50 pages.....50c.

This short treatise offered to the students, is constructed above all on the lines of practical use.

The book may be most advantageously used in connection with the earliest lessons in the language. Yet it is of permanent value to any student, as therein is found an answer to all questions that are usually asked on the subject of pronunciation.

Gender of French Nouns at a Glance. Small Cards 3 x 5 inches...10c.

This card, showing at a glance the gender of most of the French Nouns, will prove very valuable to the students when writing, as it will save them trouble and much time lost in looking up in the dictionary.

VERBS.

French Verbs at a Glance, by Mariot de Beauvoisin. The readiest, simplest, most practical and cheapest treatise on the French verbs, their grammatical construction, regular and idiomatic usage and conjugations. Exceedingly valuable in mastering the difficulties besetting students in French, in regard to the forms and conjugations of the verb. Fifty thousand have been sold in England. 8vo, 61 pages.....35c.

French Verbs, by Chas. P. DuCroquet. Concise, clear and thorough treatise for learning all French verbs in a few lessons. Cloth, 47 pages.....35c.

French Verbs. By Professor Schele de Vere, of the University of Virginia. Concise, clear and thorough treatise for learning all French verbs. Cloth, 201 pages.....$1.00

Blanks for the Conjugation of French Verbs, by Chas. P. DuCroquet. Put up in tablets.....30c.

These blanks save more than half the time otherwise necessary in writing or in correcting verbs. They ensure uniformity in the class work and give the learner a clearer understanding of what he is doing.

Drill Book.—B.—"The purpose of this book is to facilitate the mastery of the irregular verbs in all their tenses. The 'Drill' is conducted by questions on everyday topics, which are to be answered in French. It is the outgrowth of practical experience in attempts to combine sound grammatical knowledge with actual living conversation, and it is admirably fitted to accomplish this result.—Boston Transcript. 12mo, cloth, 82 pages .....50c.

GERMAN.

Kleine Anfange, Ein buch für kleine Leute, by Fraulein Albertine Kase, of Teachers' College, New York. 8vo, boards, 133 pages, many illustrations.....75c.

It is a book for teaching German to little children, and is entirely different from any before published, either at home or abroad. It is not dull, difficult, and so uninteresting as many books now in use. Send for a copy for examination. It will speak for itself.

Des Kindes Erstes Buch, by Wilhelm Rippe. 12mo, boards, 100 pp..40c.

Since the publication of the very successful first French book "Livre des Enfants," many demands have been received by the publisher for a work of similar character in German. This method is divided into forty lessons, each consisting of a short vocabulary, and appropriate illustration, a reading lesson, and a few sentences to be memorized; and as appendix are given a few simple rhymes suitable for the nursery.

Der Praktische Deutsche, by U. Jos. Beiley. 12mo. Cloth, 222 pp..$1.00

"Der Praktische Deutsche" is arranged after the plan of Paul Bercy's "Le Français Pratique" but it is by no means a translation of that book. The aim has been to provide the material necessary to enable the learner to converse with Germans in their own language, and to arrange it in such an order that the study will be pleasurable as well as profitable. A vocabulary is at the end of the volume.

Das Deutsche Litteratur Spiel, by F. S. Zoller.....75c.

A German game of authors. The plan is very similar to that of the well-known English game of authors. It consists of 100 cards arranged in sets of four, each set giving the name of an author and three of his or her best known works. It may be played by any number of persons and will be found an excellent recreation for schools and for evening companies.

THIRD EDITION. GREATLY ENLARGED.

A DICTIONARY OF

Electrical Words, Terms, and Phrases.

By EDWIN J. HOUSTON, PH.D. (Princeton),

AUTHOR OF

Advanced Primers of Electricity; Electricity One Hundred Years Ago and To-day, etc., etc., etc.

Cloth. 667 large octavo pages, 582 Illustrations. Price, $5.00.

Some idea of the scope of this important work and of the immense amount of labor involved in it, may be formed when it is stated that it contains definitions of about 6000 distinct words, terms, or phrases. The dictionary is not a mere word-book; the words, terms, and phrases are invariably followed by a short, concise definition, giving the sense in which they are correctly employed, and a general statement of the principles of electrical science on which the definition is founded. Each of the great classes or divisions of electrical investigation or utilization comes under careful and exhaustive treatment; and while close attention is given to the more settled and hackneyed phraseology of the older branches of work, the newer words and the novel departments they belong to are not less thoroughly handled. Every source of information has been referred to, and while libraries have been ransacked, the note-book of the laboratory and the catalogue of the wareroom have not been forgotten or neglected. So far has the work been carried in respect to the policy of inclusion that the book has been brought down to date by means of an appendix, in which are placed the very newest words, as well as many whose rareness of use had consigned them to obscurity and oblivion. As one feature, an elaborate system of cross-references has been adopted, so that it is as easy to find the definitions as the words, and aliases are readily detected and traced. The typography is excellent, being large and bold, and so arranged that each word catches the eye at a glance by standing out in sharp relief from the page.

Cloth. Price per volume, $1.00.

The publication of this series of elementary electro-technical treatises on applied electricity has been undertaken to meet a demand which is believed to exist on the part of the public and others for reliable information regarding such matters in electricity as cannot be readily understood by those not specially trained in electro-technics. The general public, students of elementary electricity and the many interested in the subject from a financial or other indirect connection, as well as electricians desiring information in other branches than their own, will find in these works precise and authoritative statements concerning the several branches of applied electrical science of which the separate volumes treat. The reputation of the authors and their recognized abilities as writers, are a sufficient guarantee for the accuracy and reliability of the statements contained. The entire issue, though published in a series of ten volumes, is nevertheless so prepared that each book is complete in itself and can be understood independently of the others. The volumes are profusely illustrated, printed on a superior quality of paper and handsomely bound in covers of a special design.

Electrodynamic Machinery.

BY

EDWIN J. HOUSTON, PH.D.,

AND

A. E. KENNELLY, SC.D.

Cloth. 322 Pages. 232 Illustrations. Price, $2.50.

The advent of the commercially perfected dynamo has marked such an era in electric progress, that the desire naturally exists on the part of students generally, and of electrical engineers in particular, to grasp thoroughly the principles underlying its constitution and operation. While excellent treatises on dynamo-electric machinery are in existence, yet a want has been experienced of a book which shall approach the subject, not from the mathematical standpoint, but from an engineering standpoint, and especially from such an engineering standpoint as would arise in actual working with the apparatus. A book of this latter type will be found in the present work, which is the outcome of a series of articles on the same subject by these authors appearing in the Electrical World during 1894–1895. Electrodynamic Machinery, as it is described in this volume, is limited to the consideration of continuous-current apparatus. The authors have endeavored to explain thoroughly the principles involved by the use of as simple mathematics as the case will permit. In order to fix these principles in the mind of the student, and to test his understanding of the same, they have been accompanied by numerous examples taken from practical work, so that a student who will intelligently follow the treatment found in these pages will obtain a grasp of the subject that it would be very difficult for him to obtain otherwise without personal experience. For this reason it is believed that the book will serve as a text-book on continuous-current dynamo-electric machinery for electric-engineering students of all grades.

Electricity and Magnetism.

A Series of Advanced Primers.

By EDWIN J. HOUSTON, PH.D. (Princeton),

AUTHOR OF

"A Dictionary of Electrical Words, Terms, and Phrases,"
etc., etc., etc.

Cloth. 306 pages, 116 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

During the Philadelphia Electrical Exhibition of 1884, Prof. Houston issued a set of elementary electrical primers for the benefit of the visitors to the exhibition, which attained a wide popularity. During the last ten years, however, the advances in the applications of electricity have been so great and so widespread that the public would no longer be satisfied with instruction in regard to only the most obvious and simple points, and accordingly the author has prepared a set of new primers of a more advanced character as regards matter and extent. The treatment, nevertheless, remains such that they can be easily understood by any one without a previous knowledge of electricity. Electricians will find these primers of marked interest from their lucid explanations of principles, and the general public will find in them an easily read and agreeable introduction to a fascinating subject. The first volume, as will be seen from the contents, deals with the theory and general aspects of the subject. As no mathematics is used and the explanations are couched in the simplest terms, this volume is an ideal first book from which to obtain the preliminary ideas necessary for the proper understanding of more advanced works.

The Measurement of Electrical Currents and Other Advanced Primers of Electricity.

By EDWIN J. HOUSTON, PH.D. (Princeton),

AUTHOR OF

"A Dictionary of Electrical Words, Terms, and Phrases," etc., etc., etc.

Cloth. 429 pages, 169 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

This volume is the second of Prof. Houston's admirable series of Advanced Primers of Electricity, and is devoted to the measurement and practical applications of the electric current. The different sources of electricity are taken up in turn, the apparatus described with reference to commercial forms, and the different systems of distribution explained. The sections on alternating currents will be found a useful introduction to a branch which is daily assuming larger proportions, and which is here treated without the use of mathematics. An excellent feature of this series of primers is the care of statement and logical treatment of the subjects. In this respect there is a marked contrast to most popular treatises, in which only the most simple and merely curious points are given, to the exclusion or subordination of more important ones. The abstracts from standard electrical authors at the end of each primer have in general reference and furnish an extension to some important point in the primer, and at the same time give the reader an introduction to electrical literature. The abstracts have been chosen with care from authoritative professional sources or from treatises of educational value in the various branches.

THE

Electrical Transmission of Intelligence

AND OTHER ADVANCED PRIMERS OF ELECTRICITY.

By EDWIN J. HOUSTON, Ph.D. (Princeton),

AUTHOR OF

"A Dictionary of Electrical Words, Terms, and Phrases,"
etc., etc., etc.

Cloth. 330 pages, 88 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

The third and concluding volume of Prof. Houston's Series of Advanced Primers of Electricity is devoted to the telegraph, telephone, and miscellaneous applications of the electric current. In this volume the difficult subjects of multiple and cable telegraphy and electrolysis, as well as the telephone, storage battery, etc., are treated in a manner that enables the beginner to easily grasp the principles, and yet with no sacrifice in completeness of presentation. The electric apparatus for use in houses, such as electric-bells, annunciators, thermostats, electric locks, gas-lighting systems, etc., are explained and illustrated. The primer on electro-therapeutics describes the medical coil and gives instructions for its use, as well as explaining the action of various currents on the human body. The interesting primers on cable telegraphy and on telephony will be appreciated by those who wish to obtain a clear idea of the theory of these attractive branches of electrical science and a knowledge of the details of the apparatus. Attention is called to the fact that each of the primers in this series is, as far as possible, complete in itself, and that there is no necessary connection between the several volumes.

ELECTRICITY

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO AND TO-DAY.

By EDWIN J. HOUSTON, PH.D. (Princeton),

AUTHOR OF

A Dictionary of Electrical Words, Terms, and Phrases, etc., etc., etc

Cloth. 179 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.00.

In tracing the history of electrical science from practically its birth to the present day, the author has, wherever possible, consulted original sources of information. As a result of these researches, several revisions as to the date of discovery of some important principles in electrical science are made necessary. While the compass of the book does not permit of any other than a general treatment of the subject, yet numerous references are given in foot-notes, which also in many cases quote the words in which a discovery was first announced to the world, or give more specific information in regard to the subjects mentioned in the main portion of the book. This feature is one of interest and value, for often a clearer idea may be obtained from the words of a discoverer of a phenomenon or principle than is possible through other sources. The work is not a mere catalogue of subjects and dates, nor is it couched in technical language that only appeals to a few. On the contrary, one of its most admirable features is the agreeable style in which the work is written, its philosophical discussion as to the cause and effect of various discoveries, and its personal references to great names in electrical science. Much information as to electrical phenomena may also be obtained from the book, as the author is not satisfied to merely give the history of a discovery, but also adds a concise and clear explantion of it.

The Theory and Calculation of Alternating-Current Phenomena.

BY

CHARLES PROTEUS STEINMETZ.

Cloth. Price, $2.50.

This is the first work yet written in any language dealing in a complete and logical manner with all of the phenomena of alternating currents and their calculation in the design of alternating-current machinery. In the first six chapters the various primary conceptions and methods of treatment are developed, the use of complex quantities being explained in a remarkably clear and effective manner. The various alternating-current phenomena are then taken up in turn and the more complex parts of the subject approached so gradually and with such a logical preparation that but little if any difficulty will be met in their understanding. The remaining chapters of the book, forming half of its contents, are devoted to the methods of calculation of transformers, simple alternating and polyphase generators and motors, all of the various reactions involved being thoroughly analyzed and discussed. The work contains the very latest knowledge relating to alternating-current phenomena, much of which is original with the author, and here appears for the first time in book form. The high authority of the author on the questions of which he treats, and the original methods which he pursues in their exposition, give this work a character which will assign it to a high place in electrical literature, in which it promises to rank as a classic.

Electricity and Magnetism.

BY

Prof. ERIC GERARD,

DIRECTOR OF

L'Institut Électrotechnique Montefiore, University of Liège, Belgium.

TRANSLATED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF

LOUIS DUNCAN, PH.D.,

Johns Hopkins University.

With American Additions as follows: A Chapter on the Rotary Field, by Dr. Louis Duncan; A Chapter on Hysteresis, by Charles Proteus Steinmetz; A Chapter on Impedance, by A. E. Kennelly; A Chapter on Units, by Dr. Cary T. Hutchinson.

Cloth. Price, $2.50.

As a beautifully clear treatise for students on the theory of electricity and magnetism, as well as a résumé for engineers of electrical theories that have a practical bearing, the work of Professor Gerard has been without a rival in any language. As a text-book of reference it has been largely used in American colleges, the logical methods of the author and his faculty of lucid expression and illustration simplifying to students in a remarkable manner the understanding of the various subjects treated. The scope of the present translation has been limited to those parts of the original work treating of theory alone, as the practical portions, which deal principally with European methods and apparatus, would not have the same value for American students as for those to whom the book was originally addressed. Several chapters written by American authors are added to the translation. As will be seen above, the authors of these chapters are authorities on the several subjects with which they deal, and the work as thus extended forms the most complete treatise yet published relating particularly to electrical theory as it enters into the domain of the engineer.

PRACTICAL CALCULATION

OF

Dynamo-Electric Machines.

A MANUAL FOR ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL ENGINEERS, AND A TEXT-BOOK FOR STUDENTS OF ELECTRO-TECHNICS.

BY

ALFRED E. WIENER, E.E., M.E.,

Member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Cloth, Illustrated. Price, $2.50.

Based upon the practical data and tests of nearly two hundred of the best modern dynamos, including the machines used at the recent World's Fair and those in the largest and most modern central-stations, a complete and entirely practical method of dynamo-calculations is developed. Differing from the usual text-book methods, in which the application of the various formulas requires more or less experience in dynamo-design, the present treatise gives such practical information in the form of original tables and formulas derived from the result of practical machines of American as well as European make, comprising all the usual types of field-magnets and armatures, and ranging through all commercial sizes. The book contains nearly a hundred of such tables, giving the values of the various constants, etc., which enter into the formulas of dynamo-design, and for all capacities, from one-tenth to 2000 kilowatts, for high and slow speed, for bipolar and multipolar fields, and for smooth and toothed drum and ring armatures. Although intended as a text-book for students and a manual for practical dynamo-designers, any one possessing but a fundamental knowledge of algebra will be able to apply the information contained in the book to the calculation and design of any kind of a continuous-current dynamo.

Electrical Power Transmission.

By LOUIS BELL, PH.D.

Uniform in size with "The Electric Railway in Theory and Practice." Price, $2.50.

The plan of the work is similar to that of "The Electric Railway in Theory and Practice," the treatment of the subject being non-mathematical and not involving on the part of the reader a knowledge of the purely scientific theories relating to electrical currents. The book is essentially practical in its character, and while primarily an engineering treatise, is also intended for the information of those interested in electrical transmission of power, financially or in a general way. The author has a practical acquaintance with the problems met with in the electrical transmission of energy from his connection with many of the most important installations yet made in America, and in these pages the subject is developed for the first time with respect to its practical aspects as met with in actual work. The first two chapters review the fundamental principles relating to the generation and distribution of electrical energy, and in the three succeeding ones their methods of application with both continuous and alternating currents are described. The sixth chapter gives a general discussion of the methods of transformation, the various considerations applying to converters and rotary transformers being developed and these apparatus described. In the chapter on prime movers various forms of water-wheels, gas and steam engines are discussed with respect to their applicability to the purpose in view, and in the chapter on hydraulic development the limitations that decide the commercial availability of water power for electrical transmission of power are pointed out in detail. The five succeeding chapters deal with practical design and with construction work—the power-house, line, and centres of distribution being taken up in turn. The chapter on the latter subject will be found of particular value, as it treats for the first time in a thorough and practical manner one of the most difficult points in electrical transmission. The chapter on commercial data contains the first information given as to costs, and will, therefore, be much appreciated by engineers and others in deciding as to the commercial practicability of proposed transmission projects. This is the first work covering the entire ground of the electrical transmission of power that has been written by an engineer of wide practical experience in all of the details included in the subject, and thus forms a valuable and much-needed addition to electrical engineering literature.

THIRD EDITION. EXTENSIVELY REVISED AND ENLARGED.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY

IN THEORY AND PRACTICE.

BY O. T. CROSBY AND DR. LOUIS BELL.

Large Octavo. Profusely Illustrated. Price, $2.50.

Few technical books have met with so wide an appreciation as "The Electric Railway," which has had the distinction of being accepted throughout the world as the standard authority on the subject of which it treats. The advances in electric traction made since the second edition of the work have been so notable, that the authors, in undertaking the preparation of a new edition, found it necessary to practically rewrite the book, so that the present edition conforms to the very latest knowledge on the subject, both in the domain of theory and of practice. The original purpose of the book has, however, been strictly adhered to—namely, to place before those interested in electric railways, whether in a technical, financial, or general way, the principles upon which electric traction is founded and the standard methods employed in their application. In view of the probable application in the near future of alternating currents to electric traction, the present edition includes their consideration in this relation, thus largely extending the value of the treatise. The recent developments in electric locomotives and high-speed electric traction, and the application of electricity to elevated railways and to passenger traffic on steam roads, are in this work considered for the first time connectedly with reference to their engineering and commercial aspects. In the first section of the book are developed the fundamental principles of electricity upon which the apparatus and methods of operation are based. The following section is devoted to prime movers, steam, hydraulic, and gas—the modern gas-engine here receiving the full treatment which its growing importance calls for. The remainder of the work is devoted to the engineering, practical, and commercial features of electric traction, all of the factors that enter being considered from the standpoint of the best practice, and the more important ones elaborated in detail. The plan of the book, in fact, includes the consideration of everything relating to the electrical and mechanical principles and details which enter into electric railway design, construction, and operation, the whole being treated from the engineering and commercial standpoint, and without the use of mathematics or resort to purely scientific theory.

ALTERNATING CURRENTS.

An Analytical and Graphical Treatment for Students and Engineers.

By FREDERICK BEDELL, PH.D.,
AND
A. C. CREHORE, PH.D.

Cloth. 325 pages, 112 Illustrations. Price, $2.50.

The present work is the first book that treats the subject of alternating currents in a connected, logical, and complete manner. The principles are gradually and logically developed from the elementary experiments upon which they are based, and in a manner so clear and simple as to make the book easily read by any one having even a limited knowledge of the mathematics involved. By this method the student becomes familiar with every step of the process of development, and the mysteries usually associated with the theory of alternating currents are found to be rather the result of unsatisfactory treatment than due to any inherent difficulty. The first fourteen chapters contain the analytical development, commencing with circuits containing resistance and self-induction only, resistance and capacity only, and proceeding to more complex circuits containing resistance, self-induction, and capacity, and resistance and distributed capacity. A feature is the numerical calculations given as illustrations. The remaining chapters are devoted to the graphical consideration of the same subjects, enabling a reader with little mathematical knowledge to follow the authors, and with extensions to cases that are better treated by the graphical than by the analytical method.

CONTENTS.

Part I. Analytical Treatment.—Chapter I. Introductory to Circuits Containing Resistance and Self-induction.—Chapter II. On Harmonic Functions.—Chapter III. Circuits Containing Resistance and Self-induction.—Chapter IV. Introductory to Circuits Containing Resistance and Capacity.—Chapter V. Circuits Containing Resistance and Capacity.—Chapters VI, VII, VIII, IX, X, XI. Circuits Containing Resistance, Self-induction, and Capacity.—Chapters XII, XIII. Circuits Containing Distributed Capacity and Self-induction.

Part II. Graphical Treatment.—Chapters XIV, XV, XVI, XVII. Circuits Containing Resistance and Self-induction.—Chapters XVIII, XIX. Circuits Containing Resistance and Capacity.—Chapter XX. Circuits Containing Resistance, Self-induction, and Capacity.

Appendix A. Relation between Practical and C. G. S. Limits.—Appendix B. Some Mechanical and Electrical Analogies.—Appendix C. System of Notation Adopted.

Central Station Book-keeping

AND SUGGESTED FORMS.

WITH AN APPENDIX RELATING TO STREET RAILWAYS.

BY

HORATIO A. FOSTER,
Mem. Am. Inst. E.E.,
AUTHOR OF
"Central Station Management and Finance."

Cloth. 137 pages, 75 Forms and Diagrams. Price, $2.50.

This book contains diagrams for the organization of the staff of electrical central stations, the classification of accounts and reports, with sample forms for each and every department. As the name indicates, the work is devoted mainly to the accounting department, both for central stations and street railways, and outlines a complete scheme for its organization and routine which will enable the management to determine at any moment the condition of business, and particularly the unit cost of the generation and distribution of current. The forms were devised after an examination of several hundred in practical use in many stations, and embody the best points of all. Many forms are of actual size in width, and printed on paper specially ruled, so that they may be used as copy in ordering. In an Appendix is furnished a classification of accounts of electric street railways, together with instructions, forms of books, etc., necessary to carry it out—the other necessary forms being in Part II.

Chapter I. Introduction.—Chapter II. Customers' Ledgers.—Chapter III. Objects of Accounting and Classification.—Chapter IV. Operating Expenses.—Chapter V. Income from Operation.—Chapter VI. Profit and Loss.—Chapter VII. Property Accounts.—Chapter VIII. Liability Accounts.—Chapter IX. General Classification.—Chapter X. General Books.—Chapter XI. Monthly Summary Statements.—Appendix A. Book-keeping for Electric Street Railways.—Part II. Suggested Forms.

Continuous Current Dynamos and Motors:

THEIR THEORY, DESIGN, AND TESTING.

With Sections on Indicator Diagrams, Properties of Saturated Steam, Belting Calculations, Etc.

AN ELEMENTARY TREATISE FOR STUDENTS.

By FRANK P. COX, B.S.

Cloth. 271 pages, 83 Illustrations. Price, $2.00.

Intended for students, this work gives the theory and design of continuous current dynamos and motors as understood and practised in the designing-room, and the methods of testing described are those of the factory testing-shop. The practical side of the various questions treated is always kept in view, discussions having little bearing in this direction being excluded, and the higher branches of mathematics avoided. The application to the design of armatures, field-magnets and motors of the principles developed is explained by reference to numerical problems, thus thoroughly impressing them on the student's mind. Methods of testing a complete machine and of investigating its characteristics are given, with discussions on the effect of various changes in design and operation. The steam-engine being so closely allied to the testing and operation of dynamos and motors, sections on indicator diagrams, steam-power calculations, and belting are included. Almost all of the numerous curves in the book are derived from actual commercial tests.

CONTENTS.

Chapter I. The Absolute System of Measurement. — Chapter II. Electro-magnetic Induction.—Chapter III. Classification of Machines and General Principles of the Magnetic Circuit.—Chapter IV. The Dynamo as a Motor.—Chapter V. Calculations Pertaining to the Magnetic Circuit.—Chapter VI. Theory of Windings, Losses, etc.—Chapter VII. The Dynamo Considered as a Motor.—Chapter VIII. Design of Armatures.—Chapter IX. Design of Field-magnets. — Chapter X. Design of Motors. — Chapter XI. Dynamo and Motor Testing.—Chapter XII. Efficiency Tests.—Chapter XIII. Indicator Diagrams.—Chapter XIV. Steam-engine Calculations. — Appendix I. Tests of Iron.—Appendix II. Ampere Turntables.—Appendix III. Determination of Sizes of Wire for Armatures and Field Coils. —Appendix IV. Belting.

THIRD EDITION.

The Electric Motor and its Applications.

By T. C. MARTIN and JOSEPH WETZLER,

With an Appendix by Dr. Louis Bell, bringing the book down to date.

Cloth. 315 large quarto pages, 353 Illustrations. Price, $3.00.

The wealth of information contained in the three hundred and odd large double-column pages of this important work is equalled in few special technical treatises, even those of a professedly exhaustive character. More than one hundred different motors are described and illustrated,—many in great detail—and the different applications are similarly fully treated. Many of the illustrations are full page, and the details of construction, particularly of armatures, are fully illustrated. The treatment is simple, clear, and concise, and little mathematics is employed, the work being essentially of a practical and largely of a descriptive character. The section on alternating motors resumes in a simple manner without mathematical formulæ, the principles upon which they are based, and that on thermo-magnetic motors treats this interesting class in greater detail than can be found in any other publication. An interesting feature is the historical method of treatment, by means of which the different steps in the advance of theories and design can be clearly traced, and the varying results of explorations in many directions instructively followed.

SECOND EDITION. ENTIRELY REWRITTEN.

Electric Lighting Specifications

FOR THE USE OF

ENGINEERS AND ARCHITECTS.

By E. A. MERRILL, A.M.,

AUTHOR OF

"Reference Book of Tables and Formulæ for Electric Railway Engineers."

Cloth. 222 Pages. Price, $1.50.

This work has been prepared by an electrical engineer with a very extensive experience in drawing up specifications for one of the great electric-light companies, and will be found an invaluable aid, not only in drawing up specifications, but also in furnishing an outline to assist in preparing plans and estimates. The matter is so arranged that one with no familiarity with electric lighting may rapidly draw up specifications for any system, and for the smallest as well as for the largest and most complex electric installation, as well as specifications for the steam-plant, where one is included. From a comprehensive and remarkably simple outline, the parts applying to an installation are selected by reference to its size, the system, manner of installing wires, etc.; reference to various parts of the book then give the complete matter for the specifications. In an introduction the author gives much valuable information in regard to important points to be observed in selecting the system, voltage, material, etc., for varying circumstances. An analysis is also given of a specific installation, which will serve as a guide for the examination that should be made previous to drawing up specifications, in order to decide how the different conditions of the problem in hand may be best satisfied.

Introduction.—Working Outline.—Specifications.—General Specification.—Installation of Dynamos and Switchboards.—Alternate-current Converter System.—General Specifications for Alternate or Direct Current Dynamos for Parallel System of Distribution.—Arc Dynamos.—Fixtures, etc.—Interior Wiring.—Two-wire, Direct or Alternating-current System.—Three-wire System.—Three-wire System Adapted to Two-wire System.—Arc System.—Conduit System, Two-wire.—Interior Wiring for Central-station Plants.—Pole Lines.—Low Potential, Direct Current, Two- or Three-wire.—Alternating System.—Street-lighting Circuits.—Specifications for Steam-plant.

SECOND EDITION. REVISED.

ELEMENTS OF STATIC ELECTRICITY,

WITH FULL DESCRIPTIONS OF THE HOLTZ AND TÖPLER MACHINES AND THEIR MODE OF OPERATION.

BY PHILIP ATKINSON, A.M., PH.D.

Cloth. 228 pages, 64 Illustrations. Price, $1.50.

This work has been prepared for the benefit of those whose knowledge of electricity is limited to the practical details of telegraphy, telephony, and electric lighting; also those among the liberally educated who desire to review electric science in the light of recent investigation; and those who wish to study its elementary principles preparatory to a more extended course. The author treats the subject in a practical rather than in a scholastic manner, the theories being illustrated and elucidated by reference to practical apparatus and applications. The subject of electric potential, usually so difficult to beginners, is treated very successfully by the author, so that the student after reading this section will find his path much smoother when he enters other branches of electricity not considered in this book. An instructive chapter is devoted to a consideration of the nature of electricity. The Leyden jar is fully treated, and one fourth of the book is devoted to descriptions of static generators and practical experiments with the same. There is an extensive chapter on electrometers, and a very interesting one describing apparatus for illustrating electrical transmission in vacua. An important section of the book is that on the electricity of the earth and the atmosphere, consisting of three chapters—on earth currents, the aurora, and thunder and lightning.

CONTENTS.

Chapter I. Elementary Principles.—Chapter II. Electric Potential.—Chapter III. The Nature of Electricity.—Chapter IV. Induction.—Chapter V. Electric Distribution and Condensation.—Chapter VI. Accumulators.—Chapter VII. The Electrophorus and Frictional Machine.—Chapter VIII. The Holtz and Töpler Machines.—Chapter IX. Experiments with the Töpler Machine.—Chapter X. Electric Transmission in Vacua.—Chapter XII. Potential and Earth Currents.—Chapter XIII. The Aurora.—Chapter XIV. Lightning and Thunder.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY MOTORS.

THEIR CONSTRUCTION, OPERATION, AND MAINTENANCE.

BY

N. W. PERRY, E.M.

238 Pages. 60 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

This little book has for an object to provide motormen with an intelligent elementary exposition of the principles upon which are founded the apparatus they are called upon to handle, to give instruction in regard to its care, and for the detection, remedy, and prevention of the faults to which it is subject. The electrical principles upon which the theory of the motor and its operation are based are logically and intelligently developed from the simplest conceptions, and with reference to home-made experimental apparatus, cheaply and easily constructed. Somewhat more than half of the book is devoted to the explanation and development of theory, and the remainder to descriptions of various systems and to practical instructions. The final chapters are of particular value, containing as they do specific directions for the management of motors, the remedy of faults, directions to motormen, instructions for inspectors and superintendents, etc. The work is a great improvement on the style of books usually written for practical men, not only in being scientifically correct, but from the conscientious endeavor everywhere apparent to render thoroughly intelligible to the reader every phase of the subject coming within the scope of the book.

ALTERNATING CURRENTS OF ELECTRICITY:

Their Generation, Measurement, Distribution, and Application.

By GISBERT KAPP, M.I.C.E., M.I.E.E.

(Authorized American Edition.)

With an Introduction by William Stanley, Jr.

Cloth. 164 pages, 37 Illustrations, and 2 plates. $1.00.

The rapid development of alternating currents and the great part they are destined to play in the transmission of power have caused an increased interest in the subject, but unfortunately it has heretofore been presented in such a manner as to be beyond the reach of readers without a mathematical education. In the present work, the principles are developed in a simple manner that can be followed by any reader, and the various applications are sketched in a broad and instructive way that renders their understanding an easy task. The few mathematical formulas in the book are confined to appendices. Several chapters treat of various forms of alternating motors, especial attention being paid to the explanation and discussion of multiphase motors. This difficult subject is treated so lucidly that the reader is enabled to form as clear an idea of these new forms of motors as of the simpler continuous current machines. The treatment throughout is thoroughly practical, and the data and discussion on the design and construction of apparatus are invaluable to the electrician and designer. To the student and the general public this work will be a particular boon, bringing within their grasp a subject of the greatest importance and interest.

REFERENCE BOOK OF

TABLES AND FORMULAS

FOR

ELECTRIC STREET RAILWAY ENGINEERS.

ARRANGED AND COMPILED

By E. A. MERRILL,

AUTHOR OF

"Electric Lighting Specifications for the Use of Engineers and Architects."

Flexible Morocco. Price, $1.00.

To a busy man the value of a reference book depends largely on the facility with which he can get from it the information he desires. In the larger works the labor involved in seeking out information, which perhaps is scattered through several sections and encumbered with examples and explanations already familiar to the engineer, is often exceedingly annoying, especially when many times repeated. It is the object of this reference book to avoid such annoyances and meet a practical need by collecting and arranging in a concise, logical order those tables and formulas which are in constant use by the electrical street-railway engineer in making estimates, ordering material, on construction work, etc. All superfluous examples and explanations have been excluded, as well as unnecessary extensions of formulas into tables when such extensions consist only in the simplest mathematical processes. Not only has considerable care been taken in selecting and checking material compiled directly, but several original tables and formulas have been added, especially in the sections on track and overhead-work, which will save many calculations. Furthermore, many tables and formulas have been extended and modified tc meet the conditions imposed in street-railway work. The practical arrangement of the work, its condensed style and convenient form, will recommend it to every street-railway engineer. Every heading is in bold-faced type, which easily catches the eye as one glances over the page, thus materially aiding quick reference, and as a further aid a complete cross-index is added. The book is bound in flexible covers and is of convenient size to carry in the pocket.

FOURTH EDITION.

STANDARD TABLES

FOR

ELECTRIC WIREMEN,

WITH INSTRUCTIONS FOR WIREMEN AND LINEMEN, UNDERWRITERS' RULES, AND USEFUL FORMULÆ AND DATA.

By CHAS. M. DAVIS.

Fourth Edition, thoroughly Revised and Edited by W. D. WEAVER.

Flexible Morocco. 128 pages. Price, $1.00.

The fourth edition of this popular book contains the latest revisions of the insurance rules of the Underwriters' International Electric Association, now almost exclusively used in the United States. An important section has been added on the calculation of alternating current wiring, which for the first time brings this subject within the reach of practical men. A number of the most important tables were prepared expressly for this work, and being copyrighted cannot be found elsewhere. The wiring-tables are arranged in the most convenient manner for practical use; all have been calculated on a basis of 55 watt lamps, and it is believed that this is the first uniform set of tables published. A valuable table here appears for the first time, by means of which the tables of the three standard voltages can be used for any other voltage, and also for other drops than those in the tables printed. The method of determining the sizes of conductors has been proved in practice, and the wiring formulæ for motor circuits, etc., are put in their simplest and most practical form. The formulæ for horse-power of engine and boilers are published for the first time, and while they are based on rational principles, the different value of heating surface in boilers being considered, the results they give are the actual commercial ratings and not the theoretical powers. The tables for the limiting currents for exterior wiring and the candle-power of arc-lamps are also here published for the first time in their present form. Ayer's valuable instructions for linemen (revised) are included with permission of the author. The object always kept in view has been to produce a book for wiremen and electricians of a thoroughly practical character and free from the padding and useless tables that generally accompany such works.

Dynamo and Motor Building

FOR AMATEURS.

WITH WORKING DRAWINGS.

By Lieut. C. D. PARKHURST, U.S.A.

Cloth. 163 pages, 71 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

One of the most fascinating fields for the amateur is that afforded by electrical science, and the simplicity of construction of small dynamos and motors, in particular, enables him not only to gratify his tastes, but at the same time to construct apparatus that can be directly applied to useful purposes. In Parkhurst's Dynamo and Motor Building for Amateurs clear and concise instructions, accompanied by working drawings, are given for the construction of such forms and types of dynamos and motors as are simply made and yet will produce fairly efficient results. While primarily intended for amateurs and students, the detailed information, particularly in the chapters on armature windings, connections, and currents, and on the design of a fifty-light dynamo, will be of value to every electrician. In the latter chapter the subject of the proper proportioning of the armature and armature wire, the calculation of the magnetic circuit and field-windings, etc., are gone into at length, and in the light of the most recent knowledge and practice. The large and clear drawings showing how to wind armatures are supplemented by tables, so that the beginner will have no difficulty whatever in carrying out the instructions. Every part of the machines, even the most simple, is illustrated and marked with its dimensions.

CONTENTS.

Chapter I. A Small Electric Motor for Amateurs.—Chapter II. A "Home-made" Electric Motor.—Chapter III. A Sewing-machine Motor for Amateurs.—Chapter IV. ORIGINAL PAPERS

ON

Dynamo Machinery

AND ALLIED SUBJECTS.

By JOHN HOPKINSON, F.R.S.

(Authorized American Edition.)

Cloth. 249 pages, 98 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

Very few contributions to electrical literature since the days of Faraday have been of as an important character as those contained in the present volume; and this is true, whether considered from a theoretical or from a practical standpoint. In the first paper that invaluable aid to the study and design of dynamos, the characteristic curve, was first announced, and the two following papers are devoted more or less to developing its applications. These three papers contain a vast amount of information relating to the various points connected with the subject. Though the style is simple and popular, the statements are authoritative and supplied the beginnings of electrical engineering. The fourth and fifth papers, on the theory and design of continuous-current dynamos, furnished the principles upon which the design of such dynamos is now based. The sixth paper established the important principles in regard to coupling alternating-current machines; the next three papers are on the transformer, and the remaining two are on the theory of the alternate-current dynamo and electric-light houses respectively. The majority of the papers contain no mathematical formula, and several others so little as not to prevent their being understood by a non-mathematical reader.

The Electromagnet.

BY

PROF. SILVANUS P. THOMPSON, D.Sc., B.A., M.I.E.E.

AUTHORIZED AMERICAN EDITION.

Cloth. 280 pages, 75 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

As the electro-magnet is the foundation of all electrical apparatus, the value of a proper understanding of its principles is obvious. In this volume the subject is thoroughly treated in a popular manner, and many very important points clearly demonstrated that previously had been involved in much obscurity—such as the lifting-power of magnets and the principles relating to the design of quick-working electro-magnets. The entire field is well covered, from the design of dynamo and motor-fields to that of the small magnets used in the printing telegraph. The parts dealing with the theories and principles of magnetism and the magnetic circuit are unusually instructive, and in language easily followed. Graphical methods are used to explain the various principles, and even the most involved ones are thus made clear. The information given throughout is in a practical form, so that it may be easily applied to designing by one with no knowledge of mathematics or theories. Sections of the book which should prove very useful to experimenters are those devoted to the consideration of various ingenious electro-magnetic mechanisms.

LECTURE I. Introductory; Historical Sketch; Generalities Concerning Electromagnets; Typical Forms; Polarity; Uses in General; The Properties of Iron; Methods of Measuring Permeability; Traction Methods; Curves of Magnetization and Permeability; The Law of the Electromagnet; Hysteresis; Fallacies and Facts about Electromagnets.—LECTURE II. General Principles of Design and Construction; Principle of the Magnetic Circuit.—LECTURE III. Special Designs; Winding of the Copper; Windings for Constant Pressure and for Constant Current; Miscellaneous Rules about Winding; Specifications for Electromagnets; Armature Rules Resistance of Electromagnet and Battery; Forms of Electromagnets; Effect of Size, Position and Shape of Section of Coils; Effect of Distance between Poles; Researches of Prof. Hughes; Position and Form of Armature; Pole-pieces on Horseshoe Magnets. Contrast between Electromagnets and Permanent Magnets; Electromagnets for Maximum Traction; Electromagnets for Maximum Range of Attraction; Electromagnets of Minimum Weight; A Useful Guiding Principle; Electromagnets for Use with Alternating Currents; Electromagnets for Quickest Action; Connecting Coils for Quickest Action; Battery Grouping for Quickest Action; Short Cores vs. Long Cores.—LECTURE IV. PRACTICAL INFORMATION

TELEPHONISTS.

BY

T. D. LOCKWOOD,

Electrician American Bell Telephone Company.

Cloth. 192 pages. Price, $1.00.

The descriptions in this eminently practical book of the various devices connected with telephony are full and clear and to the point, while the different troubles that arise in operation and the means of prevention or remedy are thoroughly and concisely treated. A goodly part of the work deals with the important duties of the telephone inspector, laying out the routine most advantageous to follow under different circumstances, and giving clear and minute instructions in regard to the matters likely to come before him in the discharge of his duties. The amateur will appreciate the chapter devoted to short telephone lines, and the telephonist who turns his hand to bell-work during his spare hours will welcome the section on electric bells which the author has provided for his benefit. An interesting chapter is devoted to the history of electricity from the earliest days to date, and another one to the anticipations of great discoveries and inventions.

EXPERIMENTS WITH

Alternate Currents

Of High Potential and High Frequency.

By NIKOLA TESLA.

Cloth. 156 pages, with Portrait and 35 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

Since the discovery of the telephone few researches in electricity have created as widespread an interest as those of Nikola Tesla into alternate currents of high potential and high frequency. Mr. Tesla was accorded the unusual honor of an invitation to repeat his experiments before distinguished scientific bodies of London and Paris, and the lecture delivered before the Institution of Electrical Engineers, London, is here presented in book-form. The field opened up, to which this book acts as a guide, is one in which the future may develop results of the most remarkable character, and perhaps lead to an entire revision of our present scientific conceptions, with correspondingly broad practical results. The currents of enormously high frequency and voltage generated by Mr. Tesla developed properties previously entirely unsuspected, and which produced phenomena of startling character. No injurious effects were experienced when the human body was subjected to the highest voltages generated. Lamps with only one conductor were rendered incandescent, and others with no connection whatever to the conducting circuit glowed when merely brought into proximity to the same. The book in which Mr. Tesla describes his marvellous experiments is one that every one who takes an interest in electricity or its future should read. The subject is popularly treated, and as the author is the master of a simple and agreeable style the book is fascinating reading. A portrait and biographical sketch of the author is included.

THE QUADRUPLEX.

BY

WM. MAVER, JR., AND MINOR M. DAVIS.

With Chapters on the Dynamo-Electric Machine in Relation to the Quadruplex, the Practical Working of the Quadruplex, Telegraph Repeaters and the Wheatstone Automatic Telegraph.

BY WM. MAVER, JR.

Cloth, 126 pages, 63 Illustrations. Price, $1.50.

In the description of the quadruplex, as well as in the other articles contained in this book, no attempt has been made to display erudition. Plain, simple and explicit language within the comprehension of all is employed, the aim of the authors being, if they erred at all in this respect, to err on the side of simplicity. The book is one written by operators for operators, but it will also be found an easy source of information to those outside of the telegraphic fraternity who may desire to form an acquaintance with the various systems and instruments described and illustrated. The illustrations are numerous, and with their aid the readers can at once grasp, mentally, the operation of the Quadruplex. The book is handsomely printed on fine paper and substantially bound.

RECENT PROGRESS

IN

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

Being a Summary of Current Progress in Electric Railway Construction, Operation, Systems, Machinery, Appliances, etc.

By CARL HERING.

AUTHOR OF

"Principles of Dynamo Electric Machinery,"
etc., etc., etc.

Cloth. 389 pages, 104 Illustrations. Price, $1.00.

The details connected with electric street railways have become so numerous and the systems so varied that the reader is at a loss when he wishes specific information in regard to many desirable points, which can scarcely be expected, as a rule, in a general treatise on the subject. Hering's "Recent Progress in Electric Railways" is particularly valuable from its treatment of details, and elaborates a number of features that have heretofore received only brief notice in other works,—such as high-speed interurban roads and underground tunnel conduit systems,—while the section on construction and operation is very full, and gives much recent engineering and financial data. The historical notes and statistics on the development of the industry will be found complete and reliable. The hundred or more pages devoted to the consideration of details and recent improvements contain information of the greatest value that otherwise could only be obtained by a laborious search through periodical literature. Here the latest inventions and developments in street-railway motors, apparatus, and fittings are described and illustrated in great detail, thus supplying the omissions from more general treatises.

CONTENTS.

Chapter I. Historical.—Chapter II. Development and Statistics.—Chapter III. Construction and Operation.—Chapter IV. Cost of Construction and Operation.—Chapter V. Overhead Wire Surface Roads.—Chapter VI. Conduit and Surface Conductor Roads.—Chapter VII Storage-battery Roads.—Chapter VIII. Underground Tunnel Roads.—Chapter IX. High-speed Interurban Railroads.—Chapter X. Miscellaneous Systems.—Chapter XI. Generators, Motors, and Trucks.—Chapter XII. Accessories.

THE WORKS OF NICHOLAS SENN, PH. D., M. D.,

Professor of Practice of Surgery and Clinical Surgery in Rush Medical College; Attending Surgeon Presbyterian Hospital.

I: Experimental Surgery. Contents—Fractures of the Neck of the Femur, with special reference to Bony Union after Intercapsular Fracture. II. Experimental Researches on Cicatrization in Blood Vessels after Ligature. III. An experimental and clinical study of Air Embolism. IV. The Surgery of the Pancreas, as based upon experiments and clinical researches. V. An experimental contribution to Intestinal Surgery, with special reference to the Treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. VI. Rectal Insufflation of Hydrogen Gas as an Infallible Test in the Diagnosis of Visceral Injury of the Gastro-Intestinal Canal in Penetrating Wounds of the Abdomen. Complete in one handsome volume, 8vo. Cloth, $5.00; half morocco, $6.00

The different parts of this volume have been published from time to time in Transactions of the American Surgical Association, and in periodicals not readily accessible to the majority of the medical profession. In response to a very general demand they have been revised by the author, and published in a convenient sized volume, carefully indexed.

II: Intestinal Surgery. Contents—The Surgical Treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. II. An experimental contribution to Intestinal Surgery, with special reference to the Treatment of Intestinal Obstruction. III. Rectal Insufflation of Hydrogen Gas as an Infallible Test in the Diagnosis of Visceral Injury of the Gastro-Intestinal Canal in Penetrating Wounds of the Abdomen. IV. Report of Cases. One handsome volume, 8vo. Cloth, $2.50

The most striking, the most valuable of Senn's original conceptions and applications are:

1. The uses of gaseous enemata both for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes.
2. Lateral approximation by decalcified bone plates.
3. The application of omental grafts in abdominal surgery; and
4. The mechanical irritation of peritoneal surfaces between which it is desired that adhesion should take place.

The greatest value of Senn's work is its suggestiveness. He has set surgeons in all countries to thinking and planning. His methods as such may none of them be permanent, but he has given an impetus to abdominal surgery the outcome of which none can foresee, but which is full of promise. He is in the very van of progress, a leader who is not infallible, but who has earned by hard work and ability the enviable place he holds in the scientific world.—The American Journal of Medical Science.

We wish every bookseller to know that he can purchase all the professional books and supplies for teachers published, at our educational headquarters, either in New York or Chicago, at the same or lower rates than of the publishers themselves. This special department of educational books has been our specialty for nearly twenty years, and we have in stock every current book of value on Teaching, published in English in all the various departments, viz: Science of Education, Psychology and Education, Methods of Teaching (general) and Methods of Teaching all studies, The Kindergarten, Manual Training, Primary Education, Physical Culture, etc. We also have the largest variety of Dialogue and Recitation Books, School Singing Books, etc., of all publishers. Dealers who have established a credit with us need send a postal card order only and goods will be shipped as directed same day that order is received. A copy of our new Columbian Catalogue of all the educational books published, sent free on request. This is an invaluable guide to every dealer.

The margin to a dealer on our books is usually greater than on school Text-Books and it will pay dealers to cultivate and develop this trade.

Let every dealer send at once for our latest catalogue, to

Christian Missions. Net, $2.00

Their Agents and their Results; showing the contrast between Protestant and Catholic Mission. By T. W. M. Marshall. 2 vols. 8vo, cloth.

Marshall's "Christian Missions" ought to be in every man's library. About ninety per cent. of all the testimony in these volumes is Protestant. Out of their own mouths Mr. Marshall not only condemns the Protestant missions, but shows how awfully and continuously the people of Europe and America have been financially duped by pseudo apostles who in no exalted sense conform to the definition of a true apostle given by St. Paul. Any intelligent, fair-minded, truth-seeking Protestant who reads Mr. Marshall's books will either be staggered or converted.

In England and Ireland. By William Corbett. Two volumes in one. 12mo, cloth.

This is the only complete edition published, giving the record of Catholic churches, convents, priories, etc., destroyed in Ireland by Cromwell.

Confessions of St. Augustine; 75 cts.

Or, Praises of God. 18mo, cloth, red edges.

Consolation for the Afflicted; 50 cts.

Or, Practical Instructions for the Comfort of the Sick and Afflicted. Translated from the French. By Anna T. Sadlier. 18mo, cloth.

Creed of Catholics; $1.00

Or, The Doctrine of Our Faith. By Bishop McGill. Large type, 12mo, cloth.

In logical arrangement, in its completeness, and in the power and beauty of the language used, the "Creed of Catholics" is surpassed by no work of its kind in the English language. In this book Bishop McGill completely demolishes the popular objections to the Catholic Church.

John Milner. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth.

England.—Bishop England's Works. $3.50
Consisting of his most select literary and historical productions. Two vols. in one. Large octavo, fine cloth, bevelled. The same, 2 vols., half morocco, $7.00.

Bishop England's works are presented to the public in that shape which the great bishop himself would have chosen, had he lived to give the final touches to the children of his brain. Engaged in a succession of controversies, he necessarily reverted to the same subject time and again. In these cases the editor has selected that which presents the subject best, making this edition by far the best for practical purposes, yet issued.

"Thou hast made us, O Lord, for Thee; and our heart knoweth not rest, till it repose in Thee."—St. Augustine. This quotation inscribed on the title page suggests the scope and tone of the work. Everlasting rewards are considered; controversy is avoided, the aim of the writer being "to bring light, consolation, strength and rest to the homes that might welcome it, and the troubled of heart who would chance to peruse its pages."

 Year with the Saints, A Net, $1.50

Translated from the Italian, by a member of the Order of Mercy. 12mo, printed on fine paper, bound in cloth, gold and ink, design, red edges.

In this work the separate months are alloted to individual virtues. For each day there is a reading which has for its opening, a short exhortation or instruction. Much of the volume "is composed of examples, which, while they have the interest of anecdote, furnish at the same time, the strongest proofs of the possibility of carrying out in real life, precepts and principles which might otherwise seem too high and heavenly for our every day existence." The book has the Imprimatur of His Grace Most Rev. Michael Augustine Corrigan, D. D., Archbishop of New York.

A Tale of the Famine Years in Ireland. By D. P. CONYNGHAM, LL. D. 12 mo, cloth.
"This is really an interesting novel of Irish life. The plot is good, and the situations most interesting. Here and there are true touches of real, veritable Irish humor, that show the author's hand to the manner born. In not a few scenes we find pathos—not of the sensational kind, indeed—but of that healthful feeling which makes us akin with the purest sympathies of humanity."—Baltimore Mirror.

"He rhymes and sings easily and naturally on subjects that occur to men in his position; now it is the child at the font; again the memory of departed Southern braves; again the yellow fever and Northern help, or else a lament for the wrongs of Ireland. His style is that of Poe, without the excessive finish bestowed by that genius on his work.—N. Y. Times.

PUBLICATIONS

WILBUR B. KETCHAM,

PUBLISHER, IMPORTER, BOOKSELLER,

2 COOPER UNION,

NEW YORK.

Adversary, The; His Person, Power, and Purpose. A Study in Satanology. By William A. Matson, D.D. Second Edition. 12mo, cloth, 238 pp. $1.25.

This work treats of a branch of religious instruction essential to an appreciation of the nature of our spiritual conflict on earth, and of the mission of the Son of God to "destroy the works of the devil." While not slighting the more difficult portions, the author endeavors to prove, in a manner adapted to the understanding of intelligent Christians of all classes, that the enemy of God and man is a personal adversary; so recognized in Scripture and by the Christian Church in all ages —powerful and active in all periods of history, and as much now as ever.

The New York Independent says: "The volume is a very thorough study of the subject from historic, theoretic, biblical, and experimental points of view."

The Congregationalist: "The book deserves commendation as a reverent, careful, and enlightening study of its theme; in defending the truth of the devil's personality, so often questioned at present, is conclusive."

The Golden Rule: "It is vigorous, learned, and suggestive. It begins by being interesting. There is nothing dull about it. The basis of the author's work is biblical, and cannot be gainsaid. The book is able. No other volume covers this ground. The store of matter and the evident learning contained in it will be helpful and stimulating."

Aleph, the Chaldean; or, The Messiah, as seen from Alexandria. By E. F. Burr, D.D., LL.D. Fourth Edition. 12mo, cloth, 416 pp. $1.75.

The Advance says: "A clear presentation of the historic Christian Evidences."

The Critic: "The pen of the author of 'Ecce Cœlum' and 'Pater Mundi' has not lost its cunning."

Public Opinion: "The dictation is elegant and forcible, the motive is noble, and its influence must be good."

The Treasury: "This latest production will surpass in popularity all his previous works. With somewhat the same aim as 'Ben Hur,' it will doubtless overrun it in circulation, and outrun it in continuous and permanent interest."

The Michigan Christian Advocate: "The Doctor is a scholar and a graceful writer. He has produced a book of power and beauty. It will be familiarly known five years hence. The impression is lasting. The lessons assuring."

Alumni Record of Drew's Theological Seminary, 1869-1895. Compiled by the Rev. S. G. Ayres. 8vo, cloth, 306 pp. $2.00, net.

Art of Illustration, The. By Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. 12mo, cloth, 208 pp. $1.00.

The lectures in this volume were originally delivered to the students of the Pastors' College, Metropolitan Tabernacle, London, England. It is the first of his unfinished books to be published, and one to which he had himself given the title, "The Art of Illustration."

CONTENTS:—Illustrations in Preaching. II.—Anecdotes from the Pulpit. III.—The Uses of Anecdotes and Illustrations. IV.—Where Can We Find Anecdotes and Illustrations? V.—The Sciences as Sources of Illustrations.

The Baltimore Methodist says: "A most profitable and suggestive book."

The Ram's Horn: "No minister who reads it and acts upon its suggestions will fail to preach with greater effect."

The Golden Rule: "An admirable book, indispensable to all speakers and writers—witty, wise, and practicable; a book to be enjoyed and used."

The Book News: "The volume is a teeming storehouse of original ideas, useful suggestions, wit, and wisdom, that must prove of invaluable service to preachers and teachers."

The Sunday School Times: "Every Junior in every theological seminary would be better qualified for his work if he would read this little book carefully enough to be qualified to pass an examination in it."

Christian Leader: "The young minister is told not only how to employ the stories but where to look for them as well. No minister who reads it and acts upon its suggestions will fail to preach with greater effect."

Burning Questions. By Washington Gladden, D.D. 16mo, cloth, 248 pp. $1.00.

A collection of sermons on "the life that now is and that which is to come."

Magazine of Christian Literature says: "The book offers lucid and convincing reasoning, and illustrates the meaning so that it is clear to all."

The Sunday School Times: "The book is wholesome reading. Dr. Gladden does not controvert the teachings of science, but aims to show how they in no sense overthrow the foundation of Christian teachings."

Christian Scientism. By D. B. St. John Roosa, M.D., LL.D. Paper, 20 cents, net.

Characteristics of Christ's Teaching. Drawn from the Sermon on the Mount. By C. J. Vaughan, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 307pp. $1.25. (In press.)

This volume contains seventeen sermons, the first seven being on the Beatitudes and the remaining sermons taking up various texts from Christ's Sermon on the Mount. Some of the titles are :

WHO ARE HAPPY? WHAT ARE CHRISTIANS? CHRIST TEACHES US THE MANNER OF PRAYER. THE CHARTS OF PRAYER. THE CANDLE OF THE SOUL. CHRIST TEACHES US WHAT WE OUGHT TO SEEK. TWO THINGS, etc., etc.

The Literary World says : "The pure and classic style, the tender sympathy with others who have not his convictions, the unaffected piety, the deep earnestness, and the always interesting line of reflection, make his sermons the chosen companions of quiet hours."

Christ the Light of the World. By C. J. Vaughan, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 269 pp. $1.25. (In press.)

Twelve Sermons ; the following are the titles :

WHY HE CAME. THE LAMP AND THE LIGHT. NUNC DIMITTIS. USES OF LIGHT. A MAN OF SORROWS. THE GOSPEL OF THE FALL. THE GOSPEL OF THE FLOOD. CHRIST THE LORD OF NATURE. CHRIST THE CONQUEROR OF SATAN. CHRIST THE DESTROYER OF DEATH. CHRIST THE SINNER'S FRIEND. CAST OUT AND FOUND.

The London Press says : "Most admirable sermons ; moderate, earnest, Scriptural. They are worthy of being models for universal imitation."

Christianity and Positivism. By James McCosh, D.D., LL.D., Late President of Princeton College. 12mo, cloth, 370 pp. $1.75.

In the present as well as in preceding defences of her divine origin, Christianity finds in her ranks the men demanded by the time. Among those who have been foremost in her service, Dr. McCosh holds an honorable place. A large part of his life was devoted to the study and the discussion of the main questions involved in this book.

The New York Independent says : "This book grapples directly with the vital questions. Every reader must admire its fairness. It is all the better adapted to popular reading from having been written to be delivered to an audience. Indeed, the thinking is generally so clear, and the style so animated and luminous, that any person of average intelligence and culture may understand and enjoy the discussion ; and no such person who has begun to read the work will be likely to rest satisfied till he has finished it."

Christianity and Science. A Series of Lectures. By Andrew P. Peabody, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth, 369 pp. $1.75.

The three sources of proof from which scientific men draw—testimony, experiment (or experience), and intuition—are made to render their tribute to Christianity, and in a way which, while necessarily brief, is nevertheless so compact and clear and forcible as to be conclusive. A warm heart as well as a clear head shines through these pages, and lights up the calm reasoning with gems of brilliant beauty.

The Christian Weekly says : "One of the best books we have read in a long time—a manly, candid, noble, reasonable defense of the Christian faith. We do not see how any thoughtful person can read it in vain. Dr. Peabody plants himself fairly on the very postulates of scientific men, and proceeds to show how all that they claim for true science is fulfilled in the religion of Jesus."

Christian Thought. Edited by the late Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. 11 volumes. 8vo, 400 pp., each $2.50 net. Special price for set on application, together with table of contents of the volumes.

They contain all the lectures and papers delivered before the American Institute of Christian Philosophy for eleven years, together with other valuable matter.

Canadian Methodist Quarterly Review says : "Christian Thought is for those who think and who want to think, and is emphatically a leader in thought."

Christ and His Religion. By Rev. John Reid. Second Edition. 12mo, cloth, 311 pp. $1.25.

This volume bears the characteristics of the author. The thought is fresh and interesting, evidently the outgrowth of the writer's own intellectual and spiritual life it is concrete rather than abstract, centering on the living and historic Christ. The style is remarkable for short sentences and simple words. The work is one of originality and great power.

The Outlook says : "Keen and clear conceptions of truth mark this volume. The author is a man of thought, and his calm and well-balanced views give a charm to his writing. The book is like a fruitful field or a well-kept garden, full of noble plants and beautiful flowers. Nor is it simply ornate ; there is the strength of truth in every page. The reader is carried along by the steady current of thought, and finishes the volume with a sense of having made a delightful journey."

Christ Enough. By Hannah Whitall Smith. 16mo, azure binding, in colors. 15 cents.

The California Christian Advocate says: "Worthy a place in every room table in the land, for it will bless every one who picks it up."

Concessions of "Liberalists" to Orthodoxy. By Daniel Dorchester, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 344 pp. $1.50.

This work was originally prepared as a course of lectures, and was delivered before the School of Theology of Boston University. At the earnest solicitation and unanimous request of the Faculty and Students, together with numerous requests from other schools of theology and the public, they were prepared for publication. The book is worthy of all commendation for the extensive research shown by the author, and the presentation of the three cardinal topics: The Deity of Christ, the Atonement, and Endless Punishment.

Religious Herald says: "A rich armory for offensive and defensive warfare against theological error."

Western Christian Advocate: "A book that should be in every minister's library. The doctor's style is singularly pure and candid, and the diction and dignity, scholarship and research is manifest in every page."

Credentials of Science. The Warrant of Faith. By Josiah Parsons Cooke, LL.D. Harvard University. 12mo, cloth, 324 pp. $2.00.

The Sunday School Times says: "Few men will be able to read it without profit."

Discourses Upon the Existence and Attributes of God. By Stephen Carnock, B.D., with His Life and Character, by William Symington, D.D. 8vo, cloth, 2 vol.; 606 pp. 546 pp. $3.00.

Refinement and taste and extensive scholarship can alone explain the chasteness, ease and elegance of style, so free from all verbosity and clumsiness, which mark the production.

Decision of Character and Other Essays. In a Series of Letters. By John Foster. 12mo, cloth, 352 pp $1.50.

John McClintock, M.D., says: "His writings are marked by strong, original thought, stimulating to the best principles and purposes."

Dictionary of Scientific Illustrations and Symbols. Moral truths mirrored in scientific facts. Designed for the use of the Senate, the Bar, the Pulpit, the Orator, and Lover of Nature. By a Barrister. 8vo, cloth, 420 pp. $2.00. Half calf, gilt top, $3.50.

An excellent idea, worked out with great care and kept within a reasonable compass, in which is brought together a good many scientific facts and deductions in which are mirrored moral and spiritual truths. Many of the paragraphs are very striking, and the book will prove most helpful to ministers and other diligent students of the Divine Word.

Central Christian Advocate says: "The work has real merit, and will be a welcome addition to many libraries."

The Christian Journal: "The illustrations are well arranged. The compilation is a good one, and will meet with a hearty welcome."

The Watchman: "We do not hesitate to commend it as a valuable contribution to the art of picturesque and engaging discourse."

The Christian World. "Ministers and others who know the value of analogical teaching, may derive great assistance from the suggestions here given."

The Christian Commonwealth: "It is a book which ought to find its way into the library of every public man. We know of no other volume that can take its place."

New York Times: "The range of topics is so wide that one is sure to find something in the book which he may make use of, no matter what he may be talking or writing about."

Christian Standard: "It would be almost impossible to overrate the value of this work to the student, speaker, lecturer, preacher, or writer, and it must be read to be fully appreciated."

Walter Church, Editor "The New Century:" "It filled an empty space in my library. It is a gallery of types and outlines, which every artist may daily use in making his own collection of living word pictures."

Methodist Protestant: "After a careful examination we pronounce it the most useful, sensible, and suggestive book of the kind we have ever seen. Its proper use will brighten and strengthen any sermon or oration."

The Scotsman: "The compiler has evidently spared no pains to bring together a mass of interesting anecdotes, and has so arranged and indexed them as to make them very conveniently accessible for purposes of reference."

Dictionary of Burning Words of Brilliant Writers. A Cyclopædia of Quotations for the Literature of All Ages. Designed for the Senate, the Bar, the Pulpit, and the Orator. Compiled by Josiah H. Gilbert, with an Introduction by Charles H. Robinson, D.D. 8vo, cloth, 608 pp., $2.00. Half calf, gilt top, $3.50.

The work is arranged in alphabetical order by subjects, and in addition to this contains twenty-two pages of index by authors and a most excellent index by subjects covering thirty-three pages. Not only the main subject is given, but each subject heading is sub-divided so that it will cover everything that may be indicated by the general subject headings.

Zion's Herald says: "It is one of the best books of its kind."

The Independent: "Just what this book was intended to be, it is."

New York Observer: "The work has been admirably done, both as to subjects and arrangement."

Christian Advocate: "We heartily recommend the volume as a solid source both of recreation and instruction."

Theodore L. Cuyler, D.D.: "There is more solid ore and less trash in this volume than in any similar work I have met with; nor is it tainted with any poison of bad theology."

Golden Rule: "A good encyclopædia of quotations bearing on religious truths. It is evangelical but not sectarian, and its extracts, which are chiefly prose, are concise, unhackneyed, and in a large measure from American authors."

Deems' Memorial Number of Christian Thought. With Portrait. Paper, 40 cts.

It contains a biographical sketch of Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D., a report of the funeral services, together with Dr. J. M. Buckley's address on that occasion, and a report of the proceedings at the Memorial Services, including the addresses of prominent clergymen delivered at that time, and brief tributes from the societies and institutions with which he was connected, and from prominent citizens who have been intimately associated with him in both the South and the North.

Envelope System for Systematic Giving. A complete set of tracts, envelopes, cards, etc., with full descriptive circular, and price list of the supplies will be sent on receipt of 5 cents.

Epistles of Paul the Apostle; a Sketch of their Origin and Contents. By George G. Findlay, B.A. 12mo, cloth, 300 pp. $1.50.

Christian Advocate says: "This is a book especially useful to young preachers."

Zion's Herald: "The book will prove acceptable and useful to both preachers and teachers in the Sunday School. The wheat is sifted from the chaff and prepared for easy and profitable use."

Marcus Dods, D.D.: "A very useful handbook, admirably adapted for its purpose. Professor Findlay, in his perfect Commentary on the Epistle to the Galatians, has given proof of his competency to handle Pauline doctrine, and here he utilizes his great knowledge for the use of beginners."

George Edward Reid, D.D., LL.D., President of Dickinson College: "I have examined with great care and with deep satisfaction Prof. Findlay's excellent and erudite work, 'The Epistles of Paul the Apostle.' To say that I am delighted with the volume would be insufficient to express my satisfaction; while, as the author modestly suggests, the field is not new, he has, nevertheless, succeeded in bringing within the narrow limits of his work a vast array of interesting facts concerning the life and letters of the illustrious Apostle to the Gentiles. I shall keep it within easy reach as one of the best of hand books for Bible study, pulpit preparations, or Sunday School work, it has been my fortune to own. It ought to have a place in every Christian worker's library."

Footprints of Sorrow. By Rev. John Reid. Third edition. 12mo, cloth, 373 pp. $1.25.

The present treatise is not a devotional book, although veins of devotion are found in it. It does not strictly relate to the afflictions of man, to piety on its sombre side, or to the absolute gloom of grief. It rather calls attention to certain phases of sorrow; giving shape to our consciousness upon the subject, and seeking to impress the mind in a way that seems right. Any person, therefore, may read the work, whether he be indifferent, joyful, or sad. The chapters are arranged rhetorically rather than logically, as that method seems the most suitable.

The Christian Intelligencer says: "The author gives gold fresh coined in the mint of his own mind. He considers his subject under all its aspects, first showing the source of sorrow, then the varieties of form it assumes, and its benefits and consolations. The beauty and simplicity of its style, and the vein of touching sympathy that runs through its pages must make it a welcome volume to all sorrowing and afflicted readers. Its exquisite typographical neatness is as refreshing to the eye as its contents are to the heart."

Father Solon; or, The Helper Helped. By Rev. De Los Lull. 12mo, cloth, 367 pp. $1.50.

Zion's Herald says: "We have before us the promised treat in the story told by a distinguished clergyman, and can assert that its anticipated excellencies had not been overstated."

The Episcopal Methodist: "The author, widely known as a clergyman and a close student of human nature, brings to light a charmingly written and decidedly spirited story, concerning the home, the factory, and the church."

"For Christ's Crown." By David James Burrell, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 484 pp. $1.50. (In press.)

A volume of Sermons. A companion volume to "The Spirit of the Age."

Golden Nails Series of Addresses to the Young.

SILVER WINGS. ADDRESSES TO CHILDREN. By Rev. Andrew G. Fleming. 12mo, parti-cloth, 191 pp.

GOLDEN NAILS, AND OTHER ADDRESSES TO CHILDREN. By George Milligan, B.D. 12mo, parti-cloth, 188 pp.

PLEASANT PLACES. WORDS TO THE YOUNG. By R. S. Duff, D.D. 12mo, parti-cloth, 192 pp.

PARABLES AND SKETCHES. By Alfred E. Knight. With four illustrations, by the author. 12mo, parti-cloth, 199 pp.

Sixty cents each. The set, four volumes in box, $2.40.

The Sunday School Chronicle says: "They are like good nails, straight and pointed, full of illustrations, and such as children will delight to hear."

The Expository Times, London, England: "The Golden Nails Series is one of the happiest of recent enterprises in book publishing. It is a series of volumes of sermons to children; attractive, modern, and evangelical. Every volume has had a good reception, and every volume increases one's admiration for the enterprise. We have always felt that if three things were made imperative—freshness, truth, and cheapness—there was a great field for children's sermons. For we know that there were children and children's preachers who were hungering and thirsting after them as after righteousness itself."

Golden Nails, and Other Addresses to Children. By George Milligan, B.D. 12mo, parti-cloth, 188 pp. 60 cts. See "Golden Nails Series."

Any one who talks to children will find this a most suggestive volume.

Gospel of Common Sense, The; As Contained in the Canonical Epistle of James. By Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth, 320 pp. $1.50.

Christian Standard says: "It is about as much a book of sermons as a commentary and about as much a commentary as a book of sermons, and in either capacity it is profitably suggestive."

The Evangelist: "Dr. Deems has blended scholarly correctness of exegesis with the plainest and most practical unfolding of the lesson, social and individual, of the Epistle of James. He has made a useful book."

The Critic: "The volume is too bright to be dubbed a commentary. It crackles in every one of its chapters with wit and point, with note and illustration, and is thoroughly out of the ruts as to style and method."

The Presbyterian: "The book deserves thoughtful consideration. Dr. Deems brings to them exposition and applicative power of happy illustration, careful investigation, good judgment, ripe experience, elegance of diction, and versatility of talent."

Joseph Cook: "Dr. Deems' eminent common sense never appeared more profitable than in his fresh, incisive, and most timely discussion of St. James' Epistle as the Gospel of Common Sense. The book is at once popular and scholarly, broad and deep, radical and conservative."

Great Thoughts of the Bible. By Rev. John Reid. 12mo, cloth, 318 pp. $1.50.

The New York Observer says: "It is thoughtful, incisive, and wholesome."

The New York Christian Advocate: "It is a book that has come to stay because there are elements of power in it."

The Independent: "It is such a book as comes only from a strong man, and appeals to such as wish themselves to be strong."

Christian Work: "It is a book which will not only add to the intelligence of the Christian, but invigorate and strengthen him in the performance of all Christian duties."

The Interior: "It is an aid to every thoughtful reader of God's Word in the way of directing the attention to some fundamental matters, and impressing upon him their pre-eminent importance in a scholarly yet simple, and always evangelical way."

Gospel of Spiritual Insight, The. Being Studies in the Gospel of St. John. By Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth, 377 pp. $1.50.

The Outlook says: "Heartily we commend this sensible and devout exposition and version of St. John's Gospel."

Florida Christian Advocate: "Its lucid and pointed style, its earnest application of practical lessons, make it a book of rare excellence and value."

The Christian Advocate (New York): "For point and pith, fresh illustrations and thorough exposition, the volumes will command the attention of pastors and teachers."

The Observer: "These studies in the Gospel of the beloved disciple are rich with spiritual truth, and will be read with pleasure and profit by Christian disciples."

Christian Advocate (Pittsburgh): "To the study of this remarkable book Dr. Deems has brought the mind of a master and the heart of a disciple. The result is what might be expected—an admirable book. We heartily commend it."

Hand Book of the Bible. A compendium of facts and curiosities. By Rev. William Turner. 12mo, cloth, 235 pp. Illustrated. $1.00.

The Standard says: "A reliable guide in the matters of which it treats."

Zion's Herald: "The volume is packed with facts in relation to both Testaments, and so arranged as to be easily found by the reader, especially by the aid of the extensive and valuable index."

New York Observer: "The author has collected a great variety of useful knowledge. He has condensed and arranged his knowledge, adding illustrations and explanations, and thus presents a volume which is of great value to the student."

Heredity and Christian Doctrine. By Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. Paper, 10 cts., net.

Home Making. By "Ian Maclaren" (Rev. John Watson). 16mo, azure binding, in colors. 15 cts.

Christian Herald says: "It is a most helpful Christian meditation."

Epworth Herald: "It is sweet, tender, and very helpful in the spiritual life."

Golden Rule: "It is an illuminating sermonette, beautifully set forth by the publisher."

Human Mind, The. A Treatise in Mental Philosophy. By Edward J. Hamilton, D.D. Large 8vo, cloth, 722 pp. $3.00.

The Presbyterian says: "The work is one of the most comprehensive, elaborate, and intelligent treatises on the subject of which it treats that has been presented to the public."

Hymns For All Christians. Compiled by Charles F. Deems and Phœbe Cary. Cloth, 266 pp. 75 cts., net.

This is a convenient manual embracing all the best and most used hymns. Dr. Deems declares that "to the best of my gifted co-worker and myself, the best hymns have been selected according to their poetical excellence, their devotional fervor, and their popularity."

Ingersoll and the Deist. By a Native "Tar Heel." Paper. 25 cts., net. Cloth, 50 cents.

"I Wills" of Christ. By Rev. Philip B. Power. 12mo, cloth, 395 pp. $1.25.

Thoughts upon some of the passages in which the words "I will" are used by the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Baptist Union says: "The chapters are helpful magazines of illustrations and suggestions."

The Christian Work: "The author seems to have fairly caught the spirit of the blessed invitations and declarations which he has here so clearly and eloquently set forth."

New York Observer: "It is designed to depict the religious experience of a human soul, based upon the invitations and promises of Christ. Beginning with the invitation to the sinner, the author passes on through the successive stages of spiritual growth to the promise of glorification. Abundant illustrations are introduced from history and the biographies of Christians. The book is full of comforting suggestions, designed to strengthen faith."

"I Wills" of the Psalms. By Rev. Philip B. Power. 12mo, cloth, 404 pp. $1.25.

The Churchman says: "It is a real mine of suggestiveness."

Baptist Union: "It is a helpful book, and one that will strengthen the will of every reader."

Joy, Rest and Faith. By Prof. Henry Drummond. Azure binding, in colors. 15 cts.

Prof. Drummond has long been known to possess a facile pen to express thoughts and feelings of great beauty and tenderness, but we venture to assert that this dainty little booklet is the most precious literary production he has given. It is like a garden of sweet and fragrant flowers, and there is dew everywhere.

Free Methodist says: "It expresses thoughts and feelings of great beauty and tenderness."

King's Son, The; or, A Memoir of Billy Bray. Compiled chiefly from his own memorandum. By F. W. Bourne. Thirty-first edition. Revised and enlarged. 12mo, cloth, 160 pp. 75 cts.

We cannot describe this book in better language than the Editor of the New York Independent did in a recent issue. He says: "It is a history of one of those 'miracles of grace' of which John Newton declared himself an example. It is one of those homely tales of the thorough-going transforming powers of Christian grace which Spurgeon has done more than any living man to celebrate. It shows how the poor man may become rich, the drunkard sober, the miserable examples of peace and joy, and how the social and individual problem of human life may be solved by the divine agency of faith. It is a stimulating book whose power lies, like Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress,' in its simple presentation of the eternal verities and realities of Christian life and experience."

The Congregationalist says: "The book would do good if lent about freely."

Ocean Grove Record: "Such a book will be read and talked about when theological or scientific treatises are overlooked."

The late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon said: "Sometime ago we gave a 'resume' of this singular biography, and our friends at once bought it. Those who did not do so had better hurry up. Scarcely do we remember a biography more amusing and yet more edifying."

Live Coals. By T. De Witt Talmage, D.D. Large 8vo, 678 pp. Illustrated. Cloth. $2.00.

This work is divided into seventy-six telling chapters on as many different subjects of absorbing interest.

Christian Advocate says: "Their power for good can scarcely be overestimated. When heard or read they produce a powerful impression, and are of the kind best adapted to reach the masses in these days of absorbing worldliness and eager pursuit of gain."

Lost Chapters Recovered from the Early History of American Methodism. By J. B. Wakeley, D.D., with a Memoir of the Author by William E. Ketcham, D.D. Illustrated with steel and wood engravings. 8vo, cloth, 640 pp. $2.00.

The book contains the earliest authentic records of Methodism in this country. It is a perfect treasure. It is most valuable to the antiquarian, to the historian, and especially to the great Methodist family. It has a denominational interest. It introduces to us the carpenter preacher, Philip Embury; the soldier preacher, Captain Webb; to Boardman, Pilmoor, and many others; their lifeless forms seem to be reanimated and we see them living, breathing, speaking, and acting as they were a century ago. We behold them laying the foundation of the temple of Methodism in this new world, on which has been erected a noble superstructure. This work is more than a mere local history. It describes the early and great men of Methodism in whom the great Methodist family have a common interest. Contained in the numerous chapters is a history of Methodism in the City of New York. The work will be valuable for the future historian. It is rich in historic lore, presenting significant and curious items relating to the introduction of Methodism in this country.

Western Christian Advocate says: "It is a treasury of many facts which are indispensable to a clear understanding of Methodism."

Christian Advocate (St. Louis): "This is a new edition of one of the most valuable contributions to the history of American Methodism. Until its publication we had only the merest outline of the rise and early years of Methodism in New York City. Now we have it nearly as complete as one can desire, making the record more perfect than of any other important early centre. What was before shadowy and conjectural stands out in perfect relief."

Mental Science. A Text-Book for Schools and Colleges. By Edward John Hamilton, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 411 pp. $2.00.

Meditations. In Advent, on Creation, and on Providence. By Henry Alford, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 240 pp. $1.00. (In press.)

The author has taken some of the great familiar truths of our religious life and, stripping them of accidents, has endeavored to lay them forth in their reality, with our ordinary thoughts and habits.

Nature and the Bible; A Course of Lectures. By J. W. Dawson, LL.D., F.R.S., F.G.S. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 238 pp. $1.75.

The Interior says: "The book is not a partisan publication. It will be found by those opposed to be perfectly candid and fair admitting difficulties in their full force, and not seeking to evade, misinterpret, or exaggerate any fact or argument. He discusses his topics as a student of nature and not from the standpoint mostly occupied by theologians."

Parables and Sketches. By Alfred E. Knight. With four illustrations by the Author. 12mo, parti-cloth, 199 pp. 60 cts.

A series of most excellent sermons to children. See "Golden Nails Series."

Pastor's Pocket Manual for Funerals. Compiled and edited by Joseph Sanderson, D.D., LL.D. Introduction by William M. Taylor, D.D., LL.D. Flexible leather. 60 cts., net.

This work is for the pastor's pocket and use when going to discharge the duties of his office at the funeral service. The Selections of Scripture are brief, varied, and so arranged that one or more may be used as circumstances may suggest. They are adapted to deaths occurring in very diversified conditions of life and at very different ages. The funeral services of the various churches are given in an abbreviated form, and also several Committals in frequent use. The Germs of Addresses, or outlines of sermons, original and selected from sermons of eminent clergymen, follow the order of the selections.

Golden Rule says: "It is a book that will be exceedingly valuable to all pastors."

William M. Taylor, D.D.: "Dr. Sanderson has earned the thanks of the brethren for the sketches, both original and selected, which he has furnished in this volume, and which will be helpful to them in the choice and treatment of a theme specially adapted to such an occasion. Valuable above all price is the catena of consoling passages which is here furnished. We commend this suggestive handbook to all whose office it is to guide the thoughts and lead the devotion of mourners when they go forth to bury their dead out of their sight."

Pleasant Places. Words to the Young. By R. S. Duff, D.D. 12mo, parti-cloth, 192 pp. 60 cts.

Short addresses to children. See "Golden Nails Series."

Preacher's Magazine, The. William E. Ketcham, D.D., Managing Editor. Published monthly, $1.50 per year. Single copy, 15 cts. No free samples. Bound volumes net, $2.50 each. Five now ready. The sixth in December. Exceedingly liberal premium offers are made to subscribers. Full descriptive circulars on application.

The magazine is a storehouse of homiletical helps. Among the various departments are: Sermons, Bible Readings, Important Doctrinal Texts, Notes and Illustrations, Sermons for Special Occasions, Outlines and Sketches of Sermons, Suggestive Articles, Pastoral Work, Expository Lectures, Prayer Meeting Talks, Table Talk, Book Reviews, etc., etc.

Sunday School Section: Notes on International Lessons. Addresses to Children and Teachers. Good Anecdotes. Outline Addresses on the Golden Texts.

The Homiletical Department is most complete, containing in each volume over two hundred Sermons and Outlines, also many Illustrations, Original and Selected, by writers of all Evangelical Churches. Special attention is given to the Church Seasons, Bible Readings, Harvest, Thanksgiving and Children's Day Services, Missionary, Temperance, Evangelistic and other Services. The index in each volume refers to over 250 Texts.

John Hall, D.D., LL.D., says: "It will be a great help by its suggestions to many ministers."

The Methodist Sunday School Record: "The very best thing we have seen in the way of suggestiveness for workers, preachers, and teachers, THE PREACHER'S MAGAZINE is furnishing."

Western Recorder: "Yesterday having unexpectedly a leisure hour, we attentively read through a copy. We were surprised to find how uniformly excellent all the sermons and sketches were. Hereafter, we will not content ourselves with glancing over the Magazine and reading one or more sermons whose texts or whose preachers promised would be of special interest."

Philosophy and Christianity. A Series of Lectures. By George S. Morris, Ph.D., of the University of Michigan. 12mo, cloth, 315 pp. $1.75.

It is pithy, pointed, and practical, and its pages are instructive, guiding and entertaining, and its circulation is bound to do great work.

Preacher's Magazine, The, Binder for the numbers, as issued, of this magazine. Price, 60 cts., net, each; If by mail, 75 cts. Cloth covers for binding numbers at end of year, any volume, 35 cts., net.

There are no strings to tie or perforations to make. It will hold twelve numbers. A number that you desire can be taken out in an instant or can be readily referred to without removing from the binder. If so desired, the year's numbers can be taken out and bound at the end of the year, and the binder kept for the next year's numbers, or, the binder can be retained. It has all the appearance of a bound volume on the shelves.

The cost to bind the numbers of all volumes in cloth, title in gilt on back, is $1.00, owner to send numbers at his expense, we to return bound volume, postpaid.

Perceptionalism; A Study of Philosophy. By E. J. Hamilton, D.D. Paper. 20 cts., net.

Psychology, A Study of. By Henry McCracken, LL.D. Paper, 15 cts., net.

Plain Words on Christian Living. By C. J. Vaughan, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 313 pp. $1.25. (In press.)

The volume contains sixteen sermons; the following are titles:

Sleep and Waking. The Seat and Exit of Evil. Temptation. Conscience. The Christian Use of Food. The Christian Use of Society. Domestic Service—Masters and Servants. Domestic Service—Servants and Masters. A Good Old Age. Repentance and Forgiveness Once Needed. Repentance and Forgiveness Occasionally Needed. Repentance and Forgiveness Daily Needed. Addresses for a Harvest Home. The Decisive Question. The Marks of the Lord Jesus. The Revelation of the Unseen.

The Late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon said:—"Not only does Dr. Vaughan expound his texts in the ablest manner, but he introduces passages of Scripture so aptly that he suggests discourses. We cannot too highly commend him. He does not grapple with difficulties but inculcates the lessons."

The Guardian says:—"There is a self-controlled abstinence from rhetoric in Dr. Vaughan's sermons, accompanied by a power and freshness of thought, which gives them the reality that other writers sometimes seek through a strained 'unprofessionality' of tone. Dr. Vaughan's last volume, Plain Words on Christian Living, strikes us as no less scholar-like in style, and more instructive in matter, than its predecessors."

Pivot Words of Scripture. By Rev. Philip B. Power. 12mo, cloth, 353 pp. $1.25.

The Epworth Herald says: "A most excellent and helpful volume. We heartily commend it."

The Christian Work: "It is pointed, crisp, and fresh, and dealing with living issues."

The Living Church: "The author is richly endowed with the illustrative genius, which he puts to apt exercise."

Present Day Preaching. Being sermons by the Rev. Drs. T. G. Selby, Hugh Macmillan, Hugh Price Hughes, James Stalker, John Hall, Mark Guy Pearse, R. F. Horton, W. M. Sinclair, Joseph Parker, Joseph Berry, H. C. G. Moule, F. W. Farrar, and A. M. Fairbairn. 8vo, cloth, 96 pp. 75 cts.

The Sermons are the product of the heart and brain of ministers of several Churches. They were originally published from time to time in the PREACHER'S MAGAZINE, and are now sent forth in this form. We trust that they will be suggestive to those whose duty it is to preach, and also may be useful for private reading.

New York Observer says: "It makes a very interesting book, one valuable both in itself and as showing the tone of the contemporary pulpit."

The Baltimore Methodist: "The Sermons are all excellent, and such a galaxy of talent in one volume is not common. The very names of the contributors carry worth and weight with them."

Probation and Punishment; or, The Future State of the Wicked and the Doctrine of a Second Probation. By S. M. Vernon, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 300 pp. $1.50.

Congregationalist says: "Able, careful, temperate. Its conclusions cannot be successfully confuted."

Religious Herald: "Style clear; reasoning forcible; wide range of materials; a valuable contribution to the theological literature of the times."

Christian Intelligencer: "A plain, earnest, outspoken, yet tender and discriminative exposition of the Scriptural teaching respecting the wicked."

The New York Independent: "Full and temperate discussion of the subject; all the more convincing for the author's quiet tone and disposition to be fair.'

Record of Church Offerings. Arranged for the weekly system of collecting church funds. It will last 600 weekly subscribers one year or a smaller number a longer time; ruled for twenty-five names on a page, with spaces for number, residence, amount pledged, remarks, and fifty-two spaces in which to enter amount paid each Sunday, net, $1.50; by mail, $1.75; arranged for the monthly system, net, $1.25; by mail, $1.50.

Revelation by Character; Illustrated from Old Testament Lives. By Robert Tuck, B.A. 12mo, cloth, 308 pp. $1.50.

The leading idea in these studies is that every man has his own marked individuality, and his precise mission to his generation in that individuality.

The Treasury says: "He is fair and reasonable."

The Congregationalist: "He writes clearly and exhibits the candid temper of the true scholar, but does not lack positiveness of conviction."

Zion's Herald: "It is a handy little compendium for the clergyman to have when he wishes to preach a series of sermons on characters of the Bible; it will prove of considerable value."

Golden Rule: "These strong, concise, and easily-remembered sentences could well be made the pivot on which a whole discourse should turn. The book is one of the best studies of character that we know of. It is in every way a superior piece of work."

The Methodist Times (London): "The plan of this work is novel and interesting. Preachers may get many seed-thoughts from it, and they may also learn from the work that an occasional sermon on a Bible character is welcome to every kind of a congregation."

Review of Reviews: "If we could apprehend the character of the men of the Old Testament, we should find that they carried to us revelations in what they were. In the spirit of this quotation from his preface, Mr. Robert Tuck presents a series of twenty-four studies, simple and wholesome, of the Bible heroes in whose personality some distinct and great moral principles were emphasized. He selects 'Righteous Abel,' 'Spiritual Abraham,' 'Bargaining Jacob,' 'Energetic Caleb,' 'Wily Joab,' etc. The lessons thus deduced he applies to ordinary every-day life."

Romance of Providence, A; Being a History of the Church of the Strangers, of New York, of which Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D., was pastor. Edited by Joseph S. Taylor. 12mo, cloth. Illustrated. 256 pp. $1.25 net.

The Methodist Protestant says: "The book is suggestive to pastors everywhere for its excellent Church methods, a detail of which is given. Such monographs of Churches generally have a purely local interest, but this is general and well repays the reading."

Science and Faith. By Prof. A. J. Du Bois. Paper. 20 cts., net.

Social Law of God. Sermons on the Ten Commandments, by the Rev. E. A. Washburn, D.D., late Rector of Calvary Church, New York. 12mo. cloth, 212 pp. $1.00.

The Treasury says: "There are few expositions of the Decalogue surpassing it in comprehensive clearness of diction and force of practical tendency."

New York Observer: "It is a production of the mind, rich in the treasures of critical learning, and a wide-reaching subject to the teaching of truth."

Union Signal: "It is a forcible work, its strength laying not so much in persuasive eloquence as in clear, calm logic. Its sermons will be a real aid to the student of Bible truth."

Survival, The; or, Heathen Superstitions in Christendom. By Daniel S. Martin, Ph.D. Paper. 20 cts., net.

Success of the Gospel and the Failure of the New Theologies. By Bishop John F. Hurst, D.D., LL.D. Paper. 10 cts., net.

Christian Advocate (New York) says: "The great literary charm of all Bishop Hurst's work is clearly manifest, while in intellectual strength and evangelical fervor it reaches the highest point. The large historical learning of the Bishop is drawn upon for illustration, while his allusions to general literature throw their light upon the subjects which suggest his sentences. As a vigorous and masterly comparison of the relative power of the old and new theologies, we know of nothing as fresh and as strong, and those who read will find faith strengthened and devotion stirred."

Spirit of the Age, The. By David James Burrell, D.D., Pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church, New York. 12mo, cloth, 381 pp. $1.50.

The sermons in this volume are reported as delivered. They cover a wide range of subjects and will be found helpful, instructive, and stimulating.

The Congregationalist says: "They are striking in form and impressive in discourse."

The Independent: "There is a great deal of heart, pith, and point in these sermons."

Central Presbyterian: "They are short, sound, and perspicuous, always preaching Christ and Him crucified."

The Epworth Herald: "He gives men something to think about in every sermon, and puts it in a clear way. Good, healthful reading."

New York Christian Advocate: "He has a happy faculty of getting at the central truth of a passage, and then stating it tersely and pointedly. He uses vigorous, forceful Anglo-Saxon. He gives men something to think about in every sermon, and puts it in a clear way."

New York Observer: "Dr. Burrell, as a pulpit orator, is a burning and shining light. His hearers get inspiration and illumination from his utterances. We like the terse and pungent English, the flashes of illustration, the clear cut sentences, the direct dive for the heart of the text, which always seems to yield its sweetest and most nutritious meat for this earnest student of the Word."

Sanctified Spice; or, Pungent Seasonings from the Pulpit. By Madison C. Peters, Pastor of Bloomingdale Reformed Church, New York City. 12mo, cloth, 216 pp. $1.00.

The Lutheran Observer says: "They are bright, sprightly, and sharp thrusts at the follies and wickedness of the day, and sparkle with wit and humor, as well as sarcasm and rebuke. They are spicy reading, and will serve as a mental and moral stimulus and quickener to anyone, especially ministers."

Zion's Herald: "These selections are indeed spicy, and if the clergyman who publishes them reads or delivers them with a proper oratorical fervor, they must arouse fear, faith, antagonism, and agreement. He speaks clearly; he speaks plainly. He is very orthodox in the essentials of orthodoxy; believes in hell and says so, and does not believe in Spiritualism and says so. We recommend these breezy, inspiriting, and strong paragraphs to all. Their style is popular, but there is a good deal of sense packed in the paragraphs."

Silver Wings. Addresses to Children. By Rev. Andrew G. Fleming. 12mo, parti-cloth, 191 pp. 60 cts.

A volume of value for its suggestive addresses. See "Golden Nails Series."

Study of the Bible, The. By George G. Findlay, B.A. Paper, 15 cts., net.

Prof. W. T. Davidson says: "It is admirably suited as an elementary guide to the study of the Scriptures."

The Expository Times: "It is a wise word on the right way to study the Bible, by one who has studied it, and loves it well."

Science and Religion, The Relations of. By Henry Calderwood, LL.D., of Edinburg University. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, 323 pp. $1.75.

The Evangelist (New York) says: "A careful perusal of these lectures leaves the impression that it is not science, but the crude speculations and unwarranted interferences of scientists and their ill-instructed followers that conflicts with religion. True science supports and confirms religious truth."

Study in Pedagogy, A. By John H. Vincent, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth, 73 pp. 60 cts.

Sunday-school as an Institution, What Shall We Do With the. By George Lansing Taylor, D.D. Fourth edition. Square 16mo, paper. 20 cts., net.

The Central Methodist says: "This is the clearest and most vigorous presentation of the whole Sunday School question in a nutshell we have seen. It is a work that ought to be in the hands of all preachers, since its practical treatment of the difficulties of our present system, and the proper remedy to be applied, make it valuable to them."

Spencerian Theory of the Religion of Israel. By Rev. C. R. Blauvelt, Ph.D. Paper, 15 cts., net.

Sunshine for Dark Hours. By Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, paper. 25 cts.

The Union Signal says: "This is called a book for invalids; it is equally appropriate for well people, to whom dark hours are sure to come. The sunshine in this book is concentrated from many different sources by the strong lines of Dr. Deems' personality."

Synoptical Lectures on the Books of Holy Scriptures. By Donald Frazer, D.D. New Edition. Large 12mo, cloth, 2 volumes, 308 pp., 312 pp. $4.00.

From the Author's Preface: "Archdeacon Farrar has been so good as to say that, till he fell in with 'Synoptical Lectures,' he 'did not know of any volume of sermons, either in Patristic, Scholastic, Reformation, or post-Reformation theology which contains a series of discourses dealing seriatim with the Messages of the Books.' The idea originally occurred to us from observing how much the popular conceptions in religion rest on fragmentary sentences, used as texts, and how little has been done to show, either to the clergy or the laity, the comprehensive sweep of revelation. Commentaries, to serve their purpose well, must be minute, and reach a bulk which deters the ordinary reader. So this book was attempted, to suit not professional students merely, but all educated Christians, and convey to them something like a compendious knowledge of Holy Writ. The plan, as expressed in a former edition, is 'to survey each Book of Scripture, so as to apprehend generally its scope and contents: as one may view a city from the top of a tower in order to gain an idea of its arrangement and its salient features, that he may thereafter more intelligently traverse it and explore it in detail.' For help in such detailed study one must repair to the commentator and preacher."

The Treasury says: "The Author has done a noble work, not only for professional students and educated Christians, but for all who desire to gain a clear knowledge of the Book that makes wise unto salvation."

Supernatural Morality. Some considerations of Herbert Spencer's "Data of Ethics." By W. H. Platt, D.D., LL.D. Paper, 40 cts.

Toward the Sunset; Teachings after Thirty Years. By A. K. H. Boyd, author of "The Recreation of a Country Parson," etc. 12mo, cloth, 248 pp. $1.00.

The Sword and Trowel says: "Just suited to the occasion."

The British Daily Mail: "A volume of rare excellence."

The Spectator: "Kind, wise, and practical. None of the author's latest publications have pleased us better than this."

The London Daily News: "A simplicity and sincerity of feeling which silences criticism and wins many hearts and souls."

Thanksgiving Sermons and Outline Addresses. Edited by William E. Ketcham, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 300 pp. $1.50.

The volume consists of Sermons and Outlines of Sermons and Addresses, by prominent clergymen of Europe and America, and have been selected by the Editor with great care. The work is suggestive to all who are engaged in the ministry, and especially so to those who are entering on its arduous and important duties.

The Christian Cynosure: "This volume will be a welcome addition to many a pastor's library."

The Christian Standard: "A real aid. It suggests subjects and their treatment. One can use such a book without incurring the suspicion of plagiarism."

Methodist Protestant: "The Sermons and Outlines of Sermons are by prominent preachers of the day, and have been selected by the editor with discriminating care."

Methodist Recorder: "Every minister who is called to preach a Thanksgiving sermon, and wants to see how others do it, will find this book exceedingly useful."

Central Christian Advocate: "This volume of discourses covers the entire scope of the services peculiar to Thanksgiving Day. It furthermore suggests many texts and topics appropriate for use in connection with that autumnal festival. Those who have in mind the preparation of sermons or addresses for that occasion, will find the volume ripe with suggestions and fruitful with hints and helps, such as may start the student upon a track of his own."

Tool Basket, The; for Preachers and Teachers. Oblong, flexible cloth, 89 pp. 50 cts.

A collection of 300 Sermon Outlines, Pegs of Thought, Sunday School Addresses, etc., etc. These notes and outlines have been gathered from various sources and grouped together in a convenient form for the express purpose of helping to fix upon some suitable subject; thus affording assistance in time of need and emergency.

The Rev. Mark Guy Pearse says: "Admirable; the sought of thing that is invaluable to busy workers."

The Methodist Recorder: "An admirably conceived manual. We think that preachers will find many a helpful implement and illustration for their sermon preparation. The "outlines" are indeed outlines, or rather hints only, and they will prove a help in gathering ideas and suggestions for the division of subjects and so establish a framework which their own resources must fill in and complete."

Undesigned Coincidences in the Writings of Both the Old and New Testament. An Argument for Their Veracity. By Rev. John J. Blunt, with an introduction by Joseph Sanderson, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, cloth, 361 pp. $1.50.

Joseph Sanderson, D.D., LL.D., says: "His facts and allusions are gathered with discriminating care, his arguments are massed with a general's eye; his thoughts are clothed with words of elegance and ease."

Una and Her Paupers. Memorials of Agnes Elizabeth Jones. By her sister, with an introduction by Florence Nightingale, and introductory preface by Henry Ward Beecher. 12mo, cloth, 497 pp. (New edition in press.)

Unnoticed Things of Scripture. By William Ingraham Kip, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 200 pp. $1.00.

The Presbyterian Journal says: "Meaty and wholesome, and discloses considerable critical acumen."

Messiah's Herald: "It is a valuable work, and one which we are glad to possess and which we shall consult frequently."

The Canadian Churchman: "It takes up the cue that is so often left unnoticed by ordinary commentaries, and gathers up the threads which are usually neglected."

Voices of the Soul Answered in God. By Rev. John Reid. Fourth edition. 12mo, cloth, 374 pp. $1.25.

The New York Observer says: "That the soul of man can find its hopes realized, its wants satisfied, its fears quieted, and its measures filled in God, and in God alone, is the leading thought of this calm and powerful book. The presentation is most serious, original, and suggestive."

Prof. William G. T. Shedd, D.D.: "It is a work of originality and power. I have rarely perused a treatise which has issued so evidently as this has from prolonged searching, reflection, and strong, earnest conviction. The author has discussed the serious themes of evangelical religion in a manner that invests them with fresh interest for the believer and also for the unbeliever, for his method is psychological. The appeal to consciousness is direct, continual, and penetrating; so that both the natural and spiritual man will be interested, each in his own way."

What Shall I Tell the Children? Object Sermons and Teachings. By the Rev. George V. Reichel, A.M., 12mo, cloth, 303 pp. $1.50.

The Christian Herald says: "An excellent treasury of illustration and anecdote."

The Presbyterian Journal: "The illustrations are new and commend themselves."

Zion's Herald: "The volume abounds in facts and suggestions. The language is simple and clear."

The Herald and Presbyter: "A volume suggestive in preparing talks and sermons to the young and will be welcomed by many."

The Epworth Herald: "A title is suggested at the beginning of each chapter. The 'object used' is given after such title, then the 'Scripture basis,' which is a more flexible designation than text, follows. The author then gives, in simple language, suggestive and helpful, a description of the object. The chapter headings are varied and cover many subjects. The pastor will here find suggestions for his 'five-minute sermon' previous to the regular service, or his talk to the Junior Epworth League or Christian Endeavor meetings."

What Suggestions can be Offered for Making Secret Prayer a Great Reality. By the Rev. Henry Wright, A.M. Paper. 15 cts., net.

The Treasury says: "Is full of most excellent advice, based upon God's Word and upon the experience of one who has long lived in communion with God. Its suggestions are arranged under three heads—Preparations for Secret Prayer; The Act of Secret Prayer; Our Conduct After Secret Prayer. Every Christian should read it."

Woman's Work in the Modern Church. By Jane M. Bancroft, Ph.D. Paper. 15 cts., net.

Weights and Wings. By Charles F. Deems, D.D., LL.D. Large 8vo, 348 pp. Illustrated. Cloth. $2.00.

Southern Christian Advocate says: "A very handsome volume, whose contents are well worthy of the faultless dress in which the publisher has sent them forth. No professing Christian who reads it thoughtfully can remain in doubt as to whether his Church membership is a help or a hindrance to his pastor—'a weight or wing'—as he prosecutes his laborious and painfully responsible mission. The whole tendency of the book is to improve the relations of communicants to their pastors."

Nothing is more acceptable to God, nothing more salutary for thee in this world, than to suffer willingly for Christ.

And if thou couldst make choice, thou oughtest to prefer to suffer adversities for Christ, than to be delighted with much consolation; because thus thou wouldst more resemble Christ, and be more likened to all the Saints.

For our merit, and the advancement of our state, consists not in having many sweetnesses and consolations; but rather in bearing great afflictions and tribulations.

If, indeed, there had been himself, plainly has committed himself wholly to God.

For not he who commendeth himself, saith blessed Paul, is approved, but he whom God commendeth.

To walk with God within, and not to be held by any affection without, is the state of an interior man.

CHAPTER VII.—OF THE LOVE OF JESUS ABOVE ALL THINGS.

BLESSED is he who knows what it is to love Jesus, and to despise himself for the sake of Jesus.

We must quit what we love for this beloved, because Jesus will be loved alone above all things.

The love of the creature is deceitful and fleeting; the love of Jesus is faithful and enduring.

He who cleaves to creatures shall fall with that which totters; he who embraces Jesus shall be established for ever.

sacrifice, to the praise and glory of His adorable name, to our benefit and that of His whole Church.

AT THE PREFACE.

O Almighty and merciful God, draw us from all earthly affections, and raise our hearts to Thee, so that, intent only on the ineffable mystery about to take place on Thy altar, we may adore Thee really present. We return Thee thanks. We praise and glorify Thy supreme majesty, holy Father, eternal God. Almighty Lord, receive through Jesus Christ our humble

The Works of Catherine Charlotte, Lady Jackson.

Complete in Fourteen Volumes.

Old Paris. Its Courts and Literary Salons. 2 vols.

The Old Régime. Court, Salons and Theatres. 2 vols.

The Court of France in the Sixteenth Century, 1514–1559. 2 vols.

The Last of the Valois and Accession of Henry of Navarre, 1559–1589. 2 vols.

The First of the Bourbons, 1589–1595. 2 vols.

The French Court and Society. Reign of Louis XVI. and First Empire. 2 vols.

The Court of the Tuileries, from the Restoration to the Flight of Louis Philippe. 2 vols.

Of this gossipy and entertaining series of French Memoirs, published in London during the past twenty years, and printed from type only, all the earlier volumes are now "out of print" and "scarce."

Complete sets can only be picked up, at a high price, from dealers in rare books.

In view of this fact, and the present widespread interest in French history, no more opportune time can be chosen for issuing a new edition. The typographical errors of the original edition have been corrected, and a much-needed Index, which the English edition lacked, has been prepared for each work.

The titles of this celebrated series indicate the scope of Lady Jackson's writings, touching as she does on different periods of French history from the time of Henry of Navarre to that of Louis Philippe, and dealing with the manners and customs of the times, with chatty personal gossip taken from the memoirs of the brilliant men and women who flourished in this famous court. The writer has done her work most carefully, and at all times she is historically accurate.

A new font of type has been used in setting the volumes, and the utmost care will be given to the press-work.

The size of page and size of volume (crown octavo) has been decided upon after careful comparison with the best models, and it is the aim of the publishers to make, as nearly as possible, an ideal set of books. An English paper, smooth, without gloss, soft and flexible and pure in color, made at Dickinson's Croxley Mills, has been selected.

Each volume will be illustrated with eight photogravures or etchings, careful reproductions of celebrated engraved portraits, printed with the plate mark, and bound with gilt tops and uncut edges, in new English silk-ribbed cloth, with a striking original die stamped in gold on side and back.

Sold separately or in sets, per volume, ... $1.75

Lady Jackson's Works. Large Paper Edition.

A large paper, octavo (size 6 x 9 inches) edition, limited to two hundred and fifty numbered sets, will be issued on parchment linen, deckle-edge paper.

The one hundred and twelve illustrations to this edition will be printed on Imperial Japan paper.

It will be bound in Bancroft cream-colored vellum cloth, and cloth jacket, with brilliant gold stamp on sides and back, and each work will be boxed, two volumes in a box.

This limited edition will be sold only in sets, per vol. net $3.50

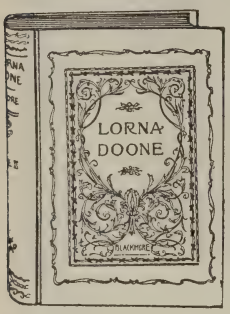
The Innocents Abroad; or, The New Pilgrim's Progress. By Mark Twain.

New Edition. Fully illustrated with thirty photogravure illustrations of scenery, cities and architecture, visited by the author and his fellow pilgrims on their famous excursion to Europe and the Holy Land in 1867.

2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, in cloth box, . . $5.00
Half levant morocco, gilt, gilt tops, ... 9.00

This charmingly entertaining and instructive book, the first work of its author, written with a freshness, vigor and originality hardly equalled by any of his later work, had a phenomenal sale for some years after its publication, and has sold steadily ever since, finding new readers each year. There has been a demand for some time for another edition in place of the familiar old octavo. This new edition will meet a long-felt want. Its size and beautiful new illustrations and handsome binding will make it an attractive holiday gift-book as well as a desirable library set.

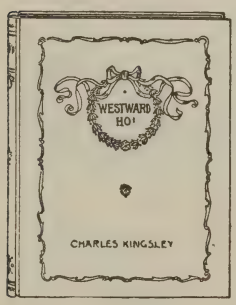
Lorna Doone. By R. D. Blackmore. 2 vols., crown 8vo.



Full olive or old rose color silk, or white cloth with cloth jacket, gilt tops, in cloth box, ... $ 6.00
Half levant morocco, gilt, gilt tops, ... 10.00

A superb edition in two crown octavo volumes, printed from the plates of the well-known Burrows Brothers' edition, with all the half-tone and wood-cut illustrations, and the addition of thirty new and beautiful photogravures from original photographs. Much time has been spent in gathering the pictures, and no village, hamlet, stream, or other point of interest has been overlooked. The charm of this delightful book will be greatly increased by these reproductions of the veritable scenes of the story. John Ridd and the beautiful Lorna, lively Tom Faggus, Jeremy Stickles, and the outlaw Doones, all seem more real as we look at the Bagworthy and Lynn streams, at Porlock and Brendon and Lynmouth. Legend and fact are so intermingled it is not easy to separate them, and as we linger and look and read the whole seems real. We have been fortunate in securing for a frontispiece an exquisite ideal head of Lorna Doone, from an original by W. Wontner. There have been many editions of this famous book, but the general verdict is that ours is as near perfect as can be made.

Westward Ho! or the voyages and adventures of Sir Amyas Leigh, Knight, of Burrough, in the county of Devon, in the reign of her Most Glorious Majesty, Queen Elizabeth.



Rendered into modern English by Charles Kingsley. New edition. With two photogravure frontispieces and twenty-eight full-page half-tone illustrations, from old portraits, and original photographs of Devonshire scenery.

2 vols., crown, 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, in cloth box, . . $4.00
Half levant morocco, gilt, gilt tops, ... 7.50

The many readers and admirers of this beguiling story of adventure will be glad to know that it is to be had in illustrated form.

No illustrated edition has ever been made until now, and the charming and picturesque bits of the little-changing Devon scenery, the background of the story's beginning and close, cannot fail to make more real the word-pictures of the author. To give variety and interest to its embellishment, carefully reproduced copies of fine old portraits of Queen Elizabeth, Raleigh, Spenser, Drake and Grenville have been added.

Hypatia; or New Foes with an Old Face. By Charles Kingsley.

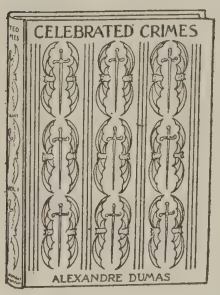
New edition, uniform with "Westward Ho!" with two photogravure frontispieces and twenty-eight full-page half-tone illustrations and many illustrations in the text.
2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, in cloth box, ... $4.00
Half levant morocco, gilt, gilt tops, ... 7.50
A new library edition of this well-known classic, prized by an ever-widening circle of readers.

Childe Harold. By Lord Byron. Newstead edition. 2 vols., 8vo.

White or brown vellum cloth, gold and silver decoration, gilt tops, in cloth box, . $4.00
Half levant morocco, gilt tops, ... 7.50
A superb edition of this unrivalled poem. Profusely illustrated with wood-cuts prepared under the supervision of A. V. S. Anthony, and thirty photogravures illustrating the scenery, art and architecture mentioned in the poem.

Illustrated and Standard Gift Books.

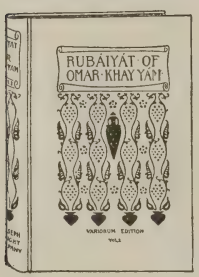
Celebrated Crimes. By Alexandre Dumas.



Three vols., illustrated 12mo, cloth, gilt tops, full gold stamp on the side, per set, ... $4.50
Half calf or half morocco, gilt tops, per set, ... 9.00

These marvellously fascinating historical tragedies are explained and embellished by eighteen full-page illustrations in photogravure, one-half from original drawings by E. H. Garrett, and one-half reproduced from famous paintings of historical characters, the secrets of whose lives are discovered in the pages of the work. The press work is from new type, on a high grade English finish paper, the binding is striking and sumptuous, and the volumes are in every particular splendid specimens of the bookmaker's art, besides being the first editions ever made or offered to the trade in this country.

The Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyam. Variorum edition. Edited by Nathan Haskell Dole.



2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, gilt top, ... $3.50
Half levant morocco, gilt top, ... 7.00

With decorative title-pages and frontispieces of portraits in photogravure of Edward Fitzgerald and Friedrich Von Bodenstedt.
These volumes are practically an encyclopædia of Omar Khayyam literature, and the gathering together of the various renderings of the quatrains unquestionably appeals to the keen interest of the large and constantly growing number of those who love and appreciate the wonderful beauty of the Persian poetry.

De Luxe Edition.

A large paper edition, limited to two hundred and fifty numbered copies, printed on the celebrated Enfield, deckle-edge linen paper.
Bound in cream-colored vellum, with rich gold designs on sides and back, with cloth jacket, net, ... $6.00

Our Wedding Souvenir. By William F. Ferry.

A novelty in book-making that will find a ready sale among all who are married or who contemplate marriage. It consists of a series of beautiful lithographed floral designs by Antoinette A. Bassett, Lydia F. Emmett, Eleanor E. Greatorex, and other artists, pretty landscapes in sepia and tint by Louis K. Harlow, and is intended as a souvenir for the preservation of the signatures of the parties interested, relatives and guests. Spaces are left for photographs, wedding cards, newspaper notices, etc. The lithographic work is from the press of Armstrong & Co., and is of the finest kind, the whole making a quarto volume.

Cloth binding with photogravure design by W. St. John Harper, on side and back, each page mounted with guards, ... $ 5.00
Full padded American seal, ... 8.00
Full tree calf, or watered silk, or full white morocco, 10.00

Gray's Elegy and its Author. NEW EDITION.

The text of Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard, and an introduction by DR. J. L. WILLIAMS, illustrated by twenty-five photogravure and half-tone illustrations.

1 vol., oblong quarto, size 8½ x 10½, particolored cloth, or cretonne binding, gilt edges, ... $3.50

A new edition of this immortal poem with illustrations in photogravure and half-tone, which are exact representations of the identical scenes so vividly and truthfully described by the poet. The original photographs from which the reproductions are made were taken by DR. J. L. WILLIAMS, who has chosen with true artistic instinct the scenes best calculated to illustrate the poem as well as the homes and haunts of the poet.

Colonial Stories.

Being Legends of the Province House by NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE.

1 vol., small quarto, fancy cloth binding, gilt top, ... $3.00

A collection of delightful stories by a great author. The colonial coloring of these stories makes them especially interesting at the present time in view of the widespread interest in all matters pertaining to the early periods of American history and society. There are eight full-page colored illustrations made especially for the book by Frank T. Merrill.

A Christmas Carol. A GHOST STORY OF CHRISTMAS. BY CHARLES DICKENS.

A new edition, with photogravure portrait of Dickens, and sixteen half-tone illustrations printed in two tints, from original drawings by I. M. Gaugengigl and T. V. Chominski.

1 vol., small quarto, size 7 x 9, fancy cloth binding, gilt top, $3.00

No other of Dickens's stories, and scarcely any story in the whole range of fiction, has the perennial interest and vitality of the Christmas Carol. Readers who remember it long ago are glad to renew at frequent intervals their old-time enjoyment of this hearty, inspiring and wholesome tale, and to the new generation of readers no better antidote to the extravagant and sensational products of the day can be offered.

1 vol., small quarto, size 7 x 9, fancy cloth binding, gilt top, $3.00

The public never seems to weary of this romantic old-world legend adapted and localized by Irving. Starting away back at the dawn of historic time in the far East, the story has travelled Westward, varying in form and habitat, but no version has quite the charm of Irving's. Familiar to a host of readers through the many editions of the author, and brought constantly to public attention by the wonderful impersonations of Joseph Jefferson as the hero of the story, it can never cease to be full of absorbing interest. The series of photographs which are here reproduced for the first time for the embellishment of this edition, are the spoils of many summer vacation rambles in the picturesque Kaatskill region. The scenes chosen not alone faithfully illustrate the story, but are beautiful as pictures.

The Fairies' Festival.

A poem, by JOHN WITT RANDALL. Edited by Francis Ellingwood Abbott. With forty illustrations in photogravure from original drawings by Francis Gilbert Attwood.

1 vol., small quarto, size 7 x 9, fancy cloth binding, full gilt, gilt top, ... $3.00

The author of this charming poem, who died in 1892 at the age of seventy-eight, was a great-grandson of the illustrious patriot of the Revolution, Samuel Adams, and spent his long life of leisure in a retirement dedicated to literary study and the fine arts. The subject of this poem is the annual festival of the Fairies, and exhibits a fascinating union of beautiful, pathetic, and grotesque elements.

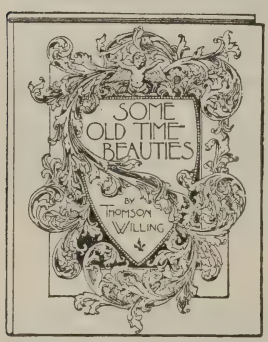
Dames of High Degree, being portraits of beautiful women by Old English Masters, with decorations and biographical annotations by Thomson Willing.

Ten portraits, with decorated borders and title-page in photogravure.

Cover design, lining paper and head and tail pieces by the author.

One volume, small quarto, size 7 x 9, bound in cloth, gilt, gilt top, ... $3.00

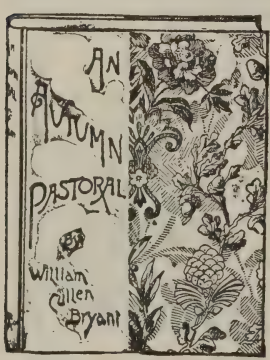


Some Old Time Beauties.

BY THOMSON WILLING. Ten sketches, biographic and literary, of distinguished beauties and ladies of rank of the Georgian era.

Illustrated in photogravure from the original portraits by Sir Joshua Reynolds, Sir Thomas Lawrence, Romney and Gainsborough, with cover, decorative borders, title-page, half-titles, and tail pieces by the author.

1 vol., small quarto, size 7 x 9, bound in cloth, gilt top, with photogravure design on side, . . . $3.00



An Autumn Pastoral.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT. NEW EDITION.

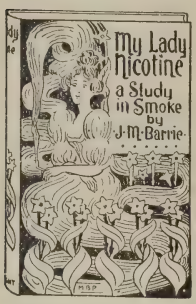
1 vol., octavo, cloth or cretonne binding, gilt edges, size 7½ x 9½, ... $3.00

The text of Bryant's poem, "The Death of the Flowers," illustrated with a series of seventeen photogravures, after original drawings by C. E. Phillips.

This is a work that will appeal to lovers of nature in all its varying moods and aspects. The drawings from which the photogravure plates are reproduced portray faithfully the text of the poem. Nature in all its forms is here shown. Meadow and woodland, streams and running brooks, wayside flowers, the country road, and the animal life which harmonizes with it all, present a beautiful interpretation of one of the gems of Bryant's poetry.

My Lady Nicotine.

By James Matthew Barrie, author of "The Little Minister," etc.



With frontispiece and over fifty illustrations from original drawings by Maurice B. Prendergast. One volume, 12mo, ornamental binding, ... $2.00
Half levant morocco, ... 4.00

This altogether unique and original story, of which smoking is the theme and source of inspiration, has a host of enthusiastic admirers, who will welcome with delight this attractive edition of their favorite volume. The artist has caught the spirit of the story, and has cleverly rendered its vital and telling passages, with a piquancy and chic quite in keeping with the text.

Little Journeys Abroad.

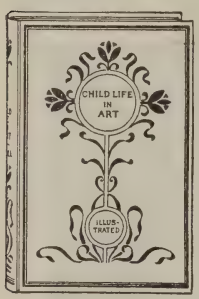
By Mary Bowers Warren. A volume of travel sketches with sixty illustrations from original drawings by George H. Boughton, E. K. Johnson, Will H. Drake, Irving T. Wiles and J. A. Holzer.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, full gilt side and gilt edges, ... $2.00
Half levant morocco, gilt top, ... 4.00

An entirely new volume of travel sketches by Miss Warren, who has gathered into a volume the gleanings of three or four years of life and travel in England, France, Germany, and other countries of Europe. The author had opportunities for observation not given to the hurried tourist, often remaining for months in a place. She has not attempted to touch upon the themes so often handled by other writers and observers, but rather to give some glimpses of out-of-the-way places, manners and customs. The book will have an artistic quality quite unique. Not only all the illustrations, but the cover design and other minor decorative features, have been specially made for it by artists of high rank.

Child Life in Art.

By Estelle M. Hurll, M. A. Six chapters comprising Childhood in Ideal Types, Children Born to the Purple, The Children of Field and Village, The Child Life of the Streets, Child Angels, and the Christ Child.



Illustrated with twenty-five beautiful half-tone illustrations, from celebrated paintings by Raphael, Titian, Van Dyck, Velasquez, Reynolds, and other artists.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, gilt, gilt edges, ... $2.00

Half levant morocco, gilt top, ... 4.00

A descriptive account of famous pictures of children painted by great artists of all epochs. The author has divided her subject into chapters in a manner calculated to add greatly to its interest. Historical and biographical details and anecdote serve to give variety to the descriptions, and invest the book with a literary interest apart from its artistic value. Its many illustrations represent children of all classes and conditions, and are the artists' masterpieces. The book is designed to interest both lovers of children and lovers of art. A bibliographical list, notes, and an index of artists add to its value as a work of reference.

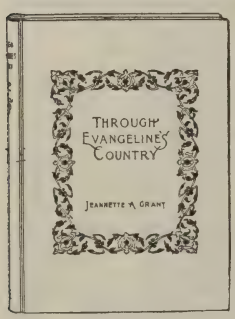
A Princess of Thule. By William Black.

1 vol., small quarto, fancy cloth, gilt top, . . . $2.00
1 vol., small quarto, half levant, gilt top, . . . 4.50

This delightful book makes the third volume in our series, "My Lady's Classics." It contains about eighty half-tone or pen-and-ink sketches made for the book by Miss Ethel Isadore Brown. The story especially lends itself to illustration, bringing in, as it does, the rugged and picturesque scenery of the western coast of Scotland. By those who cannot travel, much of the charm of the beautiful coast will be found in William Black's story and the wealth of illustration now for the first time combined with it. All who have followed in the footsteps of Sheila and Lavender and Ingram or sailed in their wake, cannot fail to take pleasure in having brought vividly to memory many delightful hours and days.

Through Evangeline's Country. By Jeannette A. Grant.



The story of Evangeline and the sorrows and sufferings of the Acadians is a theme of perenial interest. The country itself is beautiful, and now, after nearly a century and a half, tourists, increasing in number each year, delight in the trip and eagerly read over the story of the hapless people, whose industrious descendants have made a garden of the region. The author is thoroughly familiar with the country and the history of its people, and has pleasantly blended the historic and descriptive, and with the aid of a series of admirable views has made a book that should meet with a pleasant reception and a ready sale.

With color frontispiece of Evangeline and thirty half-tone illustrations from original photographs. 1 vol., square 12mo, ornamental binding, white and gold, gilt top. New edition, . $1.50

Mr. Knapp's special errand to Japan, — his long residence there, and his frequent returns in later years, have given him peculiar advantages for observation and comment on the land which still continues in its habit of surprising the rest of the world.

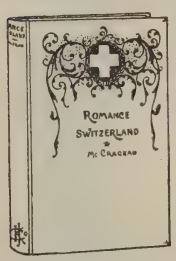
The scope of the book includes a study of the history, religions, language, art, life and habits of a people who could not be more unlike ourselves were they located on another planet.

Though written in a thoroughly appreciative spirit, it avoids the undiscriminating praise which has characterized so many works on Japan, — and while covering well a ground which has become somewhat familiar, it presents many fresh points of view, and furnishes much information heretofore inaccessible to the ordinary reader.

Romance and Teutonic Switzerland.

By WILLIAM D. McCRACKAN, M. A., author of "The Rise of the Swiss Republic."

2 vols., 32mo., cloth, gilt tops, per set, ... $1.50



A new work on Switzerland, in two volumes. The first volume covers that portion of Switzerland where the French and Italian languages are spoken, and the second the German-speaking Cantons. The author is well fitted to write upon the subject, having made it his special study during many years of residence in the country. It has been his aim to picture the real Switzerland and its people as they are, divested of the glamour of romance. His book is neither a guide-book, nor the old-fashioned routine book of travel, made up of transcripts from diaries or hastily written letters to indulgent friends. It is rather a series of individual sketches, covering not only the salient points of attraction, but many places of interest out of the beaten track of the average tourist.

The Same.

Niagara Falls. With descriptive text by M. F. SWEETSER.

Thirteen photogravure plates, giving a series of representative views of Niagara Falls and vicinity from original photographs by Ernest Edwards. With an introduction and descriptive text for each plate.

Bound in cloth, with ornamental side, size 8 x 10½, $1.75

This is the only artistic Niagara Falls book every picture in which is fine enough to frame. Compared with the many cheap and hideous so-called "souvenirs," this is a work of art. The text, by Mr. Sweetser, is thoroughly in keeping with the high character of the work, and in connection with his graphic description he has also given a concise history of the Falls, dating from their discovery in 1535.

Among the Mountains of the Adirondacks.

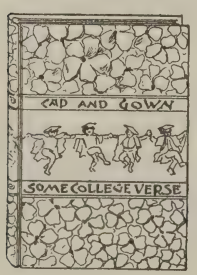
Cap and Gown.



The text of Cap and Gown comprises a selection of the best verse which has appeared in twenty-seven of the leading college journals during the past ten or fifteen years. As verse is an important feature of these publications, reflecting as it does the social side of college life, this little book commends itself to a wide range of readers. Not alone does it appeal to the college student of to-day, but also to those who in the busy whirl of affairs have not altogether forgotten the light-hearted gayety and rollicking fun of their college days.

1 vol., square 16mo, white and gold, ornamental binding, gilt top, ... $1.25
1 vol., square 16mo, full seal or white morocco, flexible, round corners, gilt edges, ... 2.50

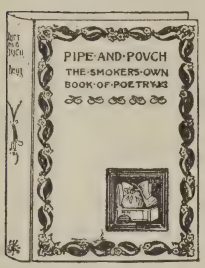
Pipe and Pouch.

THE SMOKER'S OWN BOOK OF POETRY. Compiled by KNIGHT. With frontispiece illustration.



1 vol., square 16mo, ornamental cloth binding, gilt top, . $1.25

1 vol., square 16mo, Havana colored leather, flexible, round corners, gilt edges, ... 2.50

This somewhat unique little volume of collected verse, gathered by Joseph Knight, is the result of many years' gleaning from a great variety of sources of all the best verse devoted to praise of the weed. It will be a matter of surprise to most readers to find how much has been written that is clever and bright on the theme of smoking. From the time of Raleigh and Spenser to the present day, not only the writers of lighter verse, but the more dignified of the poets have turned aside to sing of what one of the oldest of them called "The Plant of Great Renown."

Wild Flower Sonnets.

By EMILY SHAW FORMAN. With twelve illustrations from original drawings, by Abbott Graves.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth and sateen, gilt top, ... $1.00

A series of graceful and exquisite verses in praise of our familiar wild flowers. A well-known writer says of them, "I would to all the nine muses that our songsters and rhymsters could give us always something as pure as these sonnets. No one could have written them who did not comprehend nature. There is no mistake about the author's being a botanist, a lover of nature's accuracies; she has the skill of a collector, as well as the music of a singer, and the eye of a poet."

JOHN G. WHITTIER said: "Mrs. Forman gets very near to nature, as if she were a part of it. She sees beauty in 'the meanest flower that blows,' and knows how to reproduce it for other eyes."

Robert Browning.

The Poems of Robert Browning, selected and arranged by himself.

The Governor's Garden. By George R. R. Rivers.

A delightful story of colonial times, the scene of which is laid in or about Boston on the eve of the Revolution during the administration of Governor Hutchinson.

This is a beautifully made book printed at the Merrymount Press, from a special font of old style type, with initial letters and chapter headings from original designs in keeping with the character of the text. The paper is a deckle-edge laid paper, the illustrations are a series of silhouette portraits, and the novel style of binding is in keeping with the general finished tone of the book.

Index Omnium.

Being a reference book designed for the use of students and professional men, on a plan intended to save time and facilitate access to knowledge acquired by reading and study. By T. E. Shields. ☞No title can completely convey to the reader an idea of the value of this book. By a simple and ingenious method of indexing, the results of wide reading and study can be recorded and made available for future use. Todd's Index Rerum and other books have attempted this, but the outlay of time and labor has been so great that few persons have ever persevered in their use. By an insignificant outlay of labor the student can secure any item of knowledge he may wish to preserve. If properly used it will prove to be a key that will unlock the secrets of every library.

ROUND TABLE SERIES.

Under this general title the publishers intend to issue from time to time original stories, American and English, translations and reprints of well-known classics of fiction. It will be their endeavor to include only fresh, bright, compactly written stories. The type will be clear and readable, and the binding neat, pretty and durable, and a handy 16mo in size.

An Attic Philosopher in Paris. By EMILE SOUVESTRE. With four half-tone illustrations.

This little volume of reflections and anecdotes has long been a classic in this country as well as in France, and its graceful style and delicate mingling of humor and pathos appeal to a host of readers. The purity and beauty of the original have been preserved in this translation, and in every way this new edition is worthy of the public's favor. $0.50

Little Idyls of the Big World. By W. D. MCCRACKAN, M. A. With four half-tone illustrations.

Mr. McCrackan, with cosmopolitan instinct, takes the whole world for his source of material in this new work. It has been his aim to place these idyls, or little pictures, upon the literary page as a painter blocks in his sketches upon canvas. The underlying world problem is suggested, not explained. The reader is left to divine and guess. In a sense, therefore, this book is distinctly impressionistic. It is often allegorical. Its ideas are set forth by symbols. Its characteristic quality is the art of leaving those things unsaid which the imagination of the reader can supply. $0.50

The Starling. By NORMAN MACLEOD, D. D. With four half-tone illustrations.

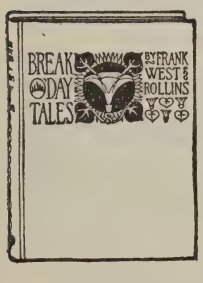
With the wide-spread interest in everything Scotch, stimulated by the remarkable success of recent stories of Scottish life by Barrie, and Crockett, and Ian Maclaren, it seems altogether opportune to reissue this well-known story of Dr. Macleod's. It is safe to say that no work of any recent Scottish author can equal this powerful and touching story. . . $0.50

Under the Shadow of Etna. Translated from the Italian of Giovanni Verga. By NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

Giovanni Verga stands at present as unquestionably the most prominent of the Italian novelists. His supremacy in the domain of the short story, and in the wider range of the romance, is recognized both at home and abroad. The present volume contains a selection from the most dramatic and characteristic of his Sicilian tales. Verga is himself a native of Sicily, and his knowledge of that wonderful country, with its poetic and yet superstitious peasantry is absolute. "Jeli the Herdsman" is perhaps the best of all his short stories; it has a strange idyllic beauty that is only intensified by the tragedy at the end. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "La Lupa" have been chosen as the theme of two successful operas. In "Gramigna," Verga gives his literary creed, and exemplifies it marvellously. Such pathos, humor, variety and dramatic quality are rarely met in a single volume. . . . $0.50

Arne. A SKETCH OF NORWEGIAN COUNTRY LIFE. Translated from the Norwegian of Björnstjerne Björnson.

This charming idyl of Norwegian life, the early work of its distinguished author, whose career as poet, dramatist and patriot have brought him into world-wide prominence, has long been out of print. Its simplicity and beauty and exquisite quality has never been excelled by any of its author's later work, and justifies its issuance at this time. $0.50

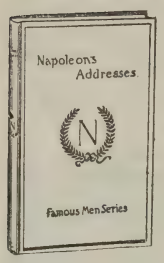


Break o' Day Tales. By FRANK WEST ROLLINS.

1 vol., 32mo, dainty cloth, tinted top, ... $0.50

Half a dozen bright little stories, the first published by the author. They are the fruit of many an early morning hour's work, mainly taken up as a recreation or amusement by a busy man of affairs. They are bright, clever, and original in plot and treatment, and worthy of a wide reading.

Famous Men Series.



McKinley's Masterpieces. Edited by R. L. PAGET.

Reed's Speeches. Edited by R. J. O'BRIEN.

Napoleon's Addresses. Edited by IDA M. TARBELL.

Words of Washington. Edited by JAMES PARTON.

Selections from the speeches and correspondence of famous men of to-day and yesterday, with a biographical sketch of each, and a preface and introduction by eminent writers.

1 vol., 16mo, cloth, with portrait frontispiece, each, . . . $0.75

The Drummond Year Book. From the writings of Henry Drummond, arranged by ADA L. SUTTON.

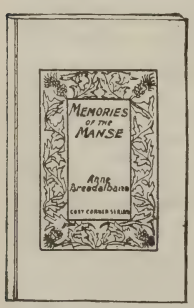
1 vol., 16mo, with portrait frontispiece, ... $0.75

Addresses. By the RIGHT REVEREND PHILLIPS BROOKS, Bishop of Massachusetts.

1 vol., 16mo, cloth, with portrait frontispiece and two other illustrations, . . $0.75

Cosey Corner Series.

Memories of the Manse. By ANNE BREADALBANE.



Illustrated, ... $0.50

Before the present revival in things Scottish, depicted so delightfully in "The Stickit Minister" and "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," this faithful picture of Scotch life and character was written. Its author lived among the scenes she so lovingly and truthfully describes; and all its humor and pathos, and grim severity and sternness, were familiar to her. It is no fancy sketch the author gives, but a truthful story well told.

Thompson Hall. By ANTHONY TROLLOPE, . $0.50

A Provence Rose. By LOUISA DE LA RAME (OUIDA), ... $0.50

In Distance and in Dream. By M. F. SWEETSER.

16mo, cloth binding, ... $0.50

A story of immortality, treating with profound insight of the connection between the life which now is and the life which is to come. It is daring in conception, quaint in diction, and singularly beautiful in conclusion. It cannot fail to prove a source of consolation to many bereaved hearts, and a suggestion of bright hope to thousands of others.

Will o' the Mill. By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. Illustrated by Amy Sacker.

16mo, ... $0.50

An allegorical story by this inimitable and versatile writer. It has hitherto been included with other stories quite different in character. With less dramatic quality and a somewhat sober vein, it has been overshadowed by his other work. Its rare poetic quality, its graceful and delicate fancy, its strange power and fascination, justify its separate publication, as it must surely in time become a classic.

Charming Juvenile Series.

The continuation of our last year's Cosey Corner Series.

16mo, cloth, illustrated, ... $0.50

A Loyal Little Maid. By Edith Robinson.

A delightful and interesting story of Revolutionary days, in which the child heroine, Betsey Schuyler, renders important services to George Washington and Alexander Hamilton, and in the end becomes the wife of the latter.

The Little Colonel. By Annie Fellows-Johnston, author of "Big Brother."

A new story, by the author of "Big Brother," the most popular volume of this series. The scene is laid in Kentucky. Its heroine is a little girl, who is known as the Little Colonel, on account of her fancied resemblance to an old school Southern gentleman, whose fine estate and old family are famous in the region. This old Colonel proves to be the grandfather of the child. His daughter, the child's mother, having married against his will, is disowned. She returns, during the absence of her husband on a mining enterprise in the far West, to live in her native place. Her father, stern and unrelenting, refuses to recognize his daughter, but a reconciliation comes happily about in the end, through the old Colonel's attachment to the child, whose independence of character and strength of will, combined with many lovable qualities, win him over at last.

Big Brother. By Annie Fellows-Johnston.

"Just a half-hour on a stormy winter night, but the emotions aroused and the tender chords set in vibration will require long years to quiet. Such a book, sweet, tender, pathetic, full of richest thought, is adapted for reading aloud in the family circle, or alone under the shaded lamplight, on the cars, or anywhere when a short, good story well told is in demand." — Epworth Herald.

Rab and His Friends. By Dr. John Brown.

Dr. Brown's little masterpiece is too well known to need description. The dog, Rab, is already known and loved by all.

The Trinity Flower. By Juliana Horatio Ewing.

In this little volume are collected three of Mrs. Ewing's best short stories for the young people.

Story of a Short Life. By Juliana Horatio Ewing.

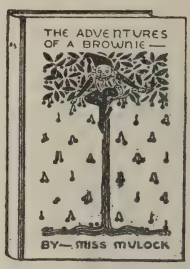
This beautiful and pathetic story will never grow old. It is a part of the world's literature and will never die.

Jackanapes. By Juliana Horatia Ewing.

A new edition with new illustrations of this exquisite and touching story, dear alike to young and old.

A Little Lame Prince. By Miss Mulock.

A delightful story of a little boy who has many adventures by means of the magic gifts of his fairy godmother.



Adventures of a Brownie.

By Miss Mulock.

The story of a household elf who torments the cook and gardener, but is a constant joy and delight to the children who love and trust him.

His Little Mother. By Miss Mulock.

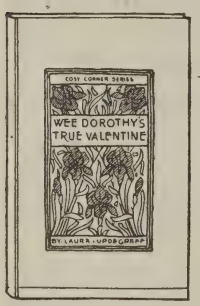
Miss Mulock's short stories for children are a constant source of delight to them, and "His Little Mother," in this new and attractive dress, will be welcomed by hosts of youthful readers.

The King of the Golden River. A Legend of Stiria. By John Ruskin. With twenty-five illustrations by Richard Doyle.

Written fifty years or more ago, and not originally intended for publication, this little fairy tale soon became known and made a place for itself. It should be found in every juvenile library, and will always be a favorite.

La Belle Nivernaise. The story of an old boat and her crew. By Alphonse Daudet. With many illustrations by Montégut.

This altogether charming story by the versatile author of the famous "Tartarin" books, has found many admirers since its first publication. It has been out of print for some time, and is now offered in cheap, but dainty form in this new edition. All who have read it will be glad to welcome an old favorite, and new readers will be happy to have it brought to their friendly attention.



Wee Dorothy's True Valentine. By Laura Updegraff. With ten illustrations by Alfred C. Eastman.

A story of two orphan children, the tender devotion of the eldest, a boy, for his sister, being its theme and setting. With a bit of sadness at the beginning, the story is otherwise bright and sunny, and altogether wholesome in every way.

The Young King. The Star Child. Two tales by Oscar Wilde.

With illustrations by C. Ricketts. 16mo.

Two stories chosen from a recent volume by this author, on account of their rare beauty, great power and deep significance.

Gift Books for Young People.

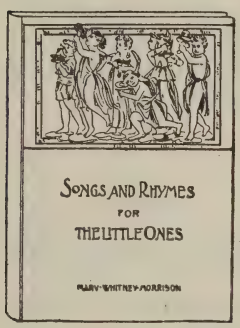
Three Children of Galilee. A Life of Christ for the Young. By John Gordon.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, illustrated, ... $1.50

Beautifully illustrated with more than one hundred text and full-page illustrations of Holy Land scenery.

There has long been a need for a Life of Christ for the young, and this book has been written in answer to this demand. That it will meet with great favor is beyond question, for parents have recognized that their boys and girls want something more than a Bible Story, a dry statement of facts, and that, in order to hold the attention of the youthful readers, a book on this subject should have life and movement as well as scrupulous accuracy and religious sentiment.

Songs and Rhymes for the Little Ones. Compiled by Mary Whitney Morrison (Jenny Wallis). New edition, with an introduction by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, and eight illustrations.



1 vol., 12mo, with ornamental cloth binding $1.50

No better description of this admirable book can be given than Mrs. Whitney's happy introduction.

"One might almost as well offer June roses with the assurance of their sweetness, as to present this lovely little gathering of verse, which announces itself, like them, by its own deliciousness. Yet, as Mrs. Morrison's charming volume has long been a delight to me, I am only too happy to link my name with its new and enriched form in this slight way, and simply declare that it is to me, — and to two families of my grandchildren who have had a copy of the first edition all read to pieces for them in their nursery days, — the most bewitching book of songs for little people that we have ever known."

Miss Gray's Girls; or, Summer Days in the Scottish Highlands.

By Jeannette A. Grant.

With about sixty illustrations in half-tone and pen-and-ink sketches of Scottish scenery.

1 vol., small quarto, cloth and ornamental side, . . $1.50

A pleasantly told story of a summer trip through Scotland, somewhat out of the beaten track. A teacher, starting at Glasgow, takes a lively party of girls, her pupils, through the Trossachs to Oban, through the Caledonian Canal to Inverness, and as far north as Brora, missing no part of the matchless scenery and no place of historic interest. Returning through Perth, Stirling, Edinburgh, Melrose, and Abbotsford, the enjoyment of the party and the interest of the reader never lag.

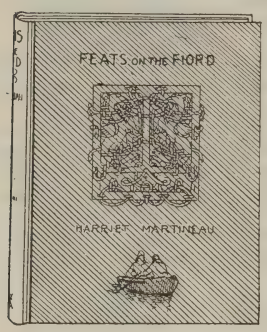
The Young Pearl Divers. A Story of Australian Adventure by Land and Sea. By Lieut. H. Phelps Whitmarsh. Author of "The Mysterious Voyage of the Daphne," etc.

1 vol., cloth, 12mo, illustrated, ... $1.25

This is a splendid story for boys, by an author who writes in vigorous and interesting language of scenes and adventures with which he is personally acquainted.

The book is illustrated with twelve full-page half-tones by H. Burgess, whose drawings have exactly caught the spirited tone of the narrative.

Feats on the Fiord. By Harriet Martineau.



A tale of Norwegian life, with about sixty original illustrations and a colored frontispiece.

1 vol., small quarto, cloth, gilt top, ... $1.25

This admirable book, read and enjoyed by so many young people a generation ago and now partially forgotten, deserves to be brought to the attention of parents in search of wholesome reading for their children to-day. It is something more than a juvenile book, being really one of the most instructive books about Norway and Norwegian life and manners ever written, well deserving liberal illustration and the luxury of good paper now given to it.

Bébée: or, Two Little Wooden Shoes. By Louisa de la Ramé (Ouida).

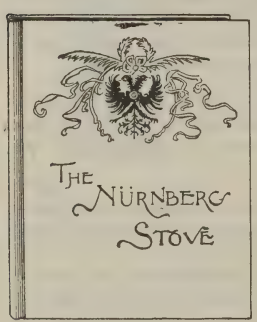
1 vol., square 12mo, cloth, gilt top, ... $1.25

A new and dainty edition of Ouida's most exquisite and touching story.

A Dog of Flanders. A Christmas Story. By Louisa de la Ramé (Ouida).



A new edition of a beautiful Christmas story, already prized as a classic by all who know it. Contains forty-two original illustrations and a photo-gelatine reproduction of Rubens's great picture, "The Descent from the Cross."

1 vol., square 12mo, cloth, gilt top, ... $1.25

The Nürnberg Stove. By Louisa de la Ramé (Ouida).

Another of Ouida's charming stories, delightful alike to old and young. With fifty original illustrations and a color frontispiece of a German stove after the celebrated potter, Hirschvogel.

1 vol., square 12mo, cloth, gilt top, ... $1.25

Timothy Dole.

By Juniata Salsbury.

With twenty-five or thirty illustrations from drawings and pen-and-ink sketches.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth, ... $1.25

The title gives no clue to the character of the book, but the reader who begins the first chapter will not stop until he has finished the whole. The youthful hero, and a genuine hero he proves to be, starts from home, loses his way, meets with startling adventures, finds friends, kind and many, grows to be a a manly man, and is able to devote himself to bettering the condition of the poor in the mining region of Pennsylvania, the scene of his early life and adventures. The book is not of the goody-goody order; although written with a purpose, and conveying a moral lesson, this feature is not obtrusive. It is a wholesome and vigorous book that boys and girls, and parents as well, will read and enjoy.

The Fairy Folk of Blue Hill.

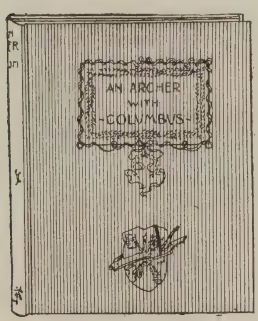
A Story of Folk-Lore by Lily F. Wesselhoeft, author of "Sparrow the Tramp," etc., with fifty-five illustrations from original drawings by Alfred C. Eastman.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth, ... $1.25

A new volume by Mrs. Wesselhoeft, well known as one of our best writers for the young, and who has made a host of friends among the young people who have read her delightful books. This book ought to interest and appeal to every child who has read her earlier books.

An Archer with Columbus.

By Charles E. Bimblecom.



With about fifty illustrations from original pen-and-ink sketches.

1 vol., 16mo, handsome cloth binding, ... $1.25

A capital story of a boy who attracted the attention of Columbus while he was seeking the aid of Ferdinand and Isabella for his great voyage of discovery. The wit and courage of the boy enabled him to be of service to the great explorer, and he served as an archer on the vessel of Columbus. His loyalty and devotion, through vicissitude and danger, endeared him to his master, and the story of his experiences and exploits will make him a favorite with boys, young and old. The story is well told, crisply written, full of reasonable adventure and lively dialogue, without a tedious page from beginning to end.

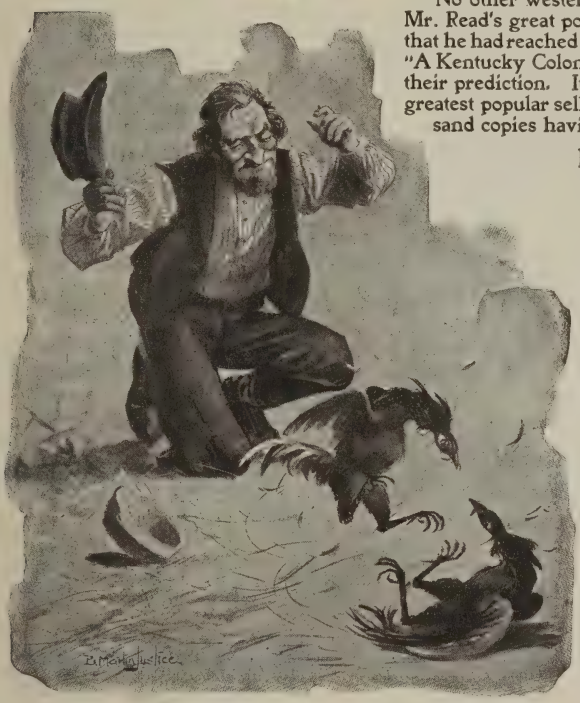
OPIE READ'S FAMOUS WORKS.



Reduced Cover Design "THE JUCKLINS." Copyrighted 1896.

No other western writer has attained to anything like Mr. Read's great popularity. It was thought by the critics that he had reached the zenith of his fame when he produced "A Kentucky Colonel," but "The Jucklins" has disproved their prediction. It is and undoubtedly will continue the greatest popular seller of the season of 1896, seventy thousand copies having been sold in the first six months.

THE MEDICAL NEWS.

A National Weekly Medical Periodical containing 24-28 Quarto Pages of Reading Matter in each Number. Published every Saturday.

THE MEDICAL NEWS bears to THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES the relation of a newspaper to a magazine, and occupies equally a leading position in the esteem of the profession. Recognized throughout the country as the best weekly exponent of medical intelligence, THE NEWS finds its readers and contributors in every State in the Union. THE NEWS maintains a corps of regular correspondents in all medical centres and is in early possession of all information of interest. Subdivided into the departments of Original Articles and Lectures, Hospital Notes, Progress, Clinical Memoranda and Therapeutical Notes, Editorials, Society Proceedings, Correspondence, Reviews and News Items, THE MEDICAL NEWS is well equipped for furnishing its readers with a complete account of the medical life and progress of the times.

The fact that it answers the needs of physicians in active practice is shown by an increase in its subscription list which has justified a reduction in price to Four Dollars per annum. It is now the cheapest as well as the best large weekly medical magazine. No means of gaining information is overlooked, and everything is presented in such manner as to convey intelligence in the most attractive and useful form.

The American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

A Monthly, containing in each issue 112-128 large Octavo Pages, Fully illustrated.

With the first issue for 1896, THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES enters upon its seventy-seventh year, still the leader of American medical periodicals. In its long career it has developed to perfection the features of usefulness in its department of literature, and presents them in unrivalled attractiveness. It is the medium chosen by the leading minds of the profession on both sides of the Atlantic for the presentation of elaborate Original Articles; its Reviews are noted for discernment and absolute candor, and its Classified Summaries of Progress present, each month, an epitome of medical advances gleaned by specialists in the various departments. According to unquestionable authority, "It contains many original papers of the highest value; nearly all the real criticisms and reviews which we possess; and such carefully prepared summaries of the progress of medical science and notices of foreign works, that from this file alone, were all other publications of the press for the last fifty years destroyed, it would be possible to reproduce the great majority of the real contributions of the world to medical science during that period."

SUBSCRIPTION RATE REDUCED TO $4.00 PER ANNUM.

It is safe to say that in no other publication of its kind can an investment be made with the certainty of so rich a return. When it is taken in connection with the weekly MEDICAL NEWS, the reader can rest assured that nothing of importance in the life of the great medical world will escape his attention. To lead every subscriber to prove this fact for himself, the Commutation rate has been greatly reduced, being fixed at the exceedingly low figure of Seven Dollars and Fifty Cents per Annum, in Advance.

Country Clouds and Sunshine

By CLIFTON JOHNSON Author of "The New England Country" "What they Say in New England" etc. Cloth Illustrated with nearly one hundred Half-tones from Photographs by the Author Cover Design in Gold and Color Boxed $2.50

IN a previous volume entitled "The New England Country," Mr. Johnson illustrated and described the natural scenery of that country beautifully and effectively; and in this new volume he deals with village life and character in a similar manner, the clouds and sunshine of the title being those of life rather than those of nature. He has succeeded in catching the spirit of rural New England life, and in giving a very clear idea of its varying characteristics. That the author is thoroughly in touch with his subject is revealed by both pen and camera; and that there are shadows as well as sunshine in the life is clearly shown. But when all is said, Mr. Johnson asserts that "a pleasant New England village, not too far removed from a large town and the railroad, is the best dwelling-place in the world." And the many fine half-tones with which the text is illustrated, from photographs taken among these country homes by the author, add strength to his assertion. Taken altogether, the work is one sure to give pleasure to all, and to meet with popular favor.

What they Say in New England

A Book of Signs, Sayings, and Superstitions

Collected by CLIFTON JOHNSON Author of "The New England Country" etc. Illustrated $1.25.

THE number of these odds and ends of curious information is surprising, the first chapter alone containing scores of rhymes and half-proverbial nonsense about the weather. Perhaps half of the superstitions mentioned in the book can be traced to a foreign ancestry, but most of them have been twisted by Yankee humor. For convenience in reference, the matter has been classified under numerous headings, an abridged list of which may fairly well connote the exact scope of the collection. Some of the topics are tea-grounds, dreams, charms, fortune-telling, wishes, snakes, money, death, warts, the moon, counting-out rhymes, nursery tales, and old songs. It is a unique book, and there is something in it to interest everybody, while to all lovers of folk-lore it will be a storehouse of interesting matter. — Boston Journal.

The History of the Hutchinson Family

By JOHN WALLACE HUTCHINSON (Tribe of Jesse) Edited by Charles E. Mann With an Introduction by Frederick Douglass Cloth Illustrated 2 volumes Crown 8vo Price $5.00

"DAVID, Noah, Andrew, Zephy, Caleb, Joshua, Jesse, Benny, Judson, Rhoda, John and Asa, and Abby are our names."

So thirteen of this wonderful family of sixteen children were accustomed to sing in their famous song, "The Old Granite State." During over fifty years, from 1839 until the death of Sister Abby in 1892, leaving Brother John the only survivor, the Hutchinsons bore an important part in the history of the country, singing for abolition, temperance, woman suffrage, and all other moral reforms. They were mobbed, driven from the large cities by pro-slavery officials, had their pass to the Potomac camps revoked by General McClellan, and were reinstated by President Lincoln, and through it all gained the love and enthusiastic support of the people of two continents. Brother John's book is not a genealogy, but a loving tribute to his departed brothers and sisters, besides being a complete story from the family journals and press notices, together with his personal reminiscences; of their early life in Milford, N.H.; the beginning of their anti-slavery singing; the trip of the family quartet to Europe in 1846–47, and their experiences with Dickens, Harriet Martineau, George Dawson, John Bright, George Thompson, Mrs. Thomas Hood, and many other worthies; their relations with Garrison, Phillips, Douglass, Webster, Clay, N. P. Rogers, John B. Gough, H. W. Beecher, Theodore Parker, John P. Hale, Salmon P. Chase, Abraham Lincoln, Generals Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Howard, with Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, and others; and a mass of interesting anecdotes and descriptive matter concerning many of the most important incidents in the life of the nation for a half century. The book contains an introduction by Frederick Douglass, written a few weeks before his death.

A Manual for China Painters

Being a Practical and Comprehensive Treatise on the Art of Painting China and Glass with mineral colors By Mrs. N. Di R. Monachesi With colored plates showing 138 mineral colors Cloth $1.00

THIS is the most thorough and complete manual for china painters ever prepared, containing practical directions for every step; and offering such instruction and suggestions in the use of mineral colors as will enable amateurs to pursue this beautiful art by themselves. Abundant information is given in reference to materials, which includes colors, brushes, mediums, etc., and how to use them. Valuable suggestions are furnished as to the requirements of decorative art, and useful hints follow on the correct designs for table ware. In short, nothing pertaining to this art seems to have been omitted that could aid the student, and the author says in her introduction, the book contains such information as she sorely needed herself while learning to paint on china.

Mrs. Monachesi has had large experience in practically and theoretically demonstrating her familiarity with this art, both with her brush and pen — having already acquired a reputation from her contributions to various art journals — and is considered an authority on Keramics. The color plates showing the exact Lacroix colors make a most valuable addition to the Manual. Their correctness is assured by the fact that they were made in Paris by Lacroix himself especially for this book.

Blind Leaders of the Blind

The Romance of a Blind Lawyer

By JAMES R. COCKE M.D. Author of "Hypnotism" etc. Cloth with portrait of author $1.50

THIS is a unique title of a unique book which is at once a satirical and occult romance. The author is deprived of sight, and possibly the character of the blind lawyer may, in part, be drawn from some of his own experiences.

The blind student's college experiences are written with a light touch and a certain vein of humor, while perhaps the most interesting chapter is the one in which the blind lawyer is made to see through his sweetheart's eyes by means of an instrument supposed to have been discovered by a Frenchman. Other chapters are interesting mainly from the strong development of the characters, who, although having no common interest at the beginning of the book, are, by reasonable and natural methods, brought together in Boston. The story moves rapidly. There are no elaborate descriptions of scenery, and the book throughout is full of dramatic power. The action is strong throughout, and its philosophy is tersely written, and can be understood by all, while the style is natural, easy, and readable.

Patmos or the Unveiling

By Rev. CHARLES BEECHER Author of "Spiritual Manifestations" "Redeemer and Redeemed" "Eden Tableau" etc. Cloth $1.50

REV. CHARLES BEECHER has given an interesting exposition of the Apocalypse of St. John. It is an unveiling of the difficult book of Revelation, and it is accomplished with the skill and genius which belong to the Beecher family. The early portion of the book sets forth the environment of the apostle, the nature of vision, and the literalness of the apostolic descriptions. The author then proceeds to give a specific interpretation of the symbols in the light of history. There is the theological training, the scholarship, and above all the free mind and noble Christian spirit which vitalize and redeem at every point. Everything is alive with special meaning and import. It is interesting from beginning to end, and will be a most valuable addition to the Christian's library. The speculative portions cannot fail to command attention, the descriptions being beautiful in the extreme. — Christian Work.

The Mystery of Handwriting

A Handbook of Graphology being a Plain and Practical Guide to the Art of Interpreting Character from Handwriting

By J. HARINGTON KEENE ("Grapho") Illustrated with autograph writing of famous persons Oblong quarto Cloth Attractive Cover Design by Gunn Price $2.00

HOW "Grapho" succeeded in making such wonderful analyses of character from a study of the handwriting is no longer a secret. He has explained it all in "The Mystery of Handwriting: a Handbook of Graphology;" but it is doubtful if the closest student of it will ever attain the success of Mr. Keene, for he probably never knew himself exactly how much was due to unconscious intuition and how much to conscious knowledge. But all outside this psychological mystery, all that came from Mr. Keene's observation and experience, is here presented in clear, concise, practical form, and the student must be dull indeed who cannot in a short time be able at least to gain a general knowledge of the unknown writer of a letter. The book is very attractively printed and illustrated in oblong quarto.— New York World.

Protestantism

A Study in the Direction of Religious Truth and Christian Unity

By EDWARD P. USHER A.M. LL.B. Cloth $1.50

THIS volume is really an answer to the question, What is the Christian religion? The author is a Harvard graduate [A.B. 1873, A.M. 1875, LL.B. 1880), who has given his leisure time for nearly fifteen years to its preparation. Christianity is set forth not as sacramental or theological or hierarchical, but as purely ethical and spiritual. The author seeks to persuade Christians to give up their prejudices, to forsake their clannish spirit and see religion as it really is. He finds Christianity to be the great and final explanation of human life. He says, "This spiritual explanation of life and of man is so sublime that he who once truly apprehends it will never part with it. Whoever shall once grasp this idea clearly and adequately will feel that the scales have dropped from his eyes, and no human sophistry, however cunning, can ever again dim his vision. The conventional ideas of his past will seem paltry and mean."

Thoughts for the People

Illustrating man's real relation physically, politically, socially, and religiously to the Universe of God; with suggestions in regard to the origin and prevention of sickness, suffering, and premature death

By REUBEN GREENE M.D. The result of fifty-six years of practical observation and experience 272 pages Cloth $1.00

THE doctor says: "For the solution of the great problems of life, health, and human happiness, we must look beyond the dispensing of pills and potions by physicians, or the preaching of creeds and dogmas of the church by the clergy.

"Health of body and peace of mind are so intimately connected with the aims and objects of life, and the spiritual nature of man, that physiological and psychological questions can never be properly solved until we embrace in our faith and works the whole nature of man and his relation to his Maker.

"People are not in a normal condition physically, politically, socially, or religiously. We have for the body: sickness, suffering, and premature death. Socially and religiously we have: antagonism between capital and labor, and civil commotions in society, and dissensions and divisions among churches.

"In this condition of society, and in the closing years of the nineteenth century, it seems proper to consider why the wonderful revolution in the scientific and business world during the last fifty years has not been shared by physicians in improving the sanitary condition of the people, or by the church in her methods of reaching and controlling the thoughts and minds of the masses."

Dr. Greene by hard study and long experience has opened the portals of mind, and shown the power of thought as a controlling element of the universe. He has formulated his ideas into a standard work which should become the text-book upon the great questions of the day.

This book is practical and will do much towards solving the various problems of life, by instructing people how to prevent the sickness, suffering, and degradation which now hold in physical and moral bondage the great mass of mankind. "Thoughts for the People" should be read by the people.

THE FOOTPRINTS OF THE PATRIOTS

Beneath Old Rooftrees

By ABRAM ENGLISH BROWN Author of "History of Bedford" etc. Cloth Fully illustrated $1.50

FROM the homes of the men who faced the royal troops at Concord and Lexington; from the lips of the children and grandchildren, themselves grown gray, of those men of heroic stamp, the author has gathered many quaint memories which make a volume of rich and exceeding interest. The purpose of the book is to show what the men of Acton, Bedford, Lincoln, Billerica, Menotomy, Groton, Woburn, and other colonial towns had to do with the fight at Lexington, which has been popularly supposed to have been the work and glory of the men of the immediate vicinity. Original sources furnish the large part of the information here given, making a contribution most valuable indeed to the body of Revolutionary story. The volume is the first in a series of "Footprints of the Patriots." — Christian Advocate, Pittsburg.

Gymnastics

A Text-Book of the German-American Gymnastics specially adapted to the use of Teachers and Pupils in Public and Private Schools

Edited by W. A. STECHER Secretary of the Committee on Physical Training of the North American Gymnastic Union and published under the auspices of that Association Fully illustrated Quarto Cloth Price $3.00

IT is a compilation of contributions of 16 of the best-known teachers of German-American gymnastics in this country. The volume contains 308 illustrations which were designed by Mr. Stecher, who, happily, combines the experience of the teacher with that of the artist. The usefulness and completeness of this work will be best appreciated by giving a list of the subjects treated and their respective authors: System and Method, William Fleck, New York. Notes for Leaders, Marches, Side and Long Horse, Buck, Roundel, Marching, William A. Stecher, St. Louis. Free Exercises, Dumb Bell Exercises, Henry Suder, Chicago. Wand Exercises, William Reuter, Davenport, Iowa. Exercises with Clubs, Horizontal Bars, F. W. Froehlich, St. Louis. Exercises with Rings, Four Inclined Ladders, Swinging Poles, Ring Roundel, Dr. Karl Zapp, Cleveland, Ohio. Fancy Steps, Christian Eberhard, Boston. Parallel Bars, A. E. Kindervater, St. Louis. Vertical, Inclined, and Horizontal Ladder, Dr. Henry Hartung, Chicago. Rings, Dr. Karl Zierler, Cincinnati. Vertical Poles, William Kopp, Chicago. Round Swing, Whipple Ladder, Dr. Hans Ballin, Carbondale, Ill. Balancing Board, Richard Pertuch, Philadelphia. High and Far Jumping and Pole Vaulting, Herm Hein, Chicago. Hop, Step and Jump, High Far Jump, Weights, Spear Throwing, D. M. Krogh, Philadelphia. Gymnastic Games, Karl Kroh, Chicago.

It will be noted that most of the contributors are public-school teachers. A few are instructors in the normal schools. That the public-school teachers will find an abundance of helpful material will be seen from the fact that 7 pages are devoted to tactics, 19 to calisthenics, 51 to wand exercises, 18 to club swinging, 12 to dumb-bell exercises, 5 to ring exercises, 11 to fancy steps, 22 to games, and 20 to double wand and hoop exercises. The material is so arranged as to make the work useful for gymnasiums for women as well as for men. — Boston Advertiser.

Maria Mitchell

Life and Correspondence

By her sister PHEBE M. KENDALL With Portraits Cloth $2.00

AN exact and appreciative biography of Maria Mitchell has been prepared by her sister, Phebe M. Kendall, and is now published by Lee and Shepard. The character and personality of Maria Mitchell were so strong, and her services to Vassar College and its students so valuable, that the book will be welcomed by Vassar's friends. But aside from her college connection Maria Mitchell won deserved fame. As an astronomer her name was known in Europe as in America. She was the only woman ever admitted to membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the only one ever admitted to the papal observatory in Rome. These reminiscences of her, accompanied as they are by numerous letters, will be read with pleasure by all who knew her, and many to whom she is a name rather than a personality. — Portland Transcript.

Boston Charades

By HERBERT INGALLS Cloth $1.00

LEE AND SHEPARD have published a little book that will afford lots of entertainment to young people of a speculative and analytical frame of mind. The book comprises one hundred and sixteen charades, written in charming verse that exhibits the true poetic instinct.

That the "Boston Charades" are likely to prove a delightful pastime can be easily believed when reading the following selection from the book:

My first is a name of the master of "Schneider,"
Who goes with a gun in pursuance of game;
My second is what an ambitious outsider
Might give at the door of the temple of fame.

Surrounded by weeds and incrusted with mosses,
Where winds to the morning make music or moan,
Where landward the surge of the ocean wave tosses,
My whole is — a wall of irregular stone.

Two Years on the Alabama

By Lieutenant ARTHUR SINCLAIR Confederate States Navy With 32 Portraits and Illustrations 8vo Price cloth $4.00 Full American Russia Full Gilt $6.00 Sold by Subscription

ONE of the best-written, most entertaining, and brightest books relating to the civil war that we have seen. Printed on good paper, in large type, and profusely illustrated, the volume is attractive also by reason of the force and literary skill with which the author tells his story of adventure on the most famous of American cruisers. The whole history of the "Alabama" is presented, from the day on which she first unfurled the Confederate flag, in August, 1862, to June, 1864, when she sank in the English Channel. It includes sketches of the officers of the "Alabama," pictures from photographs taken during the civil war, documents, letters, and other memorials imbued with the spirit of the time. Events in the daily life of the "Alabama's" crew are graphically related in direct and simple language. The incidents of the battle with the "Kearsarge" are admirably told, and the main story is supplemented with interesting anecdotes that illustrate the situation. The book as a whole will find a permanent place in the library, being the most comprehensive and entertaining account of the "Alabama" yet given to the public. — Baltimore Sun.

OLIVER OPTIC'S LATEST

On the Staff

By OLIVER OPTIC Blue and Gray Cloth Gold Dies Illustrated Price $1.50

THIS volume is the fourth in the series of "The Blue and the Gray — on Land," and carries the hero of the preceding volumes, Dick Lyon, in his new position as a staff officer, into new and fresh fields, and amid scenes of a more stirring nature. The long and rapid march of the army under Buell to the assistance of Grant at Shiloh, the desperate conflict and final victory of Pittsburg Landing, and the march to and siege of Corinth, are all fully described.

In those days history was made day by day, and boys were transformed into men in a single night. Dick's position was not an exceptional one for the times, and he made the best use of it, gaining the respect and praise of his superior officers and another step in rank ere the volume closes.

In these volumes Mr. Adams conveys to the youthful readers of the present day a realistic view of the exciting scenes and events of that memorable national period. The main incidents are historically correct, and Oliver Optic's fascinating fashion of clothing the facts of history in the garb of fiction is here delightfully set forth. Sturdy patriotism is the key-note of the motive of these tales, and the author inculcates in a convincing yet alluring manner the great lessons of honor, duty, and love of country.

They will help to fire the young of the present day with something of the patriotic enthusiasm that thrilled their fathers' hearts during that dark period in the history of their country.

THIRD SERIES

Four Young Explorers or Sight Seeing in the Tropics

By OLIVER OPTIC Cloth Illustrated Price $1.25

THE preceding volume of the series left the hero, Louis Belgrave, and his friends at Sarawak, in the island of Borneo. The four young men here spent three weeks in hunting, fishing, and adventure, visiting the Dyak villages and learning of the manners and customs of this interesting people, while the rest of the party proceeded in the "Guardian Mother" to Siam. On leaving Borneo the explorers decided to make the trip to Bangkok in the steam launch, where they arrived in safety. From there the reunited party went on to Saigon in French Cochin China, across the China sea to Manilla in the Phillipine Islands, and thence to Hong Kong, Shanghai, and Pekin in China. They inspected all the points of interest in the places visited. Amid such new and varied surroundings it would be surprising indeed if the author with his faculty of making even the commonplace attractive did not tell an intensely interesting story of adventure as well as give much information in regard to the distant countries through which our friends pass and the strange peoples with whom they are brought in contact. This book, and indeed the whole series, is admirably adapted to reading aloud in the family circle, each volume containing matters which will interest all the members of the family. Mr. Adams, on his trip around the world, is at present in China at the very point where this narrative ends, gathering material for the continuation of the All-Over-the-World Library.

WAR OF 1812 SERIES

Tecumseh's Young Braves

By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON Cloth Illustrated $1.50

MR. TOMLINSON shifts the scene of action, in this new volume in the "War of 1812 Series," taking up the story of the Creek war, bringing his readers into a closer knowledge of one of the bravest of the historical Indian characters. Stories of the Indians, especially that of Tecumseh, have always been of intense interest, and become doubly so when presented in this author's attractive style. His treatment of the Indian story is such that the book can be placed in the hands of our young people without a fear that they will be induced to start for the West to emulate the heroic deeds of Old Tippecanoe and Kit Carson. Not but that the book contains enough exciting incident and adventure to satisfy any one, but it is also true to the history of those stirring times, which has been much neglected hitherto by our story-writers. The lesson conveyed by the story is one which should be impressed upon every young American.

The New England Country

Text and Illustrations by CLIFTON JOHNSON. Containing over one hundred views of New England Scenery and Life Size 7 × 9½ inches Cloth Gilt Top Price $2.00

THERE is no wider nor richer field for the artist in search of picturesque subjects than New England. Its fields and forests, its hills and streams, its magnificent mountains and verdant valleys, its pleasant farms and quiet villages, furnish a series of attractive pictures that the eye never tires of looking at. In this beautiful volume the author and artist, Mr. Clifton Johnson, presents over one hundred illustrations of views and scenes in New England country and village life, with appropriate descriptive text. He divides the contents into four parts, as follows: Part I. — Old Times on a New England Farm. Part II. — The New England of To-day. Part III. — New England as the Traveller Sees It. Part IV. — Camping among the New England Hills. The changing seasons, the rugged hills and tumbling streams, the winding roadways, the villages and little farms, with the social and family life of the earlier and later days, are all here faithfully portrayed by camera, brush, pencil, and pen. The sons and daughters of New England, whether at home or abroad, as well as all lovers of rural life and scenery, will be charmed with the book. The cover design, which is very tasteful, is by Mr. Johnson. — Boston Transcript.

Our Colonial Homes

By SAMUEL ADAMS DRAKE Author of "Old Landmarks of Boston" "Decisive Events in American History" etc. Illustrated by twenty large Half-tone Engravings Cloth Full Gilt Gilt Edges Size 7¼ × 11¼ inches Boxed Price $2.50

MR. DRAKE has included in his list quite a number of the most interesting of the old colonial homes in New England, and has written about them in a delightful historical spirit, bringing out the points which give them interest to-day in the history of the nation, and contributing in this way to what is locally interesting in our New England life. Here the famous mansions of one and two centuries ago are reproduced in half-tones, and are made to live again in the old times. Among the old houses are the Hancock mansion, the Quincy mansion, the homes of the Adamses, the birthplaces of Gen. Putnam and Edward Everett, the last residence of James Otis, the early home of John Howard Payne, the Wayside Inn, the Old Witch House, and the Old Ship at Hingham. The volume is a delightful one to look at and to enjoy. A large number of really famous houses are here described and illustrated, and the work has a local flavor which will cause it to be sought for in a great many homes. We know not where to turn for more details concerning these places than are here brought together. Every sketch is a memorial of something significant in our New England history. Mr. Drake proposed to gather up as many distinct types of the colonial architecture of New England as he could find, and here they are adjusted to one another with a fine sense of what is proper and right. — Boston Herald.

Old Boston

REPRODUCTIONS OF ETCHINGS IN HALF-TONES — OLD BOSTON BUILDINGS WITH DESCRIPTIVE TEXT By HENRY R. BLANEY
Size 7½ × 9½ Cloth Gilt Edges Boxed $2.50

ANOTHER book from Lee and Shepard, and one which deserves the heartiest welcome for its historical interest as well as for its artistic beauty is "Old Boston," by H. R. Blaney, in which are reproductions of etchings in half-tone of the Old State House, Faneuil Hall, the Province House, the Hancock House, the Old North Church, the Boston Stone, and two or three dozen other spots or objects of special historic interest. The pictures are accompanied by short sketches or introductory paragraphs, but the substance of the book consists in its illustrations. It has a value which will increase from year to year, as the realities it represents drop more and more into the remote past. — Congregationalist.

Poems of the Farm

COLLECTED AND ILLUSTRATED by ALFRED R. EASTMAN
Over 80 illustrations Size 7¼ × 9½ inches Cloth Gilt Edges Boxed $2.50

THE beauty, picturesqueness, and sentiment of the old farm life finds recognition and appreciation in this anthology of poems of rustic feeling and experience. The Old School-House, The Old Home, The Orchard Path, The Deserted Farm, The Homestead Visit, are titles that are representative of the point of view of the collection. The book is printed on heavy paper, with artistic head and tail pieces, and delicate illustrations running into the text. A number of old favorites from our best authors are included in the volume, which would make an acceptable gift-book. — Current Literature.

Essie A Romance in Rhyme

By LAURA DAYTON FESSENDEN Illustrated by J. H. Vanderpoel Cloth $1.50

MRS. FESSENDEN'S book has been beautifully illustrated by J. H. Vanderpoel, of Chicago, and the text is so free from artifice, the character so daintily developed from childish frivolity to womanly pride and tact, that it is specially refreshing and delightful. She has written much that is more finished, — her "Puritan Lover" and her many volumes of children's stories creditable to her more mature years, — but the little unpolished bit of human nature called "Essie" has a charm distinctively its own and deserves the success it now receives. — Chicago Journal.

Whiffs from Wild Meadows

By SAM WALTER FOSS Author of "Back Country Poems" Cloth $1.50

MR. FOSS is one of the newest, as well as one of the truest, of our New England verse-writers, and his latest volume will find a multitude of appreciative readers. It is marked by the same characteristics that made his former volume, "Back Country Poems," so popular — every-day common sense, good-natured satire, genuine humor, a keen appreciation of the petty foibles and weaknesses of mankind, and, above all, a genuine human sympathy. The three or four "occasional" poems, at the close of the volume, in their unconventional swing and happy rhyming, remind one irresistibly of Holmes, and there are lines that even Holmes would have been glad to own. — Boston Transcript.

A NEW EDITION

Back Country Poems

By SAM WALTER FOSS Cloth Twelve Full-page Illustrations by Bridgman New Edition $1.50

OF all the poems published for a long time none deserve warmer praise and more careful reading than the delightful songs that make up this quaint and natural book. Now sad, now gay, everywhere pleasing, the verses charm and cause us to wish that the 258th page did not bring the end. — Public Opinion.

MANY of these poems abound in touches of nature of the most genuine quality, and some of them are wonderfully refreshing, not only because of their homely truth to nature, but because of the gleams of beauty and snatches of an exquisite strain of music. — The Advance (Chicago).

"FOR SWEETHEART OR FRIEND"

Because I Love You

A CHOICE COLLECTION OF LOVE POEMS Edited by ANNA E. MACK New Edition Cloth White and Gold Boxed Price $1.50

WHAT lover is there that will not welcome the beautiful little white and gold volume of love verses, edited by Anna E. Mack, under the satisfying title, "Because I love you"? Love is ever an excuse for right or wrong doing, but in this case the result is so beautiful that no excuse is needed. Miss Mack has selected with discriminating taste some of the sweetest, tenderest lines in our literature, all dealing with the one imperishable subject. The authors from whose works these selections are culled include all the best-known writers, and, in addition to the old familiar names, a number of new ones make this book fresher than most anthologies. — Cincinnati Tribune.

Henry Wood's Books

Studies in the Thought World or Practical Mind Art

By HENRY WOOD Author of "Ideal Suggestion" "God's Image in Man" "Edward Burton" "The Political Economy of Natural Law" etc. Cloth $1.25

THESE papers by Henry Wood deal with thought education, mental science, and spiritual evolution in their practical aspects. Their restorative forces are explained and applied to human life. No one can read this book without receiving a great mental and spiritual uplift. Mr. Wood is an original thinker and an idealist, and has the faculty of presenting vital topics in a marvellously graphic and interesting manner. The higher unfoldment of man is ably treated from the scientific standpoint. The moulding power of thought and its systematic exercise as related to health and happiness are also clearly set forth. As with his other works, which have had a wide circulation, the literary construction is extremely felicitous. Thinkers have a treat in this work, and when once begun one's interest increases to the end.

God's Image in Man

Some Intuitive Perceptions of Truth

By HÉNRY WOOD Boston U.S.A. Author of "Ideal Suggestion" "Edward Burton" "The Political Economy of Natural Law" etc. etc. In Cloth 258 pages $1.00

AN honest, able, and promising effort to free faith from unnecessary incumbrances. — New York Independent.

Mr. Wood has done us a service, and we trust that many will receive from the same and subsequent volumes spiritual quickening. — The Critic (New York).

A volume full of deep and suggestive ideas from the standpoint of the theology of the divine immanence. — The Christian Union (New York).

Edward Burton

By HENRY WOOD Author of "Natural Law in the Business World" etc. Sixth edition In cloth 299 pages $1.25 In paper covers 50 cents

IT seems to us that "Edward Burton" will be generally regarded as a story of more than ordinary merit. The conventional realistic lines are rejected. But of high thinking in fields of optimistic outlook and of religious meditation, expressed in the idealization of character, there is abundance. "Edward Burton" would be called a religious novel. The fundamental thought is the outworking of souls toward light and love from the bondage of oppressive dogma and unreasoning belief. But, unlike many religious novels, the story is not dull, nor does the movement drag. — The Christian Union (New York).

The Political Economy of Natural Law

By HENRY WOOD Author of "Ideal Suggestion through Mental Photography" "God's Image in Man" "Edward Burton" etc. Cloth $1.25

MR. WOOD'S task has been accomplished in admirable style. The work is one that breeds reflection. Its perusal broadens the horizon and lifts the thinker into lofty altitudes — altitudes where mind is seen to be the worker, and labor, land, capital, and coin to be but the tools; where altruism is stimulated and the sweetness of charity is realized, and the fact of racial unity is felt, and a glimpse is had, as from Pisgah's summit, of the final fraternization of humanity. — Chicago Evening Post.

Ideal Suggestion through Mental Photography

A Restorative System for Home and Private Use preceded by a Study of the Laws of Mental Healing

By HENRY WOOD Author of "God's Image in Man" "Edward Burton" "Natural Law in the Business World" etc. Cloth $1.25

THE first part of the book is a study of the laws of mental healing, in which the author considers in a thoughtful and most interesting manner the obstacles to progress; the body; the power of thought; planes of consciousness, and therefrom formulates inferences and conclusions that must impress the reader for their philosophical soundness. The second part, "Ideal Suggestion," with practical directions, embodies the laws of mental healing in a restorative system, formulated and arranged for home and private use. Visionary and impracticable aspects of the subjects are eliminated, and a scientific basis found. The book is a valuable addition to the substantial literature of the subject.— Boston Home Journal.

Books by Alyn Yates Keith

Aunt Billy

Cloth $1.25

THIS slender volume contains several unique character sketches, written with the same delightful familiarity with country life which lent a simple charm to "A Spinster's Leaflets," "Aunt Billy," "A Wayside Character." Uncle Billy, Mehitibel Prince, Dan'l, and Miss Hetty are all picturesque New England characters, simple and unaffected, but true to the general instincts of country life with its leniency toward friendly gossip and the harboring of small incidents. In "The Desultory Club" the author has brought up a number of questions of peculiar interest to thoughtful women, and has discussed them in an easy and happy manner. Few volumes of greater bulk contain a more wholesome estimate of life intermingled with humor and pathos than this pleasant grouping of queer characters.

A Hilltop Summer

Cloth Illustrated With half-tone vignettes $1.25

IN this bright story of a summer sojourn in a country town, Alyn Yates Keith shows the same clear insight into the New England character as in her previous work. There is a keen appreciation of the humor and pathos in the lives of the country folk and brilliant descriptions of the incidents and surroundings of village life. The author's portrayal of the character and modes of thought and life of the Hilltop people shows great insight and knowledge of human nature. The style is quaint and beautiful, the dialect being very successfully rendered. It is a book to be enjoyed. — Boston Times.

A Spinster's Leaflets

Wherein is written the history of her Doorstep Baby, a fancy which in time became a fact and changed a life. Cloth Illustrated $1.25

A SPINSTER longed mightily for a baby, and, as in modesty bound, for a doorstep baby. The prayer was answered, though the child sent was not a baby, and was not found exactly on the threshold of Century House! All the same there was a boy adopted who filled the doting heart of the spinster with all the worries and anxieties, the joy and pride, distress and disappointment, of veritable motherhood, and finally rewarded her a thousandfold for all her pains.

It is such a deliciously true story that it would be impossible ever to think of the author as a childless woman. — New England Magazine.

By Mrs. J. S. Hallock

Broken Notes from a Grey Nunnery

Illustrated Cloth $1.25

IT must be understood that the "Grey Nunnery," from which these Notes emanated, was not a convent of cloistered nuns, but this was the familiar title given the pleasant old country house by the author of the Notes and her companion. Here this bright student of nature passed a happy year, which is described in an elegant and charming manner in the Notes. The occurrences of the year, from January to December, are noted, and nothing of interest seems to have been allowed to pass unnoticed. Nature in all its phases is depicted with great skill, showing keen observation and wonderful powers of description. It is a series of charming realistic word paintings, such as is rarely presented. The work is beautifully illustrated by many half-tone vignettes scattered through the pages.

THE WORKS OF THOMAS BULFINCH

A New and Enlarged Edition

Legends of Charlemagne

Or Romance of the Middle Ages

Stories of Paladin and Saracen

By THOMAS BULFINCH With an explanatory introduction by ARTHUR RICHMOND MARSH Assistant Professor of Comparative Literature in Harvard University Illustrated Small 8vo Price Cloth $2.50

"THE Legends of Charlemagne" supplies a want felt scarcely less by the liberally educated than by the class of readers for whom the Age of Fable, by the same author, seems especially valuable. "These stories of the second Age of Fable, the age which witnessed the dawn of the several states of modern Europe," were but little known even by the liberally educated, and were not available before the publication of these volumes. But our poets were making use of those stories and legends to such an extent that much of the charm was lost by those unacquainted with the source to which frequent allusions were made, and of which these stories furnished the materials.

They have thus become absolutely necessary to an appreciation of what is best in modern literature, not only English but continental as well; except in these volumes, the knowledge contained in them can be obtained only with such difficulty that few would have the patience to get it.

UNIFORM WITH

The Age of Fable

Or Beauties of Mythology

By THOMAS BULFINCH Small 8vo Upwards of one hundred pages added to the 1894 edition Price Cloth $2.50

THIS work, which from the date of its original publication has been regarded as classical authority, was revised a few years since with important additions by Rev. EDWARD EVERETT HALE. In former editions Mr. Bulfinch's endeavor was to connect mythology with literature. The interest and study in art have so increased that the original idea has now been extended by connecting the subject with sculpture and painting, and thus its value as a companion in reading is extended. Particular attention has also been given to exhaustive indexing, and it is believed that the present edition, to which many illustrations and one hundred pages of text have been added, as thus augmented, will serve as a classical dictionary.

The Age of Chivalry

Or Legends of King Arthur "Stories of the Round Table" "The Crusades" "Robin Hood" etc.

By THOMAS BULFINCH A new, enlarged, and revised edition Illustrated Small 8vo Price Cloth $2.50

IN the introduction, the author gives an outline of the condition of Europe after the decline of the Roman Empire, showing the origin and purpose of chivalry, and explaining all things necessary to be known to give one a clear and distinct idea of the feats of the Knights of the Round Table, and whatever pertains to that remarkable period.

The Mythical History of England, chiefly from Milton, is here given in a condensed form, in which are found many of the stories on which Shakspeare and other dramatists have drawn for their plots as well as their illustrations. There is not a poet of eminence, from Chaucer and Spenser to Wordsworth, Tennyson, Longfellow, and Lowell, who has not drawn inspiration from these legends, and made liberal use of them in his poems. Tennyson's Idyls of the King, and Lowell's exquisite little poem, The Vision of Sir Launfal, are almost sealed books to one destitute of the knowledge contained in this work; and yet, strange as it may seem, no one book except this will explain the allusions, scattered through all our best literature, to this half-historic, half-mythical period.

SALT-WATER DICK STORIES. By May Mannering. 6 vols.

Climbing the Rope.
Billy Grimes's Favorite.
Cruise of the Dashaway.
The Little Spaniard.
Salt-Water Dick.
Little Maid of Oxbow.

Not all tales of the sea, as the title of the series would imply, but stories of many lands by a lady who has been a great traveller, and tells what she has seen in a captivating way.

UPSIDE-DOWN STORIES. By Rosa Abbott 6 vols.

Jack of all Trades.
Alexis the Runaway.
Tommy Hickup.
Upside Down.
The Young Detective.
The Pinks and Blues.

While of a humorous character, these stories are full of adventure, and the moral lesson, though not intrusive, is felt in every chapter penned by this bright and witty writer.

FINE ILLUSTRATED BOOKS

I HAVE CALLED YOU FRIENDS

By Irene E. Jerome. Chastely illuminated in missal style. Exact fac-similes of the author's original designs in color and gold. Printed in best style on fine paper. Beautiful cover design by author. Size 7 x 10 inches. Boxed. $2.00.

The text is clearly engraved in Old English, and each page is, as it were, framed in an artistic design, in which the graces of form, with lines or disks of chaste gilding, and flowers in lovely colors, make a picture of glowing harmony, like the frontispiece of an illuminated missal.

SUN-PRINTS IN SKY TINTS

By Irene E. Jerome. Over thirty illustrations engraved on wood, accompanied by appropriate selections in poetry and prose. Elegant cover design. Size, 7⅛ x 11¼ inches. Price, $3.00.

In this new volume, "Sun-Prints in Sky Tints," the harmony between the sentiment of the selections and that of the illustrations is remarkable, evincing not only artistic power and refined taste, but a rare poetical understanding. — Boston Transcript.

OUR COLONIAL HOMES

By Samuel Adams Drake, author of "Nooks and Corners of the New England Coast," "Decisive Events in American History," etc. Twenty large half-tone engravings. Cloth. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Size, 7¼ x 11¼ inches. Boxed. Price, $2.50. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $4.50.

Among the personages brought into view are Governor Cradock, Edward Everett, the Olivers Minots, Quincys, Adamses, James Otis, Sir William Pepperell, John Howard Payne, and others.

Among the houses described are the ancient church in Hingham, Mass., the Witch House in Salem, the Wayside Inn in Sudbury, the Old Indian House at Deerfield, and the Old Stone House at Guilford, Conn.

FROM SUNRISE TO SUNSET

By Curtis Guild. An elegant volume of original verse, with more than 40 illustrations by Copeland, and others. Small quarto. Size, 7½ x 10 inches. Cloth. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Boxed. Price, $3.50. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $6.00.

In the present volume we have a series of pleasant and vivid pen pictures in poetry, good, readable, interesting verse, that will be sure to find a warm welcome in the home circle. The collection is finely illustrated by more than forty wood-cuts and half-tones from the pencil of Charles Copeland.

MY LITTLE FRIENDS

Portraits of children, with appropriate verse. Half-tone reproductions from life. Collected by E. Heinrichs. White leatherette. Gold title. Size, 8 x 10 inches. Boxed. $2.00.

Edition de Luxe. A large paper edition, limited to 200 copies, of above book, on very heavy, fine cut paper. $5.00.

A holiday volume, which needs only to be seen to captivate any one who is at all fond of children, is this collection of children's portraits, reproduced in half-tone and accompanied by appropriate poems. — Literary World.

PERIWINKLE

By Julia C. R. Dorr. Illustrated from drawings in charcoal by Zulma DeLacy Steele. Containing 36 drawings, printed on fine cut paper. Size, 8½ x 11 inches. Oblong quarto. Cloth, with handsome cover. Boxed. Full gilt. Gilt edges. $3.00. Full leather. Gold title. Gilt edges. $5.00.

The drawings are free and bold, giving the effect of a skilful artist's original sketches; while, at the same time, the half-tone process lends a silvery softness to the work.

THE FALLOW FIELD

Poem by Julia C. R. Dorr. Illustrated with reproductions of charcoal sketches by Zulma DeLacy Steele. Containing 25 drawings, printed on fine cut paper. Size, 8½ x 11 inches. Oblong quarto. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Price, $3.00. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $5.00.

The artist is in full sympathy with the poet, and charmingly phases the real in nature with the ideal of the poet. The lover of artistic work will find new beauties to admire whenever a page is turned in the beautiful book. — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT MARINER

By Samuel Taylor Coleridge. Illustrated in outline by J. Noel Paton, R. S. A., with an introductory note by Francis H. Underwood, LL. D. Twenty full page drawings accompanied by the text from entirely new plates. Size, 7¼ x 11 inches. Cloth. Full gilt. Gilt edges. Boxed. Price, $2.00. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $4.00.

The illustrations by Sir Noel Paton will be a pleasure as well as a help to the reader. They are drawn with a free hand, and are full of spirit and character. The help they give is in making for the student a visible image or tableau of the several scenes; and some degree of imagination is needed to comprehend and realize these mental pictures.

THE NEW ENGLAND COUNTRY

Text and illustrations by Clifton Johnson. Containing over one hundred views of New England scenery and life. Size, 7¼ x 11¼ inches. Cloth. Gilt. Gilt edges. Boxed. Price, $2.00. Full leather. Gilt titles. Gilt edges. $4.50.

Taking Mr. Johnson's text and pictures together, we incline to think that there is scarcely a volume of prose to which we should send a person with more confidence that he would get a thoroughly trustworthy impression of New England country life, past and present, than this tasteful compilation. — Boston Literary World.

ORCHIDS: THE ROYAL FAMILY OF PLANTS

With Illustrations from Nature by HARRIET STEWART MINER, comprising twenty-four Magnificent Specimens in Colors, each 10 x 14 inches, gilt edges, bevelled boards, and richly adorned in black and gold, making a beautiful book, Cloth, portfolio, full gilt $15.00; Turkey morocco, $36.00; tree calf, $36.00.

THE WOOING OF GRANDMOTHER GREY

Poem by Kate Tannatt Woods. Illustrations by Popular Artists. Engraved and printed under the direction of Mr. Andrew. Oblong quarto. Twenty-four Illustrations. Cloth, full gilt and gilt edges, $2. English Seal Style, $3.50.

GRANDFATHER GREY

Poem by Kate Tannatt Woods. Illustrations by Charles Copeland. Elegantly printed on fine cut paper. Bound in two colors, cloth, full gilt, $2.00. English Seal Style, $3.50.

THE JEROME BANNERS

Joy Banner — Rest Banner
Every-Day Banner
What will the Violets Be Designed and Edited by Irene E. Jerome. Price, 50 cents each banner. The four banners in neat case, $2.00.

Each of the four banners consists of four panels or cards, size of each card 5x7½ inches, beautifully decorated in colors and gold, attached by interlaced ribbons. These cards contain appropriate selections from celebrated authors in fancy lettering, and each banner is enclosed in its own envelope, decorated in colors and gold to match the contents.

IN A FAIR COUNTRY

With 55 full-page Illustrations by Irene E. Jerome. Engraved on wood, and printed under the direction of Mr. Andrew, with nearly one hundred pages of text by Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Bound in Gold Cloth, gilt edges, $6; Turkey morocco, $15; Tree calf, $15; English seal style, $10.

Over the clear-cut thoughts of a modern master of classic essay, one of the foremost of American artists draws the magic pencil which has achieved so many triumphs, and starts into life the rural beauties of "Outdoor Papers."

NATURE'S HALLELUJAH

By Irene E. Jerome. Presented in a series of nearly fifty full-page illustrations (9½ x 14 inches), engraved on wood by George T. Andrew. Bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $6.00; Turkey morroco, $15.00; tree calf, $15.00; English seal style, $10.00.

"The book is a work of art set in gold. There are nearly a hundred large full-page sketches of birds and flowers, children and landscapes, — all beautiful, some quaint, with here and there a delicate bit of humor thrown in, and quaint conceits and dainty bits of pretty suggestiveness sparkling all the way through. — The Living Church.

FROM AN OLD LOVE LETTER

Designed and illuminated by Irene E. Jerome. Antique Covers tied with silk. Boxed, $1.00.

A delicately illuminated book after the style of the old illuminated missals. The book consists of a series of quotations from the New Testament on the subject of love. The cover is printed on rich antique paper and is tied with silk floss, secured to the cover by a seal. Altogether it is a gem of art and will be highly appreciated as a holiday gift for both young and old. — Decorator and Furnisher.

ONE YEAR'S SKETCH BOOK

By Irene E. Jerome. An Original Series of Illustrations from Nature, comprising forty-six full-page Pictures (9½ x 14 inches) of great power and beauty, engraved on wood by Geo. T. Andrew, in the best manner. The volume is bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $6.00; Turkey morocco, $15.00; tree calf, $15.00; English seal style, $10.00.

Above in four parts, Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter, Palatine Boards, $1.50 per volume.

The conception of such a book could only have originated in the mind of an artist, and a master-hand could only have carried it out. The publishers have used their utmost skill in producing this volume, making it an elegant gift." — Christian Observer.

"THE MESSAGE OF THE BLUEBIRD Told to Me to Tell to Others"

An Illustrated Souvenir. By Irene E. Jerome. Engraved on Wood, under the direction of George T. Andrew.

Eight full-page illustrations, wood-cuts, printed on plated paper, are enclosed in covers of Palatine Board, Gold Title, and tied with ribbon, neatly packed in an attractive box. $1.00. Cloth, Blue and White, $2.00.

A BUNCH OF VIOLETS

By Irene E. Jerome. Original Illustrations engraved on wood and printed under the direction of George T. Andrew. Quarto. Elegantly bound in gold cloth, full gilt, gilt edged, $3.75; English seal style, $7.00; full Turkey morocco, $9.00; tree calf, $9.00; Palatine style, $2.

In this volume Miss Jerome has collected poetry relating to the exquisite little flower so dear to the lover of country scenes. — Commercial Gazette.

BABY'S KINGDOM

Wherein may be chronicled as memories for grown-up days, the Mother's Story of the Progress of the Baby. Designed and illustrated by Annie F. Cox, a new and elegant edition. Oblong Quarto. Blue and white cloth, full gold cloth, $3.75; Turkey morocco, $9.00.

Daintily engraved poems and pictures are scattered along the sumptuous pages, and there are blanks for record of baby's birth, weight, gifts, christening, picture, first tooth, first step, first word, first birthday, and all other first things that fond mothers and all mankind delight to remember. It is a book that babies would cry for if they only knew how their mothers would like to have it.

SUMMERLAND

By Margaret McDonald Pullman. With 63 original illustrations engraved and printed under the direction of George T. Andrew. Size 4½ x 12½ inches. Oblong quarto. Artistic cover of two colored cloths, beautifully ornamented. Full Gilt, $3.75. Turkey morocco, $9.00. Tree Calf, $10.00. English Seal Style, $7.00.

PLASTIC SKETCHES. By J. G. and J. F. Low, the famous tile artists, being a series of designs, making forty-seven original photogravures, 10 x 12 inches, in satin portfolio. Price $10.00.

"This house has recently issued an Art Work, which is unique in the field of art literature, and is one of the handsomest, most tasteful, and most liberal publications of the season. We refer to 'Plastic Sketches,' a veritable portfolio, consisting of a series of Albertype pictures reproduced from the famous Chelsea tile-pictures first given to the world about six years ago by Messrs J. G. and J. F. Low, of Chelsea, Mass. By aid of the camera, wonderful copies of these tiles have been made so natural in appearance that he who delightedly turns the pages of this magnificent work cannot easily dispossess himself of the fancy that they stand from the paper in actual relief. This work is destined to become famous everywhere, and among all people, art students, designers, and lovers of the beautiful of all classes."—Philadelphia Item.

ELIJAH KELLOGG.

"Mr. Kellogg never wrote a dull story. His tales are adorned with noble thoughts and sublime teachings, that, while the story secures the attention and fully entertains the reader, excite the boy, all unconsciously, to strive to be a good man. We recommend his works, above all others, to parents who are purchasing reading for their boys."— Nashua Telegraph.

"There is a manliness of tone in Elijah Kellogg's books for boys that we like very much. His heroes are not those whom the death of some rich and distant relative, or a sudden turn of fortune's wheel, makes rich and influential. They hew out their own fortune, struggling honestly with difficulties, and rising by means of them to a higher manhood."— Chicago Standard.

HANDBOOK OF BLUNDERS

Designed to prevent 1,000 common Blunders in writing and speaking By HARLAN H. BALLARD, A. M., Principal of Lenox Academy, Lenox, Mass. 50 cents.

"If he who corrects one blunder in the use of the English language deserves well, how much does he deserve who corrects a thousand?"— Book Notes.

"The habit of accurate and grammatical speech is one that deserves to be a good deal more assiduously cultivated than it is. So easy is it to fall into colloquialisms, and current inaccuracies, that few, we fancy, will turn over the pages of this little handbook without finding some weakness of their own in the use of English exposed. The volume will be worth its slight cost several times over to any one who will study and heed its suggestions." — Boston Journal.

UNIVERSAL PHONOGRAPHY

Or, Short-hand by the "Allen Method." A self instructor, whereby more speed than long hand writing is gained at the first lesson, and additional speed at each subsequent lesson By G. G. ALLEN, Principal of the Allen Stenographic Institute, Boston. 50 cents.

☞ There is scarcely any requirement so helpful to the student, scholar, scientist, or professional man, as short-hand writing. Heretofore, all methods have required so long a time before one could become so proficient as to make it of any advantage, that men in middle life, or busy men, have not been able to give the time to learn it; but, by the "Allen Method," one can almost in "the idle moments of a busy life," certainly in an hour a day for two or three months, become so expert as to report a lecture verbatim.

HANDBOOK OF LIGHT GYMNASTICS

By LUCY B. HUNT, Instructor in Gymnastics at Smith (Female) College, Northampton, Mass. 50 cents.

"This manual is admirably adapted for the use of teachers and pupils in public and private schools, and in seminaries and colleges, as well as a guide to health-giving exercises in the homes, especially for girls. Well-arranged series of exercises are given in free gymnastics, wand exercises, ring exercises, dumb-bells, procession, mutual-help exercises, bean-bags, marching, and a practical chapter on dress suitable for gymnastic exercises to be taken in. All these exercises have been carefully selected and thoroughly tested, and can be safely practised by any person in ordinary health." — Journal of Education.

THE HUNTER'S HANDBOOK

Containing lists of provisions and camp paraphernalia, and hints on the fire, cooking utensils, etc.; with approved receipts for camp cookery. By "AN OLD HUNTER." 50 cents.

If you are going into camp during the summer or fall, this little work will give you many hints for comfort and convenience not to be found elsewhere.

PRACTICAL BOAT-SAILING

By DOUGLAS FRAZAR. $1.00. With numerous Diagrams and Illustrations.

"Its directions are so plain, that, with the aid of the accompanying pictorial illustrations and diagrams given in the book, it does seem as if 'anybody' after reading it could safely handle a sailboat in a squall." — Times, Hartford.

HANDBOOK OF WOOD ENGRAVING

With practical instructions in the art for persons wishing to learn without an instructor. Containing a description of tools and apparatus used, and explaining the manner of engraving the various classes of work; also, a history of the art from its origin to the present time. By WILLIAM A. EMERSON, Wood Engraver. New edition. Illustrated. $1.00.

HANDBOOK OF PUNCTUATION

And other Typographical Matters For the Use of Printers, Authors, Teachers, and Scholars By MARSHALL T. BIGELOW, Corrector at the University Press, Cambridge, Mass. 50 cents.

"There is no work that requires more careful training, or a greater number of rare qualifications, than proof-reading.

"Mr. Bigelow's book is a practical treatment of the subject, and enlarges the reading-public's obligations to him." — Atlantic Monthly.

NATURAL HISTORY PLAYS

Dialogues and Recitations for School Exhibitions By LOUISA P. HOPKINS, author of "Handbook of the Earth," etc. Boards, 30 cents net.

The contents of this book comprise dialogues and movement-plays among the bears, the beavers, the squirrels, and many other animals, which have been successfully used by pupils from seven to twelve years of age.

They are designed for concerts or part-recitation and reading, and many of them involve action. The movement-plays are to be carried out by characteristic motions accompanying the text, as may be indicated by the teacher, or suggested by the spontaneous action of the pupils, in imitation of the natural movements of the animals represented, and after the manner of the Kindergarten plays, as prescribed by Froebel.

THE STARS AND THE EARTH

Or, Thoughts upon Space, Time, and Eternity. With an Introduction by THOMAS HILL, D. D., LL. D., late President of Harvard University. 50 cents.

"It is poetic in its suggestions, and leaves the impression that nature gives the cue to things hidden and mysterious. There is no dogmatic conclusion, and yet the dogmas of omnipresence and omniscience are elucidated by it. In less than one hundred pages is much and deep philosophy." — Boston Commonwealth.

HANDBOOK OF CONVERSATION

Its Faults and its Graces Compiled by ANDREW P. PEABODY, D. D., LL. D. Comprising: (1) Dr. PEABODY'S Address, (2) Mr. TRENCH'S Lecture, (3) Mr. PARRY GWYNNE'S "A Word to the Wise; or, Hints on the Current Improprieties of Expression in Reading and Writing," (4) Mistakes and Improprieties in Reading and Writing Corrected. 50 cents.

"A book which will be of incalculable value to the young man or woman who will carefully note and follow out its numerous and valuable suggestions. It is worth owning, and ought to be studied by many who heedlessly misuse their mother tongue." — Boston Beacon.

HANDBOOK OF THE EARTH

Natural Methods in Geography By LOUISA PARSONS HOPKINS, Teacher of Normal Methods in the Swain Free School, New Bedford. 50 cents.

An inductive treatise in geography, which is offered to the general student as an original and philosophical presentation of the subject; also designed for the use of teachers and normal-school classes, as a review and generalization of geographical facts, a guide to right methods of study, and an application of the principles of psychology to the art of teaching, which shall educate, as well as improve, the pupil.

HANDBOOK OF ELOCUTION SIMPLIFIED

By WALTER K. FOBES, with an Introduction by GEORGE M. BAKER. 50 cents.

"This valuable little book occupies a place heretofore left vacant, as a digest of elocution that is both practical and methodical, and low in price." — N. Y. Tribune.

HANDBOOK OF ENGLISH SYNONYMS

With an Appendix showing the Correct Use of Prepositions, also a Collection of Foreign Phrases By L. J. CAMPBELL. 50 cents.

This compact little volume contains about 40,000 synonymous words, printed in clear, distinct type.

"Clearly printed and well arranged, it is adapted to help any one who writes much, to enrich his vocabulary, vary his expressions, and secure accuracy in conveying his thought."— Boston Journal.

THE TELEPHONE

An Account of the Phenonena of Electricity, Magnetism, and Sound, as involved in its Action; with Directions for making a Speaking Telephone By Prof. A. E. DOLBEAR, of Tufts College. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"An interesting little book upon this most fascinating subject, which is treated in a very clear and methodical way. First we have a thorough review of the discoveries in electricity, then of magnetism, then of those in the study of sound, — pitch, velocity, timbre, tone, resonance, sympathetic vibrations, etc. From these the telephone is reached and by them in a measure explained." — Hartford Courant.

FORGOTTEN MEANINGS

Or, An Hour with a Dictionary By ALFRED WAITES, author of "The Historical Student's Manual." 50 cents.

"A valuable little book, embracing a collection of words whose etymology, when rightly understood, is full of instruction. The origin of words is an interesting study, and to those of an analytic turn of mind this little volume will prove a perfect treasure-house, and increase their interest in the subject." — Christian at Work.

PRONOUNCING HANDBOOK

Of 3,000 Words often Mispronounced, and of Words as to which a Choice of Pronunciation is allowed By RICHARD SOULE and LOOMIS J. CAMPBELL. 50 cents.

"This book can be carried in a gentleman's vest pocket or tucked into a lady's belt, and we wish several hundred thousand copies might thus be disposed of with a view to daily consultation." — Congregationalist.

WATER ANALYSIS

A Handbook for Water Drinkers By G. L. AUSTIN, M. D. 50 cents.

"The tests are for the most part simple, and are described in language devoid of technicalities. The work will be of service to all who wish to know what they are drinking." — Medical Bulletin, Philadelphia.

LESSONS ON MANNERS

By EDITH E. WIGGIN. 50 cents.

"A neat little manual, written on a very much neglected subject. It systemizes as well as simplifies the subject, and will prove suggestive to both parents and teachers, while its lessons will commend themselves to the learner. Nor is the book any the worse for its wholesome moral trend." — Herald and Presbyter.

BROKEN ENGLISH

A Frenchman's Struggle with the English Language. Interesting as a narrative, instructive as a handbook of French conversation By Professor E. C. DUBOIS. 50 cents.

"A decidedly amusing as well as instructive narrative, showing the trials and vexations a foreigner must endure in learning our language. The idea of the author in thus presenting the two languages in dialogue form was a happy one, and will be as good a study for the Yankee as the Frenchman. The two languages are presented on alternate pages line for line, and create equal interest." — San Jose Mercury.

SHORT STUDIES OF AMERICAN AUTHORS

By THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON. 50 cents.

"Colonel Higginson is an author, essayist, critic, and historian of marked ability, but in none of his works does he appear to greater advantage than in these graceful and documentary sketches. We strongly doubt that any more elegant and appreciative tributes to the genius of Hawthorne, Poe, or Thoreau were ever written than the delightful papers by the author of 'An Oldport Romance,' and 'Army Life in a Black Regiment.'" — Kingston Freeman.

TAXIDERMY WITHOUT A TEACHER

Comprising a Complete Manual of Instruction for Preparing and Preserving Birds, Animals, and Fishes, with a Chapter on Hunting and Hygiene; together with Instructions for Preserving Eggs and Making Skeletons, and a number of Valuable Recipes By WALTER P. MANTON, author of "Field Botany" and "Insects; How to Catch and How to Prepare them for the Cabinet." Illustrated. 50 cents.

"We would be glad if all teachers would take this little book, study it faithfully, become interested themselves and interest their pupils in this wonderful art." — Practical Teacher.

INSECTS

How to Catch and How to Prepare Them for the Cabinet Comprising a Manual of Instruction for the Field-Naturalist By WALTER P. MANTON. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"An invaluable little manual for an active lad, or indeed for anybody with limber joints and a taste for out-of-door amusements is Manton's "Insects." It tells what outfit the amateur bug-hunter should supply himself with, how he should treat his specimens when he captures them, and what he must do with them when he gets them home in order to preserve them in his cabinet. It is so beautifully written and illustrated that it makes the reviewer crave to lay hands on a net once more and sally forth into the fields." — Syracuse Herald.

FIELD BOTANY

A Handbook for the Collector Containing Instructions for Gathering and Preserving Plants, and the Formation of a Herbarium. Also, complete instructions in Leaf Photography, Plant Printing, and the Skeletonizing of Leaves By WALTER P. MANTON. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"It is entirely practical, and gives the collector just the knowledge required to render his work permanent and satisfactory. Its smallness fits it to be carried in the pocket, which is a consideration." — National Baptist, New York.

"Of inestimable value to young botanists." — Rural New Yorker.

BEGINNINGS WITH THE MICROSCOPE

A Working Handbook containing Simple Instructions in the Art and Method of Using the Microscope, and Preparing Articles for Examination By WALTER P. MANTON, M. D., author of "Taxidermy Without a Teacher," "Insects," and "Field Botany." Illustrated. 50 cents.

"This is a handy little volume for those who are starting on the examination of the wonderful life the microscope reveals. It instructs in the art of using the instrument, and shows how objects can be prepared for examination. Its simplicity is very valuable, and the young student will receive hints which will lead the way to the use of larger treatises. We commend it heartily to those who are beginning to study closely God's works in the world of nature." — Christian Intelligencer.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE

A Handbook for the Nursery, with Useful Hints for Children and Adults By ROBERT B. DIXON, M. D., Surgeon of the Fifth Massachusetts Infantry; Physician to the Boston Dispensary. 50 cents.

Dr. Dixon, in this little "Emergency Handbook," gives simple directions what to do in a number of the most common cases that arise, either in home treatment of slight accidents or indispositions, or in the case of patients in more serious cases, until the arrival of the physician. The book is worth its weight in gold, and ought to have a place in every family library." — Providence Press.

NUMBER WORK FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

Being a Series of Exercises exemplifying the Manner in which Arithmetic should be taught to young Children By HORACE GRANT American Edition Edited by Willard Small. 50 cents.

"This is a nice little book for the little ones, and is as simple as it is comprehensive. The purpose of the book is to exemplify how arithmetic should be taught young children. It is a very practical subject, and every parent ought to be interested in it." — Boston Journal of Commerce.

TRAINING OF THE SENSES OF YOUNG CHILDREN

For Young Children By HORACE GRANT Edited by Willard Small. 50 cents.

"These exercises were prepared for the purpose of providing instruction and amusement for children who are too young to learn to read and write. Their special object is to excite little children to examine surrounding objects correctly, so that valuable knowledge may be acquired, while the attention, memory, judgment, and invention are duly exercised. They consist of questions on familiar objects, concerning the senses and the body. There is a list of games given for young people." — Literary News.

THE PARLOR GARDENER

A Treatise on the House Culture of Ornamental Plants Translated from the French, and adapted to American Use, by CORNELIA J. RANDOLPH With Eleven Illustrative Cuts. 50 cents.

"It explains the methods of conducting a garden in an apartment and in a window, of making a portable green-house, of propagating from slips, of managing an aquarium, of gardening upon balconies and raising fruits upon the terrace." — Cincinnati Gazette.

HINTS ON LANGUAGE

In connection with Sight Reading and Writing in Primary and Intermediate Schools By S. ARTHUR BENT, A. M., Superintendent of the Public Schools of Clinton, Mass. 50 cts.

"The book, like all other published works of Mr. Bent, shows preparatory thought on the subject treated, and care in every line of the composition. He takes up 'sight reading and writing in connection with primary and intermediate schools,' and discusses every feature of the subject in such a plain and forcible way, giving more than a thousand valuable hints, that the work is not only attractive to the general reader, but of incalculable value to the professional educator. — Nashua Telegraph.

FIVE-MINUTE DECLAMATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Teacher of Elocution and Public Reader, author of "Elocution Simplified," etc. 50 cents.

"Each comprise one hundred selections, not one of which requires over five minutes in declaiming. The selections are made from orations, speeches, and sermons with fine judgment, and with an eye to bringing out feeling, passion, fire, etc. Each selection has been subjected to the test of reading aloud, and is a declamation in the proper sense of the term." — Home Journal.

FIVE-MINUTE DECLAMATIONS

Second Part. For School and College. By WALTER K. FOBES, author of "Five-Minute Recitations," "Five-Minute Readings," "Elocution Simplified," etc. Cloth, 50 cents.

"This is a little book gotten up for use in schools and colleges. Any of the selections can be recited in five minutes, and in this respect the book is unique. The compiler is one whose long experience in teaching has caused him to know what are best liked by students, and what will cause them to put forth their best efforts." — Toledo Blade.

FIVE-MINUTE RECITATIONS

For School and College Selected and adapted by WALTER K. FOBES, Elocutionist and Public Reader. 50 cents.

"The title of this book explains itself. Any selection in it can be recited in five minutes, and in this respect it is unique. Mr. Fobes's experience has enabled him to make the book a valuable collection of prose and poetry, which every schoolboy would do well to purchase. It must meet with hearty public approval." — New Bedford Standard.

FIVE-MINUTE READINGS

For Young Ladies Edited by WALTER K. FOBES. Uniform with "Five-Minute Declamations" and "Five-Minute Recitations." 50 cents.

"This volume evinces general reading and good taste in the author. It differs from some of its class in that many of the selections are from modern authors. We do not see why readings that are suitable for girls should not, generally, be adapted to boys also. Yet the title is a good 'catch.' The selections are among the most chaste and elegant in the language." — Journal and Messenger.

EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY

A Treatise for Parents and Educators By LOUISA PARSONS HOPKINS, author of "Handbook of the Earth," "Natural History Plays," etc. 50 cents.

"'Educational Psychology,' by Mrs. Louisa Parsons Hopkins, is the digest of a course of lectures given to the normal class of the Swain Free School in New Bedford, and is the result of long and attentive observation of mental phenomena and development, careful reading, and original thought. It is a compact volume, giving in condensed form a great amount of valuable matter. There is increasing call for works of this kind; and one so sound, clear, and complete as 'Educational Psychology' will be cordially welcomed by parents and teachers." — Cambridge Tribune.

THE NATION IN A NUTSHELL

A Rapid Outline of American History. By GEORGE MAKEPEACE TOWLE, author of "Young People's History of England," "Young People's History of Ireland," etc. 50 cents.

"It begins with an account of the earliest known or supposed inhabitants of our continent; treats briefly but clearly of the eras of colonization and colonial growth; describes the causes and rise of the Revolution, the formation of the Constitution and government, the Presidents, the wars of 1812 and Mexico, and the Civil War; and brings the record of events down to the present day. It has also chapters on our growth in literature, the arts and sciences, material interests and inventions, and on the political changes which have taken place in recent years. It is intended for such readers as desire, by a rapid glance, to survey the main features and landmarks of American history, and who have not the time to peruse the more comprehensible histories." — New Bedford Mercury.

MISTAKES IN WRITING ENGLISH AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

For the Use of all who teach, write, or speak the Language By MARSHALL T. BIGELOW, Author of "Punctuation and other Typographical Matters." 50 cents.

"This is one of the most practical and systematic books in its kind that has as yet appeared. It is particularly commendable in avoiding the chance arrangement of matter which has so confusingly characterized other guides devoted to the same subject. Here everything is set forth in proper order, and reference is aided by the admirable grouping of the various sources of error under appropriate headings. This little volume will be found a serviceable friend on the library table of every writer." — Sat. Evening Gazette.

WARRINGTON'S MANUAL

Handbook of Legislative Practice for the Guidance of Public Meetings By WM. S. ROBINSON ("Warrington"). 50 cents.

Mr. Robinson was for a long series of years the Clerk of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and was an authority on parliamentary law and tactics during that time. This manual will be found of inestimable value to all presiding officers, either of the ward and town meeting or the legislative assembly.

WHIRLWINDS, CYCLONES, AND TORNADOES

By WILLIAM MORRIS DAVIS, Instructor in Harvard College. Illustrated. 50 cents.

"The best general view of the science in the English language." — Nation.

"The substance of this treatise formed the basis of a course of lectures at Lowell Institute last year. Cuts, diagrams, and charts illustrate the text; and the whole subject, which recent calamities have made so intensely interesting to us of the United States, is treated very lucidly on the basis of facts, and of the best and latest scientific speculation." — Buffalo Express.

BRIDGE DISASTERS IN AMERICA

The Cause and the Remedy By Prof. George L. Vose. Author of "Manual for Railroad Engineers and Engineering Students," etc., etc. 50 cents.

"How to ensure the safety of bridges and to prevent loss of life by those who pass over them, surely ought to be a question of most vital interest, and Prof. Vose's thorough knowledge of the subject enables him to give a practical solution of the problem. It is a book that should be carefully read by all and especially by those who are in any way responsible for the maintenance or construction of bridges. He demonstrates that bridges can be constructed in such manner as to prevent the disasters which are repeatedly occurring, and that ignorance, shortsightedness and criminal negligence are alone responsible for the large loss of life in recent years on account of faultily constructed bridges."—Springfield Union.

A FEW THOUGHTS FOR A YOUNG MAN

By Horace Mann. A new edition. 50 cents.

"This volume is full of the wisest counsel, given in very attractive and winning language, which is embellished with sparkling wit and interesting anecdote. It is a rare little book, by an eminent author, and is worthy of a place in every household. The treatise has been so often sought after by the general public, that it is again republished in its original form. The late Mrs. Mann, who wrote the preface to her husband's book, says, 'Nothing the author ever wrote has been so universally popular.'"

HANDBOOK OF DEBATE

Including a debate upon the Character of Julius Caesar. Adapted from J. Sheridan Knowles. Arranged for practice in Speaking, for Debating Clubs, and Classes in Public and Private Schools. With Notes for the Forming and Guidance of Debating Societies, and a list of subjects for debate. 50 cents.

"This work may be considered a model worthy to be adopted for use in societies and clubs organized to cultivate powers of elocution and oratory, and to teach the art of skilful debate, the knowledge of which enables the possessor to wield great influence in public and deliberative assemblies. As a ready handbook for debating societies' use it is unequalled."

ENGLISH SYNONYMS DISCRIMINATED

By Richard Whately, D. D., Archbishop of Dublin. A new edition. 50 cents.

While especially adapted to the use of writers and those who desire to express themselves in exact and discriminating terms, this book will be of interest to every one who may wish to gain more precision in the use of our language. In compiling this valuable work, the accomplished author has departed from the customary methods, and has not contented himself with giving merely the apparent synonyms in the language, but elaborates on the nice distinction in the meaning of common words, usually considered synonymous terms. In this feature consists the especial importance of Dr. Whately's volume.

PRIMARY LESSONS IN ZOÖLOGY TEACHING

For Teachers in Common Schools. By Walter P. Manton, M. D., F. R. M. S., F. Z. S. Author of "Field Botany," "Insects," "Taxidermy." Beginnings with the Microscope. 50 cents.

This work is full of suggestions to teachers as to topics and methods in presenting this subject to beginners. It contains nine essays, full of valuable practical ideas for teachers. The subjects treated are: equipment; general characteristics of an animal; the bones; the muscles; the blood; respiration digestion; the brain and nerves. The author has wisely disregarded the exact order of the scientist, realizing that he has to interest beginners and teach them to observe. His directions are clear and simple, and in the hands of a good teacher the plan he outlines would be eminently inspiring.

PREFACE.

"Literature has this superior excellence that it inures one's self to enjoy ideas."

G. Lanson.

IN attempting a Catalogue raisonné of French literature, after the favorable reception of the Catalogue raisonné of German literature, published last year, the compiler has to choose whether to face his task from the moralist's or the historian's standpoint. The former would publish a very meagre list. What Henry James, Jr. urges against George Sand applies, in some degree, to many French books, the most representative and specially "gaulois" in particular: "The reproach brought against her is that she has for the most part portrayed vicious love, not virtuous love. But the reply would be that she has portrayed something which those who disparage her activity have not portrayed . . . and that the writers of her own class who represent virtuous love have not pushed her out of the field. She has portrayed a passion, and the others have not. In English literature we do not go 'into' the matter. We have agreed that there is a certain point at which elucidation of it should stop short. . . . Writers of English fiction have spared us much that is 'objectionable,' and that George Sand has not spared us. But few persons would resort to English prose fiction for any information concerning the ardent forces of the heart. It is G. Sand's merit (and of French literature generally) that she has enlarged the novel-reader's conception of them."

In attempting a list, in never so small a degree representative of French literary activity, the moralist's standpoint becomes, therefore, an impossibility. "In dealing with people of this race, we Anglo-Saxons are constantly reminded of weighing virtues and vices in an adjusted scale. Words and things, ideas and feelings, have a different value. There are French vanities which are very innocent and English humilities that are not at all so; French corruptions that, mutatis mutandis, are by no means damning." Let candid minds decide for themselves whether there is not a tinge of pharisaical hypocrisy in the readiness of saintly virtue to stigmatize as "Frenchy" a civilization which has the honesty certainly to call a spade a spade, "un chat un chat, et Rolet un fripon," often perhaps without urgent necessity, seldom with evil intent, and more rarely than is generally supposed with harmful results. We need not, however, follow Paul Bourget, who puts the question of art and morals thus: the artist admits that there are inæsthetic virtues and splendid corruptions. But may we not ask ourselves if not some of our "newsy" sensational daily papers, that enter our homes freely, are far more "objectionable" than many a yellow covered French novel?

A difference of method will be noticed in this portion of our Catalogue. While German classical literature may be said to date from the year of Goethe's birth, the great writers of France had had their sway a century earlier. Germany, for delivering the world from the thraldom of the religious "dark ages," paid the penalty of her civilizing work by two centuries of economic retrogression. There was no leisure or inclination in a people to cultivate the muses and fine arts which had to rebuild burnt cities and restock devastated farms. Her former civilization had been swept away and it took her two centuries to come abreast of the intellectual progress of England and France. They had long enjoyed political unity and preponderance in the world's affairs, and in their train literary prominence. Italy's cinque cento exertion lost her the leadership in literature and reduced her political influence in the same manner as Germany's had been. France then, a united centralized power, attained the summit of her political and literary glory. This necessitates, for our purpose, a chronological division into centuries, although some writers and literary tendencies overleap their bounds.

There is no need of dwelling on the importance of France as a literary factor in the history of civilization. Her influence, for better, for worse, has at all times been felt in every country. America's affiliation with her during the revolution was, in a great measure, conducive to a special leaning toward the study of her beautiful language. While this may have given way, to a certain degree, to a preference for German within the last decades, it can never die out, for, as even a French writer admits, no nation can henceforth be satisfied with her own literature exclusively; least of all America, the youngest of nations. We must feel "the full tide of human existence" for years to come. We still want much more time to contribute our quota towards that "World-Literature" which Goethe saw dawning.

We should, above all, steer clear of that "certain condescension" toward foreigners. The best lesson we can teach Mr. Lowell's Frenchman, "who feels an easy mastery in speaking his mother-tongue and attributes it to some native superiority of parts that lifts him high above us barbarians of the West," is to learn as much as possible from the masters of French literature. Their graceful style, their fine sense of things literary, of proportion and good taste, make their study an enjoyment and a pleasure. This it should be, in the words of G. Lanson, whose excellent "Historie de la littérature française" has been of the greatest service in this compilation. "One does not know it, or learn it; one practises, cultivates, loves literature. It is an instrument of self-culture. Reading good books is a conversation with the most honest men of past centuries, and a conversation at that in which they give us their best thoughts only."

E. L.

—The French books in this Catalogue are understood to be in paper covers, unless otherwise stated.

—The French demi-chagrin binding is designated by H. M., (French Half Morocco.)

—Books specially bound for us are marked: Half Morocco Extra, or Half Calf Extra.

—Those who prefer their favorite authors in a specially fitting garb, in preference to "edition binding," can have them bound in any style they may direct, either here or in Paris, at moderate cost, substantially and tastefully.

All books sent free of charge to any address in the United States, on receipt of the price quoted.

Any book not in stock on receipt of an order, can be imported in four weeks; if desired in bound form, in six weeks. More elaborate binding requires a longer time.

The best edition is usually, when there are several, named first. The size is 12mo, unless otherwise stated. All the prices extended in the price column are for paper copies. The price for bound copies is usually quoted first.

An * before the title of a book indicates an "unobjectionable" work which, in the opinion of a most competent adviser, can be safely placed in the hands of ladies or younger students. This censorship is not applied to the earlier writers and is not meant to reflect on books not so distinguished.

The French Bible.

As in Catholic countries generally the Bible is not of the same importance in France as in either Germany or the English-speaking countries. The current translations are usually made from the Vulgate. We quote Ledrain's new translation from the original and some Protestant editions.

17th CENTURY.

The Great French Classics.

French classical literature may be said to come into existence with the French Academy. The long and glorious reign of Louis XIV. brought out the fulness of literary activity. Its spirit and formal perfection, the distinguishing features of French genius, promptly assumed the lead in World-literature, theretofore held by Italy. "If the shortcomings of French classicism are nothing else than the shortcomings of the political and social conditions underlying it" (Hettner), it also partakes of the immense superiority of a united, powerful, orderly state. Academical tendencies then ruled supreme in all literatures. The French succeeded in harmonizing them with their national character and life. While attaining the highest goal in dramatic productions, the century is singularly barren in lyrics.

ALL PRICES ARE FOR PAPER COVER COPIES, UNLESS BINDING IS ESPECIALLY STATED.

Boileau, N.

1636—1711.

A minor poet, but great artist, the law-giver of French poetry, a law most appropriate for the qualities and tendencies of the French mind.

1623—1662.

All the glory of Jansenism and Port-Royal teachings is in Pascal, who enriched it by the vast originality of his genius. His style, method and ideas are those of the "savant" and the honest man. "Provinciales," the arraignment of the Jesuits, the first prose masterpiece in French classical taste. His style nowhere more suggestive and charming than in "Pensées." "Mystère de Jesus," a grand and sublime poem in prose.

18th CENTURY.

The century of decadence, anti-christian, cosmopolitic, destructive of all beliefs, traditions and authorities, violently critical, artistically feeble (Lanson). A facticious life of the literary spirit is sustained by a mechanical observation of the rules of the classical period, while their artistic import and substance is no longer understood. The comedy improves and the novel becomes the leading form of literature. The century bears the signature of Voltaire, "covered with glory and infamy" (Rousseau) and of J. J. Rousseau.

Prévost, A. F.

1697—1763.

The translator of Pamela and Clarissa. Of his numerous writings "Manon Lescaut" only remains, a little masterpiece, a simple story, rapidly told with a naturalness that gives the reader the sensation of life itself. He describes the power of passion and notwithstanding the subject, the book may be called a chaste story.

Rousseau, J. J.

1712—1778.

A candid, yet cynical mind, irritable, good and proud; of a surpassing emotional power. His famous teachings: nature created man good, society makes him bad; the origin of social evil is property; re-make in yourselves the natural man (Nouvelle Heloïse.) "Emile" the most suggestive treatise on Education. "Contrat Social" most powerfully influential in the political progress of the old and new world's democratic institutions, equality before the law and socialism.

His eloquence, sincere and warm, is unsurpassed, his style solid and noble. His lyrical outbursts are the beginnings of a new art style.

A greater power than any other one man in literature and society. "He made men out of Christians."—Schiller.

The poet is subordinate in him to the philosopher. He attacks church, monarchy and intolerance; the idol of free-thinkers, the horror of believers, 18th century France incarnate. "Charles XII." the first purely historical work in French literature, in excellent, pure French, as also his 'Louis XIV." Withal commonplace, he is a charming story-teller, his style limpid and precise.

His conception of the tragedy is that of the great classics, Mérope and Zaire are not unworthy of their ideals. Shakespeare's influence is traceable in his work.

19th CENTURY.

The epoch of transition. After the barren times of the Empire and the Restoration, Romanticism paves the way for Naturalism. But the latter is judged by its own disciples, "we have separated ourselves from a literature the baseness of which made us sick" (R. de Gourmont, ex-Zolaist). The period of "degeneration," of the Parnassiens and of the Décadants, seems to be drawing to a close; the forebodings of healthier principles in art and literature are apparent to well-informed observers. True naturalism will again be the art ideally to reproduce nature through the imagination.

☞ An * before the title of a book in the following list indicates an "unobjectionable" work which, in the opinion of a competent adviser, can be safely placed in the hands of ladies or younger students. Sometimes the school or expurgated editions are thus designated only. How true Paul Bourget's remark in "Outre-Mer" may be: "French novelist," the two words have always had a "vague aroma of scandal here," we shall not attempt to decide. That French novels are very popular here, however, may best be learned from the long list of translations quoted in the following pages. They include some of the best specimens of contemporaneous novels. The absence of the * is not meant to reflect on books not so distinguished. Tastes and standards differ.

19th CENTURY.

Balzac, Honoré de

1799—1850.

A robust, somewhat vulgar, exuberant artist. His faults as great as his perfections, are especially notable in his inability to outline characters of delicate tendencies. His genius begins with vulgarity and vice, where he has hardly an equal. He makes believe in the reality of his narrative. —G. Lanson.

He is never simple, . . . in a sense always corrupt. Eugénie Grandet was so praised for its innocence that the author detested it. The portraiture of people is his strongest gift. . . . At once the most corrupt and most naïf of writers. One of the finest artists and one of the coarsest. The Comédie humaine has a thousand faults, but it is a monumental excuse. —H. James, Jr.

19th CENTURY.

Hugo, Victor

1802—1885.

The central figure of 19th century French literature. "A great artist with a bourgeois soul. The collective love of humanity, of the lowly and miserable, was very real in him. It must be admitted, this very great poet had a commonplace intelligence. He is incapable of defining or reasoning. If he lacks original ideas, he is all the more apt to represent for posterity the general currents of contemporary opinion. He has the grand in view, but mistakes the enormous for the sublime. His vocabulary is one of the richest."—G. Lanson.

His poetry is distinguished by a melodious ring, great power of rhythmic combinations and true lyric energy. The Châtiments, a political satire, Contemplations individualistic poetry, Légende des Siècles preaches his humanitarian philosophy. These three books are the resumé and substance of his life-work.

Novels. "Under the title of novels he composes immense poems."—Pellissier.

Han d'Islande, a model of a romantic novel, is all the same, with the others, an extravagant melodrama in narrative form. Notre Dame, the masterwork of the romantic school. The Misérables, a medley of episodes, meditations, passages of surprising beauty and insipid tattle.—Lanson.

His dramas are saved by the lyric force of his diction.

Musset, Alfred de

1810—1857.

Perhaps the most poetic and truly representative French writer of the century. To move by being moved is his doctrine, his own soul vibrates in his verse, a "causerie charmante" of great eloquence. His prose is equally firm, limpid, sprightly, modelled on 18th century writers.

His plays are exquisite, of the purest romantic essence, fantastic and natural, sentimental and jesting, unique in French literature and of a graceful turn which defies imitation.

"His charmingly poetic, faintly, naturally Shakesperian little comedies."—

Sand, George

(AURORE DUPIN, MME. DUDEVANT.)

1804—1876.

A disciple of Rousseau, she makes Love the sacred sovereign and condemns society because it suppresses passion. Her first novels are full of lyric idealism (Indiana, Lélia, Jacques, Mauprat.) She preaches socialism in Consuélo, Le Meunier d'A., Antonia, Le Compagnon; then publishes her rustic stories without the customary outbreaks of passion and doctrinarianism (Mare au Diable, Fadette, François — master-pieces of idyllic style). Her later works are simply narrative.

"Her noble and imperturbable style which, if she had been a man, would have seated her in the French Academy. . . In Valentine there is proof of the highest literary instinct. . . Leone Léoni a masterpiece. . . Mauprat, a solid, masterly, manly book. . . André, Mare au Diable have an extreme perfection."—H. James, Jr.

Stael, Mme. de

1766—1817.

With Rousseau's soul, she is Voltaire's daughter. Creator of a cosmopolitan literature. Without artistic invention, her novels are chapters of an autobiography. L'Allemagne, a fine and strong book by which she will live. Her presentations of Schiller and Goethe have laid the groundwork for French Romanticism. She first taught Frenchmen to study foreign ideas. "Such hospitality makes the fortune of him who receives it." Since her day the great currents of literature have become European.

Zola, Emile

1840—

The master-mind of French Naturalism who pretends to be a "savant" rather than an artist and calls his books "scientific experiences" conducted by the imagination. His great power is, unfortunately, mostly exercised to describe the agitation of fools and the appetite of brutes. Withal his would-be slices from real life are ridiculously untrue and a good deal of the "romantique" is to be discovered in him. His talent is vulgar and robust. Germinal and L'Assommoir are his greatest efforts, in which his peculiar talents find their best expression. They are all steeped in a vulgarity which brought forth the protest of his own disciples: "We have separated ourselves from a literature the baseness of which made us sick." While Nana and La Terre surpass in audacity all his other efforts, Le Rêve is a graceful, idyllic story, and La Débâcle, with the famous battle of Sédan, a grand subject, but a failure.

Copyright Novels by Marie Corelli.

THE MIGHTY ATOM.

Uniform with "The Sorrows of Satan," "Barabbas," and "Cameos." Large 12mo. Buckram, $1.25.

"The book thrills with pathos, from the sad child-like beginning to the tragic end. Every character is strongly drawn, and the interest does not lessen to the close."—Detroit Tribune.

"'The Mighty Atom' is powerfully analytic as well as imaginative, probing the springs and motives of human action, and laying bare what is generally left concealed. Miss Corelli's treatment of the subject chosen by her in the present novel is in a very high degree individual and stimulating. The versatility displayed is equalled only by her spirit, which is tireless. She wields at all times a vigorous pen, and knows how to unroll a moving series of pictures with great skill and ability. 'The Mighty Atom' suggests the biological discovery of the cell unit, and will be found subtly powerful in that line of perception and reasoning."—Boston Courier.

CAMEOS.

By Marie Corelli. 12mo. Buckram, $1.00.

"Marie Corelli possesses a charm as a writer that perhaps has never been better displayed than in her recent work, 'Cameos.'"—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

"As long as Miss Corelli can write stories like these she will not lack readers. In this volume she gives new and convincing proof of versatility, spirit, tenderness, and power."—Chicago Tribune.

BARABBAS:

A Dream of the World's Tragedy.

By Marie Corelli. 12mo. Buckram, $1.00.

During its comparatively brief existence this remarkable book has been translated into French, German, Swedish, Hindoostani, and Gujerati. In England and America, the phenomenal demand for the work still exhausts edition after edition in rapid succession.

"It is a succession of skilful and finished pictures, with human passion."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"It is a remarkable book, and will be read with much interest for its vividness of style and undoubted ability."—New York Observer.

"Tragic intensity and imaginative vigor are the features of this powerful tale."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"The book is strongly written and is of intense interest."—Advance, Chicago.

"Alike the most reviled, the best praised, and the widest read book of the day."—London World.

"The tender reverence of the treatment and the imaginative beauty of the writing have reconciled us to the daring of the conception."—Dublin Review.

"Miss Corelli's novel is something remarkable, and the intensity of its interest is not exceeded by anything in fiction that has been produced by distinguished novelists who have gone to the Bible for their themes."—Boston Home Journal.

VENDETTA;

Or, the Story of One Forgotten.

By Marie Corelli. 12mo. Cloth, $1.00.

"It is a thrilling and irresistibly charming book."—Baltimore American.

"The story is Italian, the time 1884, and the precise stage of the acts, Naples, during the last visitation of the cholera. A romance, but a romance of reality. No mind of man can imagine incidents so wonderful, so amazing, as those of actual occurrence."—Washington National Republican.

THE SORROWS OF SATAN;

Or, The Strange Experience of One Geoffrey Tempest, Millionaire.

By Marie Corelli. With Frontispiece by Van Schaick. 12mo. Buckram, $1.50.

"The style is everywhere rich and luxuriant, and the novel itself remarkable and powerful."—London Daily Telegraph.

"A very powerful piece of work. A literary phenomenon, novel, and even sublime."—Review of Reviews.

"In truth, 'The Sorrows of Satan' is probably the most outspoken book ever presented to the British public."—Dundee Advertiser.

"His Satanic Majesty has certainly never been placed in a better light before the public than he is in this story."—Columbus Evening Dispatch.

"We go further and express our own opinion to the effect that it is one of the most striking novels that has been written for many a year."—Buffalo Commercial.

"Critics will love her none the more for her story of evil, but they will all admire her masterly ability to scorch whatever opinions rub against her own cherished creeds. She is sure to be extensively and thirstily read."—Boston Herald.

Uniform and Unabridged Editions of Standard French and English Novelists, Choicely Printed and Illustrated, Published by Little, Brown, & Co., Printed at the University Press, Cambridge. Comprising One Hundred and Fourteen Volumes.

Dumas

New Library Edition of the Romances of Alexandre Dumas. With 76 etched frontispieces, by French and American artists, portraits, etc. 54 vols. 12mo. Decorated cloth, gilt top, $1.50 per vol.; plain cloth, gilt top, $1.25 per vol.

Beautiful and uniform editions of these important Historical Novels translated into English unabridged, a large amount of matter heretofore omitted being supplied, and printed in handsome, clear type, in a style worthy of their merits.

Hugo

The Romances of Victor Hugo. With 28 portraits and plates by French artists. 14 vols. 12mo. Decorated cloth, gilt top, $1.50 per vol.; plain cloth, gilt top, $1.25 per vol.

In the preparation of this very handsome edition of Hugo's Romances no expense has been spared that would produce a really beautiful set of Hugo's world-famous works in type which it is a pleasure to read, and in volumes which can easily and comfortably be held in the hand. Important chapters and passages omitted in other editions are included.

Warren

Ten Thousand a Year. By Samuel Warren. With a portrait of the author, beautifully etched by F. T. Stuart. 3 vols. 12mo. Decorated cloth, gilt top, $4.50; plain cloth, gilt top, $3.75.

A new and choicely printed edition of this celebrated English novel, including the author's valuable notes. The story has always been deservedly popular, has been widely read for nearly fifty years in England and America, has been translated in France and Germany; and the present edition, in clear, readable type, with choice presswork and paper, has been quite successful, and has been accepted as the only adequate library edition.

Bulwer

The Novels of Edward Bulwer Lytton (Lord Lytton). With 40 frontispieces, by Edmund H. Garrett, etched by W. H. W. Bicknell. 40 vols. 12mo. Decorated cloth, gilt top, $1.50 per vol.; plain cloth, gilt top, $1.25 per vol.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES POSSESSED BY THE NEW LIBRARY BULWER.

The volumes are of handy, convenient size, easy to hold in the hand.

The type is clear and beautiful, and has been made expressly for this edition.

The paper is of extra quality, affording an important adjunct to the printers' careful and beautiful work, the type being set and the volumes printed at the University Press, Cambridge.

The exquisite frontispieces are etched in the finest manner from drawings made especially for this edition by Edmund H. Garrett.

The whole combines to produce a perfect library edition, complete in forty volumes, at a very moderate price.

NOTES ON BOOKS.

BEING AN

ANALYSIS of the WORKS published during each QUARTER

BY

MESSRS. LONGMANS, GREEN, AND CO.

The object of this periodical is to enable Book-buyers readily to obtain such general information regarding the various Works published by Messrs. LONGMANS and Co. as is usually afforded by tables of contents and explanatory prefaces, or may be acquired by an inspection of the books themselves. With this view, each article is confined to an ANALYSIS OF THE CONTENTS of the work referred to; opinions of the press and laudatory notices are not inserted.

 Copies of Notes on Books are forwarded free by post to all Seertaries, Members of Book Clubs and Reading Societies, Heads of Colleges and Schools, and Private Persons who will transmit their addresses to Messrs. LONGMANS, GREEN, & Co., 91 and 93 Fifth Avenue, New York, for this purpose.

LONGMANS' GAZETTEER OF THE WORLD.

EDITED BY

GEORGE G. CHISHOLM, M.A., B.Sc.,

FELLOW OF THE ROYAL GEOGRAPHICAL AND STATISTICAL SOCIETIES.

MESSRS. LONGMANS AND CO. would point out that special care has been taken to secure COMPREHENSIVENESS, ACCURACY, and CLEARNESS, the three most important features of a Gazetteer.

In order to secure COMPREHENSIVENESS they have included:

1. In the BRITISH ISLES—all Parishes and all Places with Railway Stations or with Post-Offices.
2. On the CONTINENT OF EUROPE—all Towns and Villages, with more than 2000 Inhabitants, as well as many other places that have some special circumstances connected with them.
3. In the BRITISH COLONIES—all important Towns and Villages, and many places with a population of under 100.
4. In the UNITED STATES—all places having a population of 500 or above.
5. All kinds of information that is likely to be of real practical utility to business men.

In order to ensure ACCURACY:

1. All facts, such as Populations, etc., have been taken from official sources, such as latest Census Returns, etc.
2. Articles on Countries and the larger Divisions of the Globe have been mostly done by Specialists.
3. As far as possible the correctness of Articles has been carefully tested by submitting them to Local Revisers.

In order to ensure CLEARNESS:

1. Good clear type has been used.
2. A separate paragraph has been given to each entry, thereby securing easy reference.

A LIST OF THE PUBLICATIONS

. . . OF . . .

LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY,

92 PEARL STREET (cor. High Street),

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED BY NAMES OF AUTHORS.

Libraries and Series, page 50; Title Index, page 57; Editors, etc., page 63.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN VAUGHAN, LL.D.

The Travelling Law School. 12mo, $1.00.

The author employs the method of a journey from Boston to New York, Philadelphia, and Washington for giving rudimentary lessons in government and law. The book also contains "Famous Trials," twelve short and simple narratives.

"Is intended chiefly for the use of young readers, but there is much in it which may be profitably read by almost anybody outside of the legal profession." — Chicago Times.

ADAMS, EMILY.

Six Months at Mrs. Prior's. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

"A widow with scanty means makes a home happy for a group of children. The influence of the Christian household is widely felt, and the quiet transforming leaven works in many homes." — The United Presbyterian.

ADAMS, OSCAR FAY.

Dear Old Story-Tellers. 12mo, $1.00.

Fascinating biographies of twelve popular children's authors.

Poets' Year (The). Edited. Oblong quarto, gold cloth, $6.00; full morocco, $10.00.

A sumptuous presentation of some of the best and choicest poems, descriptive of Nature in her varying moods.

Post-Laureate Idyls. 16mo, gilt top, $1.00.

Through the Year with the Poets. Edited. 16mo, finely illustrated, each half-vegetable parchment, $1.00; cloth, $.75; half morocco, $1.50; half calf, $1.75.

JANUARY.	MAY.	SEPTEMBER.
FEBRUARY.	JUNE.	OCTOBER.
MARCH.	JULY.	NOVEMBER.
APRIL.	AUGUST.	DECEMBER.

"Its editor has not attempted a compilation of month-poetry solely. The field he has sought to occupy is a wider one, and includes the verse expressing the relation of the mind of man to the varying seasons, and representing the aspects of nature from month to month." — Preface.

"Mr. Adams has been far from confining himself to a ransacking of anthologies. He has evidently made a close and thorough study and search through contemporary and especially periodical literature, and it is due the editor to recognize that the originality of the idea has been equalled by the skill of its execution." — Christian Union.

ADAMS, ROBERT C.

History of England in Rhyme. 16mo, $.50.

History of the United States in Rhyme. 16mo, $.50.

On Board the Rocket. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

A series of blue-water yarns, spun by an old sailor, who makes as effective use of the pen as the mate of a Liverpool liner — in the days when sails ruled — did of the belaying pin.

AIDS TO ENDEAVOR. 12mo, $.75; gilt edges, $1.00. Introduction by Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D.

A handbook for the use of members of the Y. P. S. C. E., and a splendid volume for the home table.

ALDEN, MRS. G. R. (PANSY).

"I understand, I think, the reasons for the perennial popularity of the 'Pansy books.' They waken the music of the noble chords of the soul. In their influence, as compared with that of the usual Sunday-school book or work of light fiction, lies the difference that exists between waltz and oratorio." — S. K. BOLTON.

Bernie's White Chicken. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

Browning Boys (The). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

The story of two poor boys who desire to do something to help keep the family together. What they achieve, both through their own earnest efforts, and through the trust they learn to place in a higher power, is well told. Each chapter aims to illustrate a Bible text.

Chautauqua Girls at Home (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"These young ladies in their developing lives represent four classes of Christians. Social amusements for Christians, the Sunday-school — in short, the whole case of spiritually dead churches is diagnosticated, and the reviving remedies prescribed." — Christian Advocate, N.Y.

Chrissy's Endeavor. 12mo, $1.50.

The experience of a bright society girl who joins the Christian Endeavor Society.

Christie's Christmas. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"Christie's parents, by dint of much careful planning, are able to send her for her Christmas to Uncle Daniel's. The precious hours are spent in the weather-bound train; yet they are well improved, and the happy results of that day's usefulness fill this book." — Watchman.

Cunning Workmen. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Docia's Journal. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

Dozen of Them (A). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

"A Sunday-school story, written in Pansy's best vein, and having for its hero a twelve-year-old boy who has been thrown upon the world by the death of his parents. An excellent book for the Sunday-school." — Christian Standard, Cincinnati.

Eighty-Seven. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It was written especially for the members of the Chautauqua class of '87. It is a bright, healthful, encouraging story, practical and impressive, and it deserves, and will secure, a wide popularity." — Congregationalist.

Endless Chain (An). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It gives us a picture of a model Sunday-school superintendent, who combined tenderness and patience with firmness, who watched for souls as one who must give account, and was rewarded by bringing many to the Saviour whom he so earnestly loved." — Religious Herald, Richmond.

Ester Ried. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"'Ester Ried' is a pure, beautiful story of a religious tone. The volume makes one happy, perhaps because of its fidelity to the every-day life of the average man and woman; perhaps one feels the sweet spirit that emanates from its pages. It is a good book. Goodness always wins." — San José Mercury.

Ester Ried Yet Speaking. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A story of missionary labors among the very poorest and most degraded. The moral of the book is that the influence of a fine character does not end with death." — Literary News.

Exact Truth (The). 12mo, $.50.

Girls of thirteen and upwards will thoroughly enjoy this bright girls' book, in which the heroine tells her story by means of an entertaining diary.

Five Friends. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Four Girls at Chautauqua. 12mo, illustrated. $1.50.

Four girls, full of fun, but each with peculiar depths of character, encounter life's most profound experiences and changes during their fortnight at a beautiful summer resort.

"Its appearance created a genuine sensation. The originality and freshness which characterized it, attracted scores of readers where the author had had but one before, and a demand for the book arose all over the country. The religious newspapers accorded it an enthusiastic welcome, and the secular press was warm in its praise." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Gertrude's Diary. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Getting Ahead. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Glimpses of Girlhood. 12mo, $.50.

Grandpa's Darlings. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Hall in The Grove. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It shows what joining the Chautauqua 'Circles' did for a group of miscellaneous people living in the same town. The story is cheerful, energetic, and enthusiastic." — Woman's Journal.

Hedge Fence (A). 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

"The story of the haps and mishaps of the typical boy whose purposes are good, but whose impetuosity plunges him into all kinds of mischief, as the boy himself expresses it, 'before he knows it.' Pansy tells us how the hero of her story found a hedge which stood between him and mischief. The book will benefit and please every boy who reads it, or to whom it is read." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Helen Lester; to which is added NANNIE'S EXPERIMENT. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

Helen the Historian. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

In the story of "Helen the Historian," the heroine is a little sick child, incurably ill in a city hospital, and her greatest delight is to gather around her couch every Sunday morning the less favored children of the hospital, and to tell them, in her own simple, childish way, the story of the Sunday-school lesson.

Her Associate Members. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The seed sown in Chrissy Hollister's heart by the Christian Endeavor Society of the little town where she was visiting, takes deeper root and spreads and blossoms over the community where her early married life is passed. The story is told with all the vividness and life-like interest with which Pansy invests even the commonplace aspects of human nature.

Her Mother's Bible. 12mo, $.50.

A Bible that contains what every other Bible does and a money legacy beside.

Household Puzzles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Interrupted. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The story has for its central character Claire Benedict, a young woman of good heart and noble aims, whose plans and prospects for the future are suddenly interrupted by adverse fortune. She adapts herself to circumstances however, and shows that she can still be active in good works though in a more circumscribed way." — Central Christian Advocate.

In The Woods and Out. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A score or more of Pansy's best stories make up this little book.

Jessie Wells; or, HOW TO SAVE THE LOST. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

A story of the struggles of a Christian girl in attaining a complete renunciation.

Judge Burnham's Daughters. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

In the "Judge's Daughters" we renew the acquaintance of Ruth Erskine, one of the Chautauqua girls, and are given bright glimpses of Marion, now a pastor's wife. It gives a faithful picture of the emptiness of home life where father and mother are not in religious sympathy. As an analysis of a Christian mother's motives and feelings it is especially fine.

Julia Ried. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The story of a young girl, who, at the age of sixteen, went out into the world to earn an honest living, and to fight the battles of life. She kept the books of a box factory, and by a strange chance boarded with an aristocratic family. The result was many a conflict between duty and pleasure." — The Baptist.

King's Daughter (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Links in Rebecca's Life. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The Golden Texts of the International Lessons for the year become each in turn a link in the chain of the heroine's religious life; drawing her closer to the Saviour, and becoming incorporated into her inmost experience and growth. It will be an example and inspiration to young girls." — The Advance, Chicago.

Little Card (The). 12mo, $.50.

One of the most irresistible stories by which Mrs. Alden enforces the truth and power of the Golden Texts in her own peculiarly magnetic way.

Little Fishers and Their Nets. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A home degraded by intemperance. Two faithful little "fishers," Nan and Jerry, bring to that home even more than its former happiness.

"The characterization of the story is vivid, impressive, and always well sustained, while the moral lessons are remarkably forcible." — Chicago Interior.

Man of The House (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The Man of the House" is a boy of ten, who after his father's death cares for his mother and sister.

Mary Burton Abroad. 12mo, illustrated. $.75.

Miss Dee Dunmore Bryant. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Miss Priscilla Hunter and My Daughter Susan. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"Miss Priscilla Hunter was a young person who took upon herself the task of raising money to pay off the church debt, and the author describes in a charming manner her struggles and final success." — The Pilot, Boston.

Monteagle. 16mo, illustrated, $.75.

A pale, hollow-eyed little girl, emaciated by fever, in scorching July weather among the crowded tenements of of a Southern city is, thanks to a lady's kindness, given a chance to know Monteagle, with its pure, bracing mountain air, and the good she did was greater perhaps than the good she got.

Mrs. Harry Harper's Awakening. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Mrs. Solomon Smith Looking On. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Mrs. Solomon Smith is an old lady from the country who visits the city, attends a Sunday-school convention, and goes the rounds among her relatives, "looking on" to see what is being done in the great outside world to which she is unaccustomed.

New Graft on The Family Tree (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"Let not older ones suppose this book designed for children only; for they may be instructed quite as much as the young. The circumstances and the achievements of this story are not overdrawn; its characters are often met with in real life, and the scene may lie more or less in every family." — The Independent, New York.

New Year's Tangles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Next Things. 12mo, fully illustrated, $1.00.

A story for little folks.

One Commonplace Day. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"For a novel avowedly written with a purpose in view, 'One Commonplace Day' must be pronounced a success." — Public Opinion, London.

Only Ten Cents. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This is one of "Pansy's" stories that has that peculiar touch which is both fascinating and stimulating to the old as well as the young. It shows how great good a little thing may do.

Pansies. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Pansy (The). Bound Volumes. Boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75. Edited by Mrs. G. R. Alden.

The Pansy is an illustrated monthly containing from thirty-five to forty pages of reading matter. It is devoted to young folks from eight to fifteen years, and its contributors are among the best writers for the young. It is as fragrant and bright-eyed as its namesake-flower. The same enduring daintiness and cheery quality belong to both book and blossom. Many story volumes are gathered between its handsome covers.

Prince of Peace (The): A Life of Christ. By Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy). With more than 200 illustrations. 4to, cloth, $3.50; gilt edges, $4.00; leather, gilt edges, $5.00.

This book is the result of a life-study of the character and teachings of Jesus by one who by her stories has been eminently successful in leading young people to seek and follow the path that leads to the Saviour.

Pansy's Scrap Book. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Pansy's Stories of American History. Edited. 4to, boards, with tinted frontispiece, $1.00.

Pansy's Story Book. 4to, illustrated, boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.75.

Pocket Measure (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The duty of giving according to one's means to church and charity, and of consistent Christian daily living, is the theme of the book. . . . Church missions and church debts figure prominently, and several sharp thrusts are dealt at modern methods of conducting the former and paying the latter." — Chicago Interior.

Randolphs (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A continuation of "Wise and Otherwise."

"It is written in that style which has given the author a well-deserved reputation as a writer, and is full of bright and sparkling thoughts." — Dayton Life Boat.

Ruth Erskine's Crosses. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"This is the continuance of the 'Chautauqua Girls,' and breathes the same aroma of beauty of thought and subtle charm as the author's previous stories." — Pittsburg Telegraph.

Side by Side. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Sidney Martin's Christmas. 12mo, illustrated. $1.50.

"A splendidly illustrated volume of six hundred pages. It consists of a series of stories written with a special adaptation to the Christmas season, and all of them are specially suited to cosey fireside reading." — Boston Book Bulletin.

Six Little Girls. 12mo, illustrated. $.75.

They were really a miniature Society of Christian Endeavor with both active and associate members, but did not bear the name, for it had not then been invented. Pansy here evinces a fine appreciation of some of the phases of child-religion.

Six O'Clock in The Evening. 16mo, illustrated, $.50.

Not six o'clock every evening, but every Saturday evening. This was grandma's hour with the children, and nothing was allowed to interfere with it. She always told them a story about some verse in the Bible. Here are a part of them in print. They are the next best thing to a real grandma for little folks who have none of their own.

Some Young Heroines. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Spun From Fact. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A young girl, Jeannie Bartlett, through a long and painful illness became, as was supposed, crippled for life. A time is set for a season of united prayer in the sick room. One eager, heartfelt prayer follows another; and at the close the invalid, full of faith, and endowed with a new and wonderful strength, rises to her feet and walks with a firm step across the floor.

"In the minor details of this book, I have had of necessity to draw somewhat on my imagination; but every item of importance, every reference to prayer as a constant factor in this life, every account of answer to prayer, however improbable in its sound, is strict truth." — PANSY.

Stephen Mitchell's Journey. 12mo, $1.50.

"Pansy's earnestness and fervor are magnetic; and readers of all religious sects, and of no creed, are charmed by her strong, helpful stories." — Home Journal, Boston.

Stories and Pictures From The Life of Jesus. 12mo, 24 full-page illustrations, by Bida, $.75.

The birth, life, teachings, death, and resurrection of Christ as recorded in the four Gospels, simplified and unified for children.

Stories Told for a Purpose. 12mo, $.75.

A collection of Pansy's short stories, and very delightful they are. Pansy can put a volume of wisdom into a short story, and make it so bright and magnetic that the children will all wish it was longer.

Three People. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A temperance story of great power and interest. The book details the experience of three boys born under vastly different circumstances. As they grow to manhood they are sorely tempted and sometimes yield; but when they learn to lean not on themselves, but on God, they gain a lasting victory. The story is especially valuable in that it describes the different forms which the drink temptation may assume.

Tip Lewis and His Lamp. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

This capital story was one of the first from Pansy's prolific pen; and so bright was it, so pure and so healthy in tone, that it sprang at once into popularity. The story is deeply interesting, the style is fascinating, and the lesson it teaches is skilfully mingled with the incident.

Twenty Minutes Late. 12mo, $1.50.

The title only indicates the accidental cause out of which came potent results for good, the young heroine rising superior to circumstances, and unconsciously making a great change in the lives of others.

Two Boys. Choice stories in large print, with numerons full-page pictures. 12mo, $.75.

"Wanted." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The moral of this story is two-fold: an exposure of the horrid effect of the opium habit, and a plea for stepmothers. The plot is well-developed, the characters are well-drawn, and the interest keenly sustained until the end.

We Twelve Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $.50.

What She Said and What She Meant, and People Who Haven't Time and Can't Afford It. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"It shows under the form of a story what serious consequences may result from lightly considered words, and how the habit of enlarging and commenting upon careless or thoughtless expressions may endanger friendships, create strife, and turn good feeling into bitterness." — Boston Book Bulletin.

What They Couldn't. A home story. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

A characteristic and natural story of the ups and downs, the awakenings and re-awakenings, of an average family amid average surroundings, with their emancipation from the selfish and thoughtless views of duty into the higher and nobler appreciation of life and its obligations. A book that will do good; a book to be read; a book that will be read.

Wise and Otherwise. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A continuation of the lives of the characters in "Ester Ried" and "Julia Ried." Mrs. Alden has a thorough appreciation of a church's "domestic troubles;" and the satire in this story is not of malice, but of earnest purpose — a purpose to show how such troubles may be avoided by the determined exercise of a spirit of Christian charity.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY), and FAYE HUNTINGTON.

Dr. Deane's Way, and Other Stories. 12mo, $1.25.

From Different Standpoints. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Modern Prophets. Interesting and effective Temperance stories for the times. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

That Boy Bob. 12mo, $.75.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY) and Mrs. LIVINGSTON.

Aunt Hannah, and Martha, and John. 12mo, $1.50.

The story has to do with the trials, joys, and perplexities of a minister's life, and is decidedly pointed, graphic, and full of interest. Both pastor and people will find valuable suggestions and food for thought.

Divers Women. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

John Remington, Martyr. 12mo, $1.50.

The hero of this stirring story is a brave, earnest, conscientious minister who has "the courage of his convictions," and in spite of opposition, is not afraid to speak his mind on intemperance and kindred evils.

Profiles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A collection of stories for boys and girls of about twelve or fourteen. Six are from Mrs. Alden's pen, seven from Mrs. Livingston's.

"Each story is bright and attractive, and each will be pronounced the best ever told by its popular writer until the next one is finished. We would give the work additional praise if we knew how." — Chicago Interior.

ALDEN, Mrs. G. R. (PANSY) and Others.

At Home and Abroad. 12mo, $1.00.

Short stories of life in this and other countries. Just the book for spare minutes when there is not time for a long story. The dainty cover, with its purple pansies and golden ferns, is a delight in itself.

Bobby's Wolf and Other Stories. Fully illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

Here is a collection of bright stories such as boys and girls enjoy; stories culled with loving judgment from the pages of that model magazine for young folks, The Pansy, which will prove a mine of enjoyment to the boy or girl into whose hands they may fall. They are not one whit less entertaining from the earnest thought that runs through them all.

Sevenfold Trouble (A). 12mo, $1.50.

Worth Having. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Strong, terse, bright, and helpful. Just such stories as help boys and girls to be true men and women.

Young Folks Worth Knowing. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

ALDEN, G. R. (A. C. ROSSENBERG).

Glimpses of Boyhood. 12mo, $.50.

ALDEN, RAYMOND M.

A World of Little People. illustrated, 12mo, $.50.

In this little volume the author gives an exhaustive description of ant-life, making the ants themselves the characters of the story, and the ant-hills of the various tribes the scenes of the incidents described. Incidentally there is a good deal of interesting information given about other insects and their curious habits.

ALDEN, W. L.

Loss of the Swansea. 12mo, $1.00.

The story of two plucky boys' adventure amid shipwreck, pirates, and Indians. Told by the author of the famous "Adventures of Jimmy Brown."

ALLEN, FRED. H.

Columbus; or, THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Cortes; or, THE DISCOVERY AND CONQUEST OF MEXICO. Edited. With a brief sketch of the more recent history of the country. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Pizarro; or, THE CONQUEST OF PERU. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

ALLEN, GRANT.

Common-Sense Science. 12mo, $1.25.

"It will do equally for the professional naturalist, the reader who seeks a pleasant entertainment, and the happy young men and women who want an introduction to the study of nature. Mr. Allen is fully abreast of natural history — not a slight achievement — and he is one of the most delightful essayists of our time, combining German scholarship with British sense and French grace." — Boston Beacon.

"No more thought-compelling book can be placed in the hands of an intelligent, ambitious young man or woman than this." — Chicago Tribune.

Wednesday the Tenth. A tale of the South Pacific. 12mo, $.75.

A thrilling boy's story of hardship and adventure and fortunate deliverance among the islands of the Southern Pacific Ocean.

ALLEN, STANTON P.

Down in Dixie. Illustrated by H. G. Laskey. Cloth, $2.25.

One of the brightest, most direct, realistic, stirring, and entertaining accounts of the daily life of the soldier boys of '61 that has yet been written. It gives the details of life in a cavalry regiment from Bull Run to Appomattox, and is bubbling over with fun, while at the same time the pathos and patriotism of the old war days find practical expression. The notes of the bugle, the tramp of war horses, the rush of the battle-field, and the stir of the camp live in all its pages.

ALLEN, WILLIS BOYD.

"Mr. Willis Boyd Allen is one of our finest writers of juvenile fiction. There is an open frankness in Mr. Allen's characters which render them quite as novel as they are interesting, and his simplicity of style makes the whole story as fresh and breezy as the pine woods themselves." — Boston Herald.

Camp and Tramp Series. Including LOST IN UMBAGOG, THE MAMMOTH HUNTERS.

Cloud and Cliff. 12mo, $1.00.

Summer days at the White Mountains; plenty of incident, fun, and romance.

Gulf and Glacier. The Percivals in Alaska. 12mo, $1.00.

The jolly party of young people who have camped out in the woods of Maine, and along the seashore at the Isles of Shoals, or among the mountains of New Hampshire, now extend their excursion to Alaska, where they see even more novel sights, and undertake more perilous trips.

John Brownlow's Folks. 12mo, $1.00.

John Brownlow's Folks are a simple-hearted country family who have moved up to the city (Boston), but retain many characteristics of rural life.

Kelp. A story of the Isles of Shoals. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

This is another in the Pine Cone Series, and introduces the same characters. Their adventures are now on a lonely little island, one of the Shoals, where they camp out and have a glorious time, not unmarked by certain perilous episodes which heighten the interest of the story. It is really the best of a series of which all are delightful reading for young people.

"It is a healthful, clean, bright book, which will make the blood course healthfully through the veins of young readers." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Lion City of Africa (The). Cloth, $2.25.

A tale of adventure in Central Africa, full of interesting description and exciting narrative. A story of savages, dwarfs, exploration, and discovery.

Lost on Umbagog. 12mo, cloth, illustrated, $.75.

A story of how four boys, who camped out during their mid-winter vacation, got snowed in, and the adventures they had with bears and outlaws. Intensely interesting.

Mammoth Hunters (The). An Alaskan story. Illustrated by Hatfield. 12mo, $.75.

This is the second volume in the delightful "Camp and Tramp Series." Three boys go to Alaska to search for prehistoric ivory, and there discover an enormous mammoth of the antediluvian days. The story of their adventures is stirring from the start, and is sure to attract and enlighten all lovers of stories of incident, accident, and successful effort.

Northern Cross (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"'The Northern Cross,' a story of the Boston Latin School, by Willis Boyd Allen, is a capital book for boys. Beginning with a drill upon Boston Common, the book continues with many incidents of school life. There are recitations, with their successes and failures, drills, and exhibitions. Over all is Dr. Francis Gardner, the stern, eccentric, warm-hearted head master, whom once to meet was to remember forever! The idea of the Northern Cross for young crusaders gives an imaginary tinge to the healthy realism." — Boston Journal.

Pine Cone Series. Including PINE CONES, SILVER RAGS, NORTHERN CROSS, CLOUD AND CLIFF, KELP, GULF AND GLACIER.

Pine Cones. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"'Pine Cones' sketches the adventures of a dozen wide-awake boys and girls in the woods, along the streams, and over the mountains. It is good, wholesome reading that will make boys nobler and girls gentler. It is a breezy, joyous, entertaining book, and we commend it to our young readers." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Silver Rags. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"'Silver Rags' is a continuation of 'Pine Cones,' and is quite as delightful reading as its predecessor. The story describes a jolly vacation in Maine; and the sayings and doings of the city boys and girls are varied by short stories, supposed to be told by a good-natured 'Uncle Will.'" — The Watchman, Boston.

AMBROSI, MARIETTA.

Italian Child-Life. 12mo, $.75.

Marietta was a real Italian child, whose parents lived for a time in America, but afterwards returned to Italy. Her naïve descriptions of home life, the curious incidents which have such a delicious foreign flavor, the games, the fêtes, the friends she associated with, are all true to the life.

ANDERSEN, HANS CHRISTIAN.

Fairy Tales. 12mo, $.75.

ATHLETICS (THE BOOK OF). A practical book of directions for lovers of amateur out-of-door athletics, prepared by well-known amateurs and college team-captains. 8vo, fully illustrated, $1.50. Edited by Norman W. Bingham, Jr., manager of the Mott Haven Team, 1895.

A book that every one who loves sport will wish to have. It covers points and directions by experts and famous amateurs on the leading athletic sports, — football, base-ball, tennis, golf, sprinting, and track athleties, cricket, croquet, bicycling, yachting, etc. No other book occupies precisely the field that this fills.

ATKINSON, MARY E.

Hester's Happy Summer. One of the $500 Prize Stories. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Rose and Millie. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A pretty picture of domestic life, the two heroines forming a contrast throughout which carries with it lessons in thoughtfulness, delicacy, and consideration for others. Such books do much to disarm selfishness, and bring into every-day use the sweetness and grace that are in every child's nature.

ARNOLD, EDWIN.

Birthday Book. Edited by the poet's daughters. 24mo, gilt edges, $1.25; morocco, $2.50; seal, $2.50.

It contains an autograph introductory poem by Edwin Arnold, and choice quotations from his poems for every day. The many admirers of the "Light of Asia" will gladly welcome this graceful souvenir of the author, which is handsomely illustrated and daintily finished. Mr. Arnold contributes an original poem for each month.

ARTISTS' GALLERY (THE). New edition. 8vo, half-leather, $3.00; full leather, $5.00.

A rare collection illustrative of famous and representative paintings of such noted artists as Landseer, Millet, Rosa Bonheur, Sir Frederick Leighton, and Bouguereau. With interesting biographies of the artists, and analysis of each painting.

BAILY, Rev. THOMAS L.

Only Me. 12mo, $1.25.

"A half-starved, half-frozen boy is taken home by a watchman, and the story follows him through early years and through his experience as bound boy on a farm, and his subsequent starting in life in a store in the city where he rises to be confidential clerk, and at last partner in the firm." — National Baptist, Phila.

Possibilities. 12mo, $1.25.

A new teacher, with a mind and method of her own, is engaged for a term for a country school; and she sets at work with a determination to revolutionize the existing condition of things. It requires a good deal of tact and management to enlist parents and pupils in her plans; but she does it by quiet persistence, and the end of the term sees not only a remarkable change in the school, but in the village itself.

BAINBRIDGE, ELIZABETH G.

Schoolroom Games and Exercises. Compiled and written. 135 pages, cloth, $1.00.

It contains a large number of devices for awakening interest in geography and history, spelling, and composition, arithmetic, special hours and days, calisthenics, and twenty-nine puzzles and problems with key. Useful and entertaining, not only for the school, but for the home and social circle.

BAKER, ELLA M.

Rite Hollis. A delightful holiday book. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

Seven Easter Lilies. 12mo, $1.25.

A story for girls, pure, sweet, and full of encouragement. The story tells what became of seven Easter lilies which were tended by as many different hands in different homes, and how they affected those homes by the silent lessons they taught.

Soldier and Servant. 12mo, $1.25.

"A pretty and helpful story of girl life. Six or seven girls band themselves together to cultivate their talents in the best possible manner, and to let their light shine whenever and wherever they can. The girls vary greatly, but each one is determined to do her best with the material that the Lord has given her. Their several successes and failures are told, and many lessons are drawn from their work." — Golden Rule, Boston.

BAMFORD, MARY E.

Look-About Club. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.50; boards, $1.25.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

"The Look-About Club is a party of children who know very little about natural history. They form a little natural history club with the aim of finding out new facts about animals, insects, and other living creatures, and their father presides over their investigations, rendering occasional advice and instruction. The book is very bright and readable, and crammed with curious facts illustrative of the intelligence of the lower orders of animal life." — Boston Times.

"It is pleasantly written, and is among the best of the books we have seen which are intended to interest small children in natural history." — The Nation, New York.

My Land and Water Friends. 4to, boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.50. Nearly two hundred original drawings by L. J. Bridgman.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

An out-door book giving delicious little accounts of strange and familiar creatures.

"She has not only imparted a vast deal of intensely interesting information about the common insects and animals which we meet with every day, but by making them tell their own story she has invested them with a personality which will make children more humane in their treatment of them." — Boston Transcript.

Second Year of The Look-About Club (The). 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.50.

The Look-About Club, grown wiser and more observing by the first year's experience in the study of natural history, take up the work of the second year with a zest that brings them a large measure of success.

BELL, Mrs. LUCIA CHASE.

True Blue. 12mo, 10 illustrations by Merrill. $1.25.

The scene is laid in the far West, and the incidents are such as could only occur in a newly developed country, where even children are taught to depend upon themselves.

"Doe, the warm-hearted impulsive heroine of the story, is an original character, and one whose ways are well worth copying by those who read her adventures and experiences." — Detroit Post.

BENEDICT, ANNE K.

My Wonder Story. 4to, cloth, illustrated, $1.50; boards, $1.25.

"If a child happens to ask a question about his own bones, or about muscles and nerves, etc., the father and mother are wise indeed if they are able to give him exact information. But this book will do it, and that, too, without the use of many technical or scientific terms. It is a simple, plain recital of how an imaginary mother explained to her Jack and Florence all they cared or needed to know concerning the structure of the human frame." — Chicago Interior.

BAXTER, Rev. RICHARD.

Saints' Rest. 16mo, $1.00.

A popular edition of one of the religious classics.

BENJAMIN, S. G. W.

Our American Artists. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

An enticing volume of sprightly biographic sketches of a dozen of our rising and risen painters. These are illustrated with portraits and with fine engravings of the painters' studios, and specimens of their work, the pictures being made especially for the series, and many of them from designs by the artists whom the articles represent. These are William H. Beard, Albert F. Bellows, Robert Swain Gifford, William M. Chase, the late Sanford R. Gifford, Walter Shirlaw, John J. Enneking, Thomas W. Wood, Samuel Coleman, Wordsworth Thompson, George L. Brown, and David Neal.

BENTON, MRS. J. R.

How to Cook Well. 12mo, $1.25.

This thoroughly practical cook-book will be warmly welcomed by all housekeepers, who will find it a valuable aid and guide in the kitchen. The writer has aimed not only to give a large collection of valuable receipts, but also to teach cooking, and likewise, by arranging departments for Breakfast, Luncheon, Dinner, and Tea, to present suggestions to those housekeepers who find themselves taxed to make variety in the different meals. The style of cooking is for the most part adapted to people of moderate means, and especial attention has been paid to showing how to use remnants from a former meal in a tempting manner. Full index.

BERRY, ABEL B.

Last Penacook (The). A Tale of Provincial Times. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

It takes the reader back to the period just before the Revolutionary war. A member of the once powerful Indian tribe of the Penacooks plays a prominent part in the story. The main interest hinges on the stealing of a child, the heir to a large property, and her discovery years afterward on one of the small islands in Lake Winnepesaukee. A number of historical characters are introduced, the principal being Governor John Wentworth, the younger, of Portsmouth, N. H.

"The single Indian whose fidelity it records is a character that deserves to rank with Cooper's 'Uncas, the Last of the Mohicans.'" — Boston Budget.

BINGHAM, NORMAN W., Editor.

See ATHLETICS (The Book of).

BISBEE, MARIANA M.

Tent V. Chautauqua. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Mollie, Marjorie, and Frank Van Amringes take a great fancy to spending a summer at Chautauqua, through reading Pansy's "Hall in the Grove." Their mother is finally infected with their enthusiasm, and it is decided the family shall summer there in place of Saratoga or Newport. The father's illness at the last moment prevents the mother going, and the children are permitted to travel to Chautauqua alone, in charge of Mollie, the eldest.

BISBEE, MRS. SUSIE A.

Ben Gilbert's Victory. 12mo, $.75.

"Ben is an orphan, whose home, after his twelfth year, is with an uncle and aunt. His victory is gained by overcoming the aunt's established prejudice against boys, whom she considers in the light of irresponsible mischief-makers." — Sunday-School Times, Phila.

Daisy Green Stories (The). 12mo, $.75.

A mother's account of her own Daisy's goings on. The author confesses as much.

"Many mothers will smile in turning over its pages to find things which they might have written out of their experiences and memories, so much are children alike." — San José Times.

Milly's Little Wanderer. 12mo, $1.25.

A sweet story, sweetly told, of how a loving and lovable little girl welcomed a less fortunate one to her heart and house, thus bringing a blessing upon herself and her parents." — School Journal, New York.

BISCOE, ELLEN L.

Glimpses Through. ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Katherine's Experience. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The story of a conflict between human love and love for God. It was a hard battle for a young soul to fight, but strength was given from above and right came off victor. The result was that human and divine love came at length into harmony. Katty was repaid sevenfold for her past grief.

BLACK, ALEXANDER.

Ohio, Story of. 8vo, $1.50; half-leather. Illustrated by Bridgman. $2.00.

BOLTON, SARAH K.

How Success is Won. 12mo, $1.00.

A fine portrait accompanies each biography.

"Short sketches of the lives of Peter Cooper, Johns Hopkins, the poet Whittier, William Hunt, Thomas Edison, Gough, John Wanamaker, and a few others. No better book could be put into the hands of young people." — Boston Traveller.

Social Studies in England. 12mo, illustrated. $1.00.

"'Social Studies in England' is packed with interesting matter concerning the efforts in progress in that country for the education of women and the dispensation of charity. Mrs. Bolton spent two years in England investigating the subjects of which she treats, and had access to all sources of information relating to them." — Chicago Dial.

Some Successful Women. Illustrated with portraits. 12mo, $1.00.

It consists of twelve brief biographies of American women who have in various walks and professions earned success so marked as to make their names familiar to every household in the country, and who have done much to inspire others of their sex to follow in their footsteps. Among them are Marion Harland (Mrs. Terhune); Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy); Clara Barton, the philanthropist; Alice Freeman, ex-president of Wellesley College; Rachel Bodley, dean of the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia; Frances E. Willard, the temperance reformer; Mrs. Candace Wheeler and her daughter Dora, leaders in decorative art; with others who have gained equally distinguished places in other departments of art, literature, and industry." — Boston Transcript.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

BOURNE, BENJAMIN.

Captive in Patagonia (The); or, Life among the Giants. A Personal Narrative. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

BOYD, PLINY STEELE.

Up and Down the Merrimac. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

BOYDEN, ANNA L.

War Reminiscences. A record of Mrs. Rebecca R. Pomroy's experience in war-times. 12mo, $.75.

BOYESEN, HJALMAR HJORTH,

Vagabond Tales. Square 12mo, $1.25.

A collection of characteristic novelettes by one of the most entertaining and most popular of modern story-tellers. No writer living — scarcely excepting even the great Bjornson — so thoroughly understands the Norse character, and when into this is infused the American element, the success of Prof. Boyesen's tales is easily understood. There is a breeziness, a vigor, and a manliness about his characters that captivate the reader at once, and combine dramatic force with literary skill. The stories included in this volume are: Crooked John; A Child of the Age; Monk Tellenbach's Exile; A Disastrous Partnership; Liberty's Victim; A Perilous Incognito; Charity.

BOYNTON, HENRY.

World's Greatest Conflict (The). 12mo, $1.25.

BOY'S WORKSHOP (A). By a boy and his friends. With an introduction by Henry Randall Waite. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

"Written by 'a boy and his friends,' it takes you right into A Boy's Workshop; tells you how to make and to use a saw-horse and a work-bench; how to use tools and to care for them; lets you into the secret of book-rests, foot-rests, tables, cabinets, catch-alls, etc.; shows you how to build wooden tents, make a fernery, construct a railway and train, bind magazines, take photographs, tie knots, and do a great many other things. It is a book that every boy would like to have, and that he ought to have." — Advance, Chicago.

BRADLEY, MRS. M. E.

Grace's Visit; or, The Wrong Way to cure a Fault. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

Brave Girls. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Young people will not be disappointed when they open this book and read about Glen Hastings, Kate Oxford, Sharly Raymond, and Bessy May — brave girls every one, but in divers ways.

BRIDGMAN, L. J.

Odd Business. Quarto, cloth, $1.25.

Mr. Bridgman's skill in combining the most amusing conceit with bright little touches of wisdom is almost unrivalled. His pictures are never pointless, and they are wonderfully attractive in their versatile drollery.

BRISTOL, MRS. MARY C.

Alice Sutherland. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE S.

"Mr. Brooks has the rare faculty of combining history and fiction so that each shall happily play into the hands of the other. The story makes the history interesting. Mr. Brooks does this deliberately, because it is his aim to do this very thing; and we know of no writer of stories for young people (or for old people either, for that matter) who understands better how to mix these two elements so that they shall not seek to instruct too much or to entertain too little." — Brooklyn Times.

Columbus, Christopher (The True Story of), called the Admiral. Told for youngest readers. 4to, decorated cover, cloth, fully illustrated, $1.50.

A simple, most attractive, and highly entertaining sketch of the life and labors of the discoverer of America.

Great Cities of the World. Edited. Large quarto, cloth, full gilt, $2.50.

A practical, descriptive, and picturesque panorama of the world's larger cities, full of valuable information, and compiled with care and ability. Profusely illustrated.

Indian (The Story of the American). 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $2.25. In neat library binding at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Indian is included in the work.

"The volume does not belong to the familiar type of boys' books of adventure among the Redskins, but is a thorough compendium of archæology, history, present standing and outlook of our nation's wards. It is clearly and concisely written, and embodies a vast deal of pertinent information." — Literary World, Boston.

In Leisler's Time. 12mo, illustrated by W. T. Smedley, $1.50.

"The story is one of Knickerbocker New York, two hundred years ago, and is designed to do justice to the memory of the attainted and ill-fated Governor Leisler. It is a good boys' book; manly, patriotic, and readable." — Independent, New York.

In No-Man's Land. With seventy-two pen-and-ink character drawings by Hassam. 12mo, $1.00.

Ruthie, the little heroine, is a similar creation to little Alice, the heroine of "Alice in Wonderland." Ruthie begins her journey in a horse-car, apparently falls asleep, and then her adventures begin. A squirrel and a billy-goat accompany her with many jests and puns to the jumping-off place, a little leap from which brings her into "No-Man's Land," where all the games live. The incidents and characters here are all on the marvellous, and related with a keen sense of fun.

"Mr. E. S. Brooks's 'In No-Man's Land' sparkles all over with glee. The pages bristle with jests and quips and puns. There is not a dull line in the book. The author has not labored over his conceits; they were spontaneous, and therefore natural and buoyant and fresh." — The Dial, Chicago.

Longfellow Remembrance Book. Edited. Illustrated. Square 12mo, gilt, in box, $1.25.

A book of biography and reminiscence compiled from various sources. An attractive reminder of the favorite American poet.

New York (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated by Bridgman. $1.50.

(Vol. I. of "The Story of the States" Series.)

"A story of the beginnings and of the marvelous development of what has come to be the Empire State of America. The dull matters Mr. Brooks leaves for the antiquarian to dwell upon in detail, while he devotes more attention to the romantic, the heroic, with which the history of every State in the American Union abounds." — Boston Traveller.

"The narrative is more like a charming fireside legend told by a grandfather to eager children, than the dry and pompous chronicles commonly labelled 'history.' Having already digested the writings of the experts — historians, novelists, and philosophers — who have studied and written upon New Netherlands and Colonial, Revolutionary, and modern New York, Mr. Brooks proceeds to tell a good story." — Critic, New York.

Recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States for their public school libraries.

Out-of-doors with Tennyson. Edited. Large quarto, cloth, $2.50.

A profusely illustrated volume, comprising selections from the poems of Lord Tennyson, descriptive of pastoral scenes, with an introduction devoted to the earlier homes and haunts of England's laureate. Illustrated with views of the rural places made famous by Tennyson's verse, and with many appropriate and characteristic pictures.

Sailor (The Story of the American). Uniform with the "Story of the American Indian." Illustrated. 8vo, $2.25. In neat library edition at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Sailor is included in the work.

The complete story of Jack's daring endeavor and achievement from prehistoric times to the days of the "Brave Old Salt" and the yacht Volunteer. The result of much study and careful research, it is nevertheless as dashing, as brilliant, as picturesque as Jack himself, when Jack is at his best. As the first consecutive account ever attempted, it will appeal to all lovers of blue water and to all admirers of the exploits of American seamen.

Soldier (The Story of the American). Uniform with "The Story of the American Sailor." 8vo, illustrated, $2.25. In neat library binding at same price.

A list of the best hundred books on the American Soldier is included in the work.

Like "The Story of the American Sailor," this book seeks to weld into a consecutive narrative the deeds and progress of the fighting men of America from the earliest days to the present time. Mound-builders and Indians, Spanish conquistadores and colonial volunteers, minute-men and Continentals, the defenders of 1812, the men of the Mexican War and the "Boys of '61" find their appropriate place. The result is an entertaining and connected narrative, spiced with anecdote, lighted up with deeds of heroism, and so mixing statistic with story, and description with detail, as to give a picturesque but practical record of the doings of the American soldier, both in war and peace.

Storied Holidays. Illustrated by Howard Pyle. 12mo, $1.50.

"It was a happy thought to take the holidays of the year, from Christmas to Thanksgiving, connect each with some picturesque event in history, and then tell the story in terse and forcible English. The result is a contribution to the literature of Romance — a book for buying and keeping, that the children, as they grow up, and the parents, too, may dip into and read." — Sunday-school Times, Phila.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

Tennyson Remembrance Book. Compiled. Illustrated with portraits and other cuts. Square 12mo, gilt, in box, $1.25.

A charming memorial of the poet, giving interesting glimpses of his home life, with tributes from English and American authors.

United States of America (Story of the). Told for young people. 4to, cloth, profusely illustrated, $1.50

A clear, concise, and comprehensive account of the development and growth of the Great American Republic. The story of the people rather than of wars and individuals.

Adopted for supplementary reading in schools, and accepted as the most popular "story" of the United States.

Washington, George (The True Story of), called the Father of His Country. Told for youngest readers. Fully illustrated, 4to, cloth, $1.50.

This is the second and latest volume in the "Children's Lives of Great Men." It tells the story of Washington in direct, simple, practical, patriotic, and truthful style, and should easily become the standard "Children's Life" of the greatest and purest of Americans.

BROWN, E. E.

Cheerful Words. From the writings of George MacDonald. Edited. With a biographical introduction by James T. Fields. 12mo, $1.00.

"As a novelist, an essayist, a poet, and preacher he stands always in broad sunlight, and no dark shadow ever rests upon the dial of his pure and healthy inspiration. . . . It must be a very remote corner of America indeed where the writings of George MacDonald would not only be known but ardently loved." — JAMES T. FIELDS, in Introduction.

From Night to Light. Illustrated, 12mo, $1.00.

A thrilling story of Israelitish Bible times.

Garfield, James A. (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Next to Abraham Lincoln, Garfield is the most loved of any man who has served the country. Others have been more admired for brilliancy of intellectual powers, but these two men have kindled the adoration of the peoples' hearts, because they were close to the people.

Grant, General U. S. (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"A biography of Grant, which is a plain and clearly told consecutive narrative, circumstantial, but not too much elaborated in detail." — N. O. Times Democrat.

Holmes, Oliver Wendell (Life of). Illustrated, 12mo, $1.25.

The author had the sanction of Dr. Holmes, and received direct from him fresh and authentic data. After his death the volume was revised and enlarged.

"One of those gossipy biographical works which give to the general reader a far more clearly defined notion of its subject than a much more labored and critical work would. It simply presents to the reader the personality of its subject, takes the public into his house, tells a multitude of anecdotes about himself and his books, and makes liberal quotations from his writings wherever, in the opinion of the author, these illustrate his life, his character, or the aims and ends of his thought." — Chicago Times.

Living Truths. From the writings of Charles Kingsley. Edited. With an introduction by W. D. Howells. 12mo, $1.00; holiday binding, gilt top, $1.25.

Lowell, James Russell (Life of). 12mo, $1.00.

After an account of Mr. Lowell's ancestry, the author goes on to his boyhood and student life, touches lightly the short if unproductive period when he was finding his vocation, and skims along his earlier work till the hero appears with the "Biglow Papers." From this time on the story is told chiefly by Lowell and his friends. By the first, through his letters and books; by the latter, through many interesting interviews. Rich in anecdotes and new details of Lowell's public and private life.

Might of Right (The). Selections from W. E. Gladstone. Introduction by Ex-Governor Long of Massachusetts. 12mo, $1.00.

"The Christian Union has made no secret of its admiration for the genius, intellectual and moral, of Mr. Gladstone, and we are glad to see some of his thoughts put in this form for readers who might not be attracted to his longer writings. The selections have been made with discretion, and are inspiring for the spare minutes for which they are avowedly made." — Christian Union, New York.

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for all the school libraries.

Thoughts That Breathe. Selected from the writings of Dean Stanley. With an introduction by Phillips Brooks. 12mo, $1.00.

"The character of those writings of the Dean of Westminster which are best known among us, makes them perhaps especially suitable for the purposes of this volume. They are historical. They are full of the vivid interest which belongs to the most sacred or the most romantic scenes in the history of our race. At the same time, no books are richer in the assertion and illustration of those principles of thought and action which are universal and eternal. To those who know the writings of Dean Stanley, it need not be said how largely his character pervades them, and the power which his character involves will be felt in these extracts, even separated, as they are, from the historical events by which they were suggested." — Rev. Phillips Brooks.

True Manliness. From the writings of Thomas Hughes. Edited. Introduction by James Russell Lowell. 12mo, $1.00.

"Many of Miss Brown's selections are from the 'Tom Brown' books; and what hearty, honest reading they are! That, in fact, seems to be the tone of all Mr. Hughes has ever written. Profoundly religious in the best sense; sincere and truthful; without pretence of any sort or cant of any kind; healthy, happy, and whole-souled, he is, on the whole, one of the best lay preachers who use the English tongue; a specimen man, whom we wish we might see multiplied by the thousand." — Literary World, Boston.

Washington (Life of). 12mo, 75 illustrations, $1.00.

In this life the reader finds just what interests him in Washington as boy and man, surveyor, soldier, and statesman. Its value as a history is enhanced by incidents and anecdotes, associating the facts and events with delicate touches of personal story.

BROWN, Dr. JOHN.

Rab and His Friends. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman. 4to, in box, $1.00.

A popular edition of a delightful classic.

BROWN, KATE L.

Interstate Second Reader. 198 pages, cloth, illustrated, $.60.

Just what the teachers have been looking for. Stories of child-life and nature, carefully graded.

BROWN, Rev. THERON.

The Blount Family; or, A Widow's Toil, Trust, and Triumph. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Walter Neil's Example. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The interest of the story is only equalled by the impressiveness of the example.

BROWNE, THEO. STEPHENSON.

In The Riding School. (Chats with Esmeraldo). 12mo, $1.00.

A series of practical, pungent, and minute papers on horseback riding for ladies, by one who thoroughly knows a horse and the correct method of horseback riding. The horsewoman's vade mecum.

BROWNING, ELIZABETH BARRETT.

Sonnets From The Portuguese. Edited with notes by W. J. Rolfe. Square 8vo, cloth, $1.50; half vegetable parchment, $2.00.

The venerable Dr. Peabody, writing of "Sonnets from the Portuguese," edited by W. J. Rolfe, says, "The volume — beautiful in its mechanical execution, and doing ample credit to the taste and enterprise of the publishers — shows the work of accomplished scholarship, superior critical discernment, and profound poetical feeling. I know no better editor than Mr. Rolfe for such poems as need an interpreter."

BROWNING, ROBERT.

Christmas Eve and Easter Day and Other Poems. Edited with notes and introduction by Heloise E. Hersey. Preface by W. J. Rolfe. 16mo, cloth, $.75; vegetable parchment, $1.00.

The poems are printed from the most recent text, and each has a brief introduction and explanatory notes. These are in the most direct and simple style. They aim only to explain difficult allusions and constructions.

George MacDonald says of Christmas Eve: "The poem is full of pathos and humor, full of beauty and grandeur, earnestness and truth."

"Christmas Eve, Easter Day, Saul, and the strange experience of Karshish, are widely dissimilar in their structure, but they form part of a constituent whole in the illustration of Browning's idea of immortality. As a comment upon these poems, Miss Hersey contributes an exceedingly clear and valuable introductory essay upon Browning's theory of personal immortality, in which she suggests the poet's use of scientific truth, and the insight with which he has given that truth a spiritual interpretation. Miss Hersey makes very clear, not only the poet's idea of personal immortality, but his idea of life under its present conditions as determining the direction and quality of personality. The essay is one which no lover of Browning will care to leave unread." — Christian Union.

BUCKLEY, J. M., D.D.

The Midnight Sun, The Land of The Tsar and The Nihilist. New and enlarged edition. 8vo, illustrated, $2.25.

"The journeyings cover nearly ten thousand miles in Norway, Sweden, and Russia, to the northernmost bounds of the continent, and include visits to the Loffoden Islands, Lapland, and all the principal cities of the great north country. Moscow, St. Petersburg, Poland, each has one or more chapters; customs, manners, religions, superstitions, social and political conditions, all come in for a share of attention. The study of Nihilism is made a specialty, and the four chapters devoted to this subject form the most valuable part of the work. Never before, we believe, have the causes, character, methods, and objects of this great conspiracy been set forth so clearly and fully before American readers." — New York Observer.

BULLARD, Rev. ASA, D.D.

Fifty Years with The Sabbath School. 12mo, $1.25.

BUNGENER, L. L. F.

Historical Series. From the French. These works are of thrilling interest, illustrating the religious struggles, heroism, and social life of the times of Louis XIV. and Louis XV. 4 vols., 12mo, illustrated, $4.00.

Bourdaloue and Louis XIV.
Louis XV. and His Times.
Rabaut and Bridaine, or the Court of Louis XV.
The Tower of Constancy.

BUNYAN, JOHN.

The Pilgrim's Progress, from this World to That which is to come. New edition with portrait. 12mo, large type, fully illustrated, cloth, Gothic cover, plain, $1.00; 16mo, Cambridge edition, gilt top, $1.00; 8vo, with Red Line, $2.50.

Contains an illustrated memoir of John Bunyan by Archdeacon Allen, and Macaulay's essay on the Pilgrim's Progress.

"This wonderful book is one of the few books which may be read repeatedly, at different times, and each time with a new and a different pleasure. I read it once as a theologian, and once with devotional feelings, and once as a poet." — Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

BURKE, S. J.

For Mack's Sake. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"It describes the life of a devoted sister who made every effort to enable her brother to become a true, noble man in the world. Her personal wishes were continually laid aside, and many a sacrifice was quietly accepted for 'Mack's sake.' Mack realized her hopes for him, and she was happy in his success." — Morning Star.

BURTON, MRS. B. F.

Year in The Country (A); or, Keilei's Missionary Work. 12mo, $1.25.

BUTCHER, S. H., M.A., Fellow and Prælector of University College, Oxford, and A. M. LANG, M.A., late Fellow of Merton College, Oxford.

Odyssey of Homer (The). Done into English prose. 12mo, $1.50.

"It is first of all a work of accurate scholarship, which aims at satisfying the literary sense; it is, besides, a work of art, in that it uses an older English style — what may roughly be called the English of the Bible — with the conscious aim of producing a certain effect." — London Athenæum.

"A translation which it would be hard to match for fidelity, vigor, and purity of style. — Chicago Tribune.

BUTTERWORTH, HEZEKIAH.

Christmas Book (The). 8vo, cloth, exquisitely illustrated, $2.00.

Great Composers. New edition, enlarged. Fully illustrated. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

This book contains short sketches or pen portraits of the different musical composers, written in Mr. Butterworth's fascinating style, and of interest to every one.

Notable Prayers of Christian History. 16mo, vellum, gilt top, $1.00.

"In this unique volume Mr. Butterworth has brought together a large amount of information, never before presented between the covers of a single book. Beginning with the prayer of Hezekiah, made in the temple at Jerusalem three thousand years ago, the compiler gives, in chronological order, prayers offered by famous men on notable occasions in times of famine, battle, and sore distress, together with the incidents attendant upon them. It will be welcomed everywhere by pastors and Sunday-school workers alike." — Boston Book Bulletin.

CAMPBELL, HELEN.

Anne Bradstreet (Her Life and Times). 12mo, $1.25.

The remarkable story of one of America's earliest women, told by one of the foremost of America's women-workers. Anne Bradstreet's influence on America's literature and life is but little known or appreciated, and Mrs. Campbell's volume is a valuable contribution to American biography.

CAPRON, MARY J.

Gold and Gilt. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Maybee's Stepping-Stones. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Mrs. Thorne's Guests. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Plus and Minus. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

CATHERWOOD, MARY HARTWELL.

The Dogberry Bunch. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A very merry story of seven plucky children who would hang together. They live in an Illinois village, and their mother and father are dead. They form an unique association to save money and keep themselves from being separated. But they do get separated, and the story goes on with all kinds of adventures by the dispersed Dogberry children. Their hearts, however, are united by love, and before we get through they are all together again in one closely connected bunch. There are thirty illustrations, and the book is a prize for any child." — Boston Journal of Commerce.

Old Caravan Days. 12mo, $1.25.

Rocky Fork. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The story of a few summer days in a little neighborhood of farmhouses of Central Ohio, long ago. . . . Mrs. Catherwood's people are all graciously attractive. The children must be known in their own woods and meadows. Theirs was a blessed world of happy 'make-believes,' when simple pleasures yet had charms." — Nation, New York.

Secrets at Roseladies. 12mo, $1.00.

Boyish visions of a dazzling crown of gold and a sealed jar brimful of yellow money materialize into a lot of dirty Indian bones and a kettle full of arrow heads. The scene of the digging is a Shawnee burying mound on the banks of the Lower Wabash.

"From first to last the story is so entirely American, so full of life and movement, and so dainty in diction, that we doubt if anything better in juvenile literature has been offered to the public for some time." — St. Louis Republic.

CHAMPNEY, LIZZIE W.

The Bubbling Teapot. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Flossy Tangleskein was an imaginative little girl who was so discontented with her "hum-drum-bread-and-butter-spelling-book, American child-life, that she even said to herself she would gladly change to a little Zulu savage, or an almond-eyed Oriental." One day she fell asleep in the studio of an artist friend, to whom she was posing for a picture of a Breton peasant child. In her dreams she had many adventures, and underwent many transformations, becoming in turn a child of almost every nation on the globe. She had thus a chance to test her wish, but returned to reality quite satisfied that to be a little American girl was about the best of all.

Entertainments. For concerts, exhibitions, parlor gatherings, church festivals. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Howling Wolf and His Trick-Pony. Illustrated by F. T. Merrill. 12mo, $1.25.

"It places before the young reader Indian manners and Indian character just as they are. It gratifies his craving for out-door freedom and out-door growth with just the scenes and actions to stimulate his nature. It sympathizes with his love of the horse, with one of the noblest type of the few that American fiction can show, and it places the Indian question in a manner to impress the old as well as the young with the duty of protection of the Indians. It is just the book for parents to remember and select." — Boston Globe.

In The Sky Garden. Illustrations by "Champ." Printed in colors. 12mo, $1.25.

A little book of fables of astronomy, written in the hope of interesting the small people and leading them to a study of its more fascinating truths. Tales of the zodiac, eclipses, training the pole-star, the tale of a comet, etc.

CHAPLIN, J. and J. D.

Sumner, Charles (Life of). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Charley Hope's Testament. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

CHELLIS, MARY DWINELL.

Good Work. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A deformed girl of beautiful face is left alone. At first in despair, then roused to a new purpose, she learns to support herself, and goes into a large tenement-house to live so as to help the people there. The purpose, spirit, and teaching are good" — Pilgrim Teacher.

Mystery of The Lodge. 12mo, $1.25.

A mystery, well-kept through almost four hundred pages of joys and sorrows and ups and downs of half a neighborhood, is solved at last, and there is freer breathing all round. The book is marked by its common-sense views of religion.

CHILDREN'S NONSENSE BOOK (THE). Tales and rhymes of fun, nonsense, and absurdity, by favorite fun-makers. 4to, illustrated, fancy covers, $1.50.

"Lear's Nonsense Book" has been read and re-read to tatters by countless children. This new Nonsense Book is in the same line of healthful absurdities in verse and story, and is sure to be welcomed and read by every fun-loving boy and girl. It is the work of the best-known writers of fun for children.

CHILDREN'S WONDER BOOK (THE). Tales of marvel, mystery, and merriment, by popular story-tellers. Illustrated, 4to, fancy cover, $1.50.

A collection of delightful stories of the "Alice in Wonderland" order, full of fun and fancy, surprises and sentiment, told in the most delicious way by some of the best and most famous writers of children's stories. A novel and attractive volume in the most popular department of story-telling.

CHOATE, LOWELL.

Romance of A Letter (The). 12mo, $1.00.

CHRISTMAS SNOWFLAKES. 4to, boards, $1.50.

A volume of young folks' poems selected from the writings of many American authors.

CHURCHILL, LIDA A.

My Girls. 12mo, paper, $.50; cloth, $1.00.

CLARK, KATE UPSON.

That Mary Ann. The story of a country summer. Illustrated by Maria L. Kirk. 12mo, $1.00.

A bright, original, entertaining home story for boys and girls. The girl-cousin and the four boys are capitally drawn, and the story has an abundance of incident and merry country life.

CLEMENT, CLARA ERSKINE.

The History of Egypt. 12mo, 100 illustrations, $1.50.

"Beginning with the earliest times, the Memphian period, 3000 or 4000 B.C., the author gives a clear account of the condition of Egypt and the character of its inhabitants. She describes the every-day life of the people, their habits and customs, their social and political institutions, the peculiarity of their religion, and traces the development and changes of the people and dynasties down to the year 1879." — Syracuse Journal.

CLUM, FRANKLIN D., M.D.

Health. 12mo, $.75.

CLARK, REV. F. E., President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

Danger Signals. 12mo, $.75.

"The addresses which compose the volume, on some of the sins most likely to affect the young in large cities, were delivered to large audiences of young people. The several topics treated are King Alcohol; Dirt in Ink; Trash in Ink; The Low Theatre; The Gambling Den; The Leper of Impurity; Sappers and Miners of Character; Frivolity, Selfishness, Dishonesty." — The Advance.

"There is enough to save a generation of young men if they would give heed thereto. Put this book in the trunk of the young man when he leaves home for business life, or college, or even for a summer vacation." — Christian Union.

Looking Out on Life. A book for girls. 12mo, $.75.

Equal in interest, value, suggestion, and common-sense, to the author's book for boys, "Danger Signals."

Mossback Correspondence. 12mo, $1.00.

A series of practical letters upon religious themes.

Our Business Boys. 16mo, $.60.

"Here is a little book literally worth its weight in gold, and one which ought to be thoroughly read by every boy who contemplates a business career. The author, seeing how many boys are entering stores and counting-rooms instead of learning trades or remaining on farms, took the pains to write to nearly a hundred business men of this city for the purpose of ascertaining their respective opinions touching the qualifications necessary in a young man to command success." — Portland Argus.

Ways and Means. 12mo, $1.25.

A history of the Christian Endeavor movement from its beginning to the present time. The book also contains valuable suggestions as to forming new societies, and the successful management of the same. A book that should be in the hands of every member of the Y. P. S. C. E.

CLARK, H. H., U.S.N.

Boy Life in the United States Navy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

One of the most popular sea stories ever written.

"While telling his story of Joe Bently's adventures, the author gives a detailed account of the entire naval system from the boy's first entrance. The book is both interesting and instructive; it is a true picture of a healthy, attractive life that is little known to the general public, and full enough of adventures to please all boy readers." — Literary News, New York.

Joe Bently; Naval Cadet. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

This may be considered a sequel to "Boy Life in the U. S. Navy." As Joe Bently advances in his chosen profession, he meets with many new and intensely interesting adventures, while the clear explanation of the little understood details of naval life, which made the first book so instructive, are continued in this with marked success.

CLARK, MRS. S. R. GRAHAM.

Achor. 12mo, $1.50.

A sequel to the "Triple E." It has the same characters and solves the mystery which there enveloped the heroine's life, who, now grown to womanhood, devotes herself to the reclamation of a depraved father.

Go's Goings. 12mo, $1.50.

There were five "go's," and each one of them was a power in many lives. What they were the book will tell you.

Herbert Gardenell's Children. 12mo, $1.50.

"Herbert Gardenell is a clergyman with five children, and their characters and home life, with its vicissitudes of light and shadow, are the subject of the story, which is well told and conveys impressive lessons." — Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia.

Herbert Gardenell, Jr. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A new book by one of the most popular writers of Sunday-school books. It follows as a sequel her earlier and excellent story, "Herbert Gardenell's Children."

Our Street. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A very powerful plea for temperance. It is just such a story as makes a lasting impression upon the minds of young readers." — Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

Tom's Street. 12mo, $1.50.

A brightly suggestive story; it shows the good that may be done in a neighborhood through the efforts of one strong, earnest, willing worker. Tom Young, the hero, is just such a manly, enthusiastic young fellow as people like to read about; the other occupants of the street where he lives and labors are drawn with much skill.

"Triple E" (The). 12mo, $1.50.

"'The Triple E' is the name playfully given by her friends to a girl of eighteen, whose three names begin with that letter, and who is left with a younger sister to make her way in the world after the death of her parents. She has promised her mother on her deathbed to not only care for her sister, but also for an insane uncle, and a little girl waif who came into their family in the most mysterious manner. The two sisters are compelled to enter a large manufactory in order to gain a subsistence and earn means for supporting their charges. The record of their experiences in this new life, their trials, and the victory over adversity they finally achieved, is told in a manner which commands attention from first to last." — Burlington Hawkeye.

Yensie Walton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"It is about an orphan girl who finds a home with an uncle, and is made a drudge by her aunt, who is a coarse, vulgar woman. At first she is passionate and disobedient. But a Christian teacher develops a new life in her, and she becomes a sunbeam in the house, even softening the heart of her aunt. — Portland Transcript.

Yensie Walton's Womanhood. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A sequel to "Yensie Walton."

"Yensie has arrived at the dignity of an instructor, and her experience will greatly interest those who have to do with the moral and mental training of children. She is met at last by 'woman's destiny,' and we leave her in her own wedded home, a wife and mother to serve as a model." — The Watchman, Boston.

COLTER, MRS. J. J.

Gentle Benefactress (A). Author of "One Quiet Life," etc. 12mo, $1.25.

A young girl with ample means, but without near family ties, determines to share her good fortune with those who are brothers and sisters in a larger sense. She helps the poor and needy, rescues the outcast, encourages the gifted, struggling, and ambitious, and so not only enriches their lives, but makes her own rounded and complete.

One Quiet Life. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Robbie Meredith. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CONKLIN, JENNIE, M.D.

Keenie's To-morrow. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A helpful book for girls, dealing with the common duties and experiences of life, and showing that an average home furnishes abundant opportunities for being a heroine, and for the development of the highest type of character. — Congregationalist, Boston.

CONNELLY, EMMA M.

Kentucky (The Story of). 8vo, $1.50; half-leather, $2.00.

This charming and dramatic story of the rise, development, and progress of one of the most picturesque of all the States of the American Union is told in story form, and reads like a romance.

Tilting at Windmills. A Story of the Blue-Grass Country. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"A charming idyl of the Blue-Grass country. It tells of a Puritan's effort to improve the manners and customs of Kentucky society. Miss Connelly's work is not to be stamped as 'a novel with a purpose,' or an historical novel, and so robbed of its popularity; but it is a delicate and powerful delineation of a social life as charming as it is strange to Northern readers." — American Bookseller, N.Y.

CONVERSE, FRANK H.

The Adventures of Tad. 12mo, $1.25.

Tad is an orphan boy whose honesty brings him into a series of interesting adventures, beginning in Philadelphia, leading him thence to Boston, and finally landing him in Maine, where he has some exciting experiences in a country village. Tad is a self-reliant little fellow, who, by his persistency of purpose, goes safely through the many dangers with which he is beset.

CONWELL, COL. RUSSELL H.

Bayard Taylor: His Life, Travels, and Literary Career. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Bayard Taylor is conspicuous among the many in our country who have risen from humble conditions by personal honorable effort to high places. He was a lover of humanity and of truth. Col. Conwell has told the story of his life, his struggles, and his final success with loving care, and has supplemented it with an account of his death and the wide-spread sorrow it occasioned. It is a profitable and stimulating book for boys and young men.

COOKE, CARRIE A.

Art of Living. Selected from the writings of Samuel Smiles. With an introduction by Rev. A. P. Peabody. 12mo, $1.00; holiday, gilt top, $1.25.

Here and Beyond; or, Beautiful Words of Life. Selected; with an introduction by Geo. D. Spaulding, D.D. 4to, cloth, gilt edges, $2.75.

Words of helping and hoping, drawn from the greatest writers, and designed to shed light on life's pathway and the certainty of peace in the life beyond the veil.

From June to June. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"It is the record of a year of life of a very human girl, sweetly and naturally told. Self-surrender and a cry for help in the face of a great temptation bring Him who is able to save to the uttermost; and out of this, and the struggles and temptations besetting her in the ordinary duties of school and home life, the little heroine rises to new character in Jesus Christ. It is not a 'goodish' book, but it is a good book, and well calculated to impress saving truths upon girls verging into womanhood." — Christian Advocate, New York.

Many Colored Threads. Selections from the writings of Goethe. Edited. Introduction by Rev. Alex. McKenzie, D.D. 16mo, $1.00.

"We doubt if there is another author, always excepting Shakespeare, from whose books so many noble and complete thoughts can be extracted. In the two hundred and fifty pages of this volume are more than a thousand gems, each worthy of its setting." — Boston Transcript.

To-days and Yesterdays. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A pleasant, wholesome sketch of girl life and character in which we are shown the beginnings and progress of womanly effort to be useful, and to build upon the foundation of educational training just completed." — Baptist Weekly; N. Y.

Young Folks' Speaker. A collection of Prose and Poetry for Declamations, Recitations, and Elocutionary Exercises. Selected and arranged. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CORNELL, Wm M., LL.D.

Horace Greeley: His Life and Public Career. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Horace Greeley gave the strength of his life to education, to honest industry, to humanity, especially toward the poor and unbefriended. He was feet for the lame; he was an eye for the blind; was tongue for the dumb; and had a heart for those who had none to sympathize with them. He poured his life out for thirty years into the life of his time." — HENRY WARD BEECHER.

COWAN, REV. J. F.

Endeavor Doin's Down to the Corners. Square 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

A delightfully realistic account by "Brother Jonathan Hayseeds" of the Christian Endeavor work in a country village. For homely common sense and dry humor, it has not been surpassed, while it is yet all aglow with the earnest spirit of this great working force of the modern church.

COX, MARIA McINTOSH.

Jack Brereton's Three Months' Service. Illustrated, $1.25.

A story of a boy's "home service" during the stirring days of the civil war. As delightful as it is dramatic. Just the book for every American boy and girl to read and enjoy. And they will enjoy it.

CRAIGIN, LOUISE T. (Ellis Gray.)

The Cedars. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The daily life of a big, old-fashioned household — half a dozen boys and girls — father, mother, grandma, uncle Will, aunt Margaret, Dinah, Chloe, and Dr. John, the family doctor. Such jolly times as those children had eating and dancing at aunt Margaret's wedding, drinking surreptitious chocolate in grandma's room, warming their cold toes at grandma's open fire, and listening to her stories!

Long Ago. 12mo, $1.25.

Uniform with "The Cedars" and "Sunshine." Illustrated by Susan Hale and Julia P. Dabney.

Sunshine. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

This author, so favorably known by her earlier books, "The Cedars" and "Long Ago," has completed in this volume the Sweet Home Series.

CROCKER, LUCRETIA.

Lessons on Color in Primary Schools. Paper, $.20.

This plan for Color Lessons was prepared for the use of teachers in the Boston Primary Schools, and was reported at the request of the Massachusetts State Board of Education. After revision and enlargement it was adopted by the Boston School Committee. Each year's work is mapped out in detail; valuable notes and suggestions are given for the guidance of the teacher, to which are added a number of designs in form and color. Every primary teacher should have a copy of this little manual.

CROWNINSHIELD, MARY BRADFORD.

All Among the Light-houses. 8vo, illustrated from photographs and original drawings, cloth, $2.25; boards, $1.75.

"'All Among the Light-houses' is brimful of information, brimful of stir and life on board ship and on shore, up and down lighthouses, over rocks, through fogs, with the jolliest captain and first mate, to say nothing of the all-knowing light-house inspector." — Golden Rule, Boston.

Light-house Children Abroad (The); or, The Ignoramuses in Europe. Cloth, $2.25; boards, $1.75.

The "Ignoramuses" are the same children who took the summer cruise described in "All Among the Light-houses." They take the name on shipboard where they find so many things they know nothing about. The party sails for Hamburg, and visits all the important cities of Germany, Switzerland, and the south of France. The story leaves them in Nice.

Plucky Smalls: His Story. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A New York street boy on board ship has many amusing adventures. He tells his own story, in his own homely way, but his shrewd observations of men and things would reflect credit upon a more experienced voyager.

CRUGER, MARY.

Brotherhood. 12mo, $1.25.

The trades-unions that bind men to act contrary, often, to their best judgment, the monopoly of capitalists, the ill-regulated zeal of partisan leaders, are all presented with dramatic power and eloquence.

CUMMINGS, ELIZABETH.

Miss Matilda Archambeau Van Dorn. 12mo, $.75.

A little girl, overshadowed by the glory of her dead-and-gone ancestors, feels herself obliged to live up to the family record, in spite of her natural love of fun. An extremely bright, attractive, and bewitching story.

CUMMINGS, M. J. (Captain Carnes.)

Little Toss. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Uncle Anthony. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

CYR, ELLEN M

Interstate Primer and First Reader. 136 pages, cloth, $.40.

The few words that the child has learned are constantly repeated, until thoroughly learned, in sentences that mean something to the child, and thus the book is made enjoyable from the start.

DAILY COMFORT. A companion volume to DAILY MANNA. 24mo, cloth, $.50; white and gold, $.50.

DAILY MANNA. See STOW.

DAILY FOOD. First and second series. Each 48mo, plain, $.15; gilt edges, $.20.

DARLING, MARY GREENLEAF.

Gladys. A romance. (Round World Series.) 12mo, $1.25.

A story of "society people" of the best class, sketched with much power, yet with fine delicacy of touch. There is an element of reserved strength in the characters which makes itself felt even in "Gladys," with all the charm of her girlish grace and beauty. Life at Bar Harbor is skilfully drawn, and also at Memphis during the scourge of yellow fever in 1878, the description of which is remarkably vivid.

DAVIS, Mrs. C. E. K.

Miss Wealthy's Hope. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Miss Wealthy is one of those dear old maids whose lot in life is serving others. She works hard and endures much, her only reward being the happiness she gets from seeing others happy. She never complains of the grievous service, for she is strengthened and sustained by a hope — the hope of perfect rest.

That Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Will be good to give a boy for his first long story. The hero is a real papa's boy.

DAVIS, M. E. M.

In War Times at La Rose Blanche. 12mo, illustrations by Kemble, $1.25.

"The really good book of Southern war stories for children waited until it appeared in the shape of 'In War-Times.' It is all there; it is all in the little book with its twelve stories, some gay and some sad, and its delightful tale of doll-keeping; and if there be any child, or indeed, any older reader, who will not cry over the 'Cunnel's Valley,' let North and South both reject him. 'Twas a long, long time on de way;' but 'La Rose Blanche' means that the good time for the children is here, and that the Southern side of the war story is going to be written for them." — Boston Herald.

DAWES, Mrs. S. E.

Ethel's Year at Ashton. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"A young girl comes into a farmer's family, provided only with the motto, 'Seek daily opportunities of doing good,' and a sweet affectionate nature to carry out the motto. Her influence upon a narrow household, in which darning and earning are the chief aims, is developed with much good taste and feeling." — Boston Journal.

DAY, Rev. G. T.

African Adventure and Adventurers. Edited. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

An epitome of the elaborate works of Bruce, Speke, Grant, Baker, and Livingstone.

DEANE, FANNIE A.

National Flowers. 8vo, gilt, $.75.

The interest in national flowers will be increased by reading this charming book, which tells the story of England's rose, Scotland's thistle, the lotus of Egypt, the lily of France, and many other representative flowers.

Wonders From Sea and Shore. 4to, boards, illustrated, $1.25.

DEANE, MARY BATHURST.

Three Little Maids. Illustrated by F. O. Small. 4to, $1.50.

A story of English girl life and character, unique in its development and delightful in its atmosphere. A book of three English children whom all American children will like.

DELANO, Mrs. ALINE. See Tolstoï.

DERVAL, JOHANNES VON.

Far From Home. Translated from the German by Katherine Hamilton. 12mo, $1.25.

"It is a lively picture of society life in a small German town. Among recent German novels, 'Far From Home' is the most acceptable for readers of unvitiated taste, since it deals with everyday people, instead of mystics, transcendentalists, and the like." — Chicago Tribune.

DIAZ, Mrs. A. M.

Bybury to Beacon Street. 12mo, $1.25.

"Sensible and humorous is Mrs. A. M. Diaz's 'Bybury to Beacon Street.' The villagers of Bybury are supposed to meet together, and to talk and write about their experiences, as well as to discuss various subjects. Sunlight in the house, simplicity in dress and diet, self-respect instead of the worship of wealth and fashion, education of women in skilled labor, are among the things Mrs. Diaz advocates by the mouths of her speakers. These and other topics are touched with the bright insight and penetrating common-sense which are the worst enemies of stupidity and folly. The social lump needs plenty of such leaven. We hope that both in city and country the book will be widely read." — New York Nation.

Cat's Arabian Nights (The). 8vo, illustrated, boards, $1.25.

The wonderful cat story of cat stories told by Pussyanita that saved the lives of all the cats, the funniest, wittiest, story that ever was (so says Pussyanita); and that is why it is so wonderful. King Grimalkum must have been a credulous fellow; but nobody blames him for losing his wits to such a teller of cat stories.

Chronicles of The Stimpcett Family. 8vo, boards, $1.25.

". . . The 'Chronicles' are fifteen in number; and two which contain descriptions of old-fashioned schools will interest older readers, and will seem incredible to children accustomed to receiving their education with modern improvements." — Boston Budget.

Domestic Problems. Work and culture in the household. Two volumes in one. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"It is not a series of theoretical essays, but a plain hand to hand discussion of the questions which come up every day in every home in the country, particularly in those homes where it is necessary to keep an eye upon the expenses of living; where much of the burden and brunt comes upon the 'woman folks;' where there are children to be fed, clothed, and educated, and where an ambition exists to live in respectable style." — Boston Transcript.

Jimmyjohns and Other Stories (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Every respectably brought-up girl and boy has read the 'Jimmyjohns,' and had heaps of enjoyment out of it. Mrs. Diaz seems to have an instinctive knowledge of what children like to read, and no one knows better than she how to prepare it." — Boston Transcript.

John Spicer Lectures (The). 16mo, $.60.

The lecturer, Mr. John Spicer, "aged eight and one month," delivers the amusing and practical discourses which the books contain to an assemblage of boys and girls in Barn Hall. These "talks" relate to Christmas-trees, knives, swapping, clothes, food, money, riding, Fourth of July, crying, sneaks, manners, boys.

Lucy Maria. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Only a Flock of Women. 12mo, $1.25.

This volume consists of forty-two distinct papers, most of them bearing upon the general themes of woman's sphere and woman's thought — the home, the club, and the shop, with their duties and opportunities.

Polly Cologne (The Story of). 12mo, more than 100 illustrations by Boz, $1.00.

"A quaint and laughable story of a small flaxen-haired doll, who was lost, and went through almost as many adventures as David Livingstone, before she was found again. . . . A special benediction is due to any one who enables us to indulge in a good laugh that has no sneer lurking in it; and the blessings of those whom she has blessed in that way will always follow Mrs. Diaz." — Woman's Journal, Boston.

Story Book for Children (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

William Henry Letters (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Perhaps as admirable as anything ever produced in this country in the way of Juvenile literature. They show an absolute knowledge of boy nature, and as for their bright, breezy fun they are unsurpassed." — Albany Argus.

William Henry and His Friends. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Her William Henry books hold the first place in juvenile literature for pure absolute knowledge of boy nature, and for breezy wholesomeness." — Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Diaz's books are recommended by the State Boards of Wisconsin and other States.

DINIZ, JULIO.

Fidalgos of Casa Mourisca (The). Translated from the Portuguese by Roxana L. Dabney. 12mo, $1.50.

Presents in most attractive form the best phases of Portuguese life, and shows the struggle between the old aristocratic ideas that formerly held sway and the progress of modern thought.

DORLAND, W. A NEWMAN.

Cluster of Pearls (A). For Christian Endeavor Workers. Compiled. 12mo, $.75.

A volume rich in valuable and appropriate selections such as will meet the needs of Christian workers in all lines, and prove helpful and inspiring.

DOTY, DUANE.

Rules and Hints on The Theory and Practice of Teaching. Pamphlet, $.15.

DOUGLAS, ROBERT K.

China. With revisions by Yan Phou Lee. 12mo, $1.50.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"This volume comes at a time when there is a demand for something brief, exact, and authoritative in the way of Chinese history. The author of the volume before us had exceptional advantages for making such a book as the public demand and need. He was for several years a resident of China in an official capacity, and studied the people and their mode of life from actual observation. The various chapters of the work deal with the history of the empire in brief,—its government, religions, its educational system, the nurture of the young, superstitions, funeral and wedding rites, the language, food, and dress, honors, architecture, music, medicine, and other subjects."—Journal of Education, Boston.

DOWNING, MARLTON.

Young Cascarillero (The); and COLONEL THORNDIKE'S ADVENTURES, by Henry W. French. Illustrated by H. Martin Beal and Henry Sandham. 12mo, $1.00.

A double delight to those who love stories of adventure. "The Young Cascarilleros" is a capital story of research and adventure among the cascarilleros—the bark-hunters, or chincona-gatherers, of Ecuador. The surroundings afford a stirring story of adventure among Indians, pumas, and treacherous cascarilleros, which every boy of spirit will welcome and enjoy.

"Colonel Thorndike's Adventures" comprise the stories of a veritable "globe trotter" who has been everywhere, seen everything, and had a host of adventures.

DUNNING, Mrs. A. K.

Contradictions; or, HIGH LIFE AT EDGERTON. ($500 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Grace Avery's Influence. ($1000 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Story of Four Lives (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Trifles. ($500 Prize Stories.) 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Showing the influence exerted upon character by what are often deemed little and unimportant things.

EASTMAN, JULIA A.

Miss Eastman, it will be remembered, took the prize of one thousand dollars offered some years ago by this house. She has a large circle of young admirers. She carries off the palm as a writer of school-life stories, and teachers are always glad to find their scholars reading Miss Eastman's books. Her style is characterized by quick movements, sparkling expression, and incisive knowledge of human nature.

Kitty Kent's Troubles. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"The heroine of the present book is the daughter of a clergyman, 'a girl who was neither all good nor all bad, but partly the one and partly the other;' and the narrative of her trials and experiences is intended as a guide and help to other girls who have those of the same kind to contend with, and to impress upon them the lesson that 'the only road to happiness lies through the land of goodness.'"—New England Journal of Education.

Romneys of Ridgemont (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

A story of the New England hills; of sugaring and haymow conferences and old-fashion picnics.

Schooldays of Beulah Romney. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

An aged Christian woman befriends a dozen careless schoolgirls, and helps them out of the many troubles that invade their lives.

Short Comings and Long Goings. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The ups and downs of wide-awake boy and girl life in a country home.

Striking For The Right. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

A story illustrating the necessity of kindness to animals. The pupils of the Eastford High School form a humane society which does a noble work.

A premium of $1000 was awarded the author for this MS. by the examining committee.

Young Rick. 12mo, 12 full-page illustrations by Sol. Eytinge, Jr., $1.25.

Young Rick was a genuine boy, mischievous and motherless. Aunt Lesbia, with whom he lived, was not used to children, and found it no easy task to look after him. In the end, however, her kindness and good sense made a man of him.

EATON, FRANCES.

Dollikins and The Miser. Cloth, $1.50.

Quaint, original, impetuous, and full of noble impulses, Dollikins is one of the most charming creations of child fiction. Her generous nature not only changes the old miser, but influences all as well. The other characters are also strongly drawn.

A Queer Little Princess. 4to, illustrated, $1.50.

Henrietta Minerva Longstreet Nelson is her full name. She is not a royal-blood princess, but the "queerest, dearest, best little girl in the world," nicknamed "Little Princess," because—as the nurse expresses it—she is so "fine and pretty." A fair-haired, prattling, whimsical, self-sacrificing little peace-maker is her "Royal Highness," by her artless ways bending everybody to her own sweet will.

Pathetic and humorous by turns, filled with lessons of life, this story is destined to become a "child classic."

EDSON, N. I.

Barbara. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

An invalid father, penniless through misfortune, a much-enduring Christian mother, and three daughters — very different and yet alike as sisters are wont to be — make up the Bennett family. A will is found under very strange circumstances, bequeathing to them a large property, but before the necessary legal steps can be taken this will is stolen by interested parties. At this juncture a runaway son, supposed to be dead, returns with a fortune, and what is much better than a fortune — a loving, purified heart.

Silent Tom. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

A violent infidel is brought to put his faith in Christianity through the influence of a devout wife.

ELY, E. H.

Latin In The Public Schools. An affirmative argument. Pamphlet, $.08; $.15.

EYSTER, NELLIE BLESSING.

Colonial Boy (A); or, The Old Link Closet. 12mo, $1.25

The story of a real colonial boy in days of peril and adventure, charmingly linking the beginnings of Maryland's picturesque story with the ways and things of to-day.

FAITH AND ACTION. Selections from the writings of F. D. Maurice. With preface by Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D. 12mo, $1.00.

Few English clergymen are better known in this country than Frederic D. Maurice, whose untimely death, some years ago, deprived not only England, but the Christian world, of one of its ablest religious teachers. He devoted a great deal of his time to the social and religious needs of the common people.

FARMAN, ELLA. (Mrs. Charles Stuart Pratt.)

Ella Farman was, for years, the editor of WIDE AWAKE. Her books are full of sympathy with girl-life, always sunshiny and hopeful, always pointing out new ways to do things and unexpected causes for happiness and gladness.

Anna Maylie. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The story of faithful, resolute work in the Sunday-school and in the field of the Western religious pioneer. It shows that every truly earnest Christian soul will be busy in some service for Christ, however limited the sphere in which it is placed.

Cooking-Club of Tu-Whit Hollow (The). 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

The practical instructions in housewifery, which are abundant, are set in the midst of a bright wholesome story. Girls who read this book will not be able to keep house at once, but they will learn to do some things, and they will have an hour or two of genuine pleasure in discovering how there came to be a cooking-club and in tracing its history.

Girl's Money (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Work is always a cure for morbidness" is the burden of this story. A young lady has a violent sickness and is paralyzed for life. Though surrounded with all the comforts that wealth can give, she is nervous, petulant, a burden and a sorrow to kind friends, until her sensible grandmother resolves to stop petting and pitying and try stirring. The morbid girl at once rouses from her lethargy and becomes a blessing to those about her.

Good-for-nothing Polly. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"Polly" is not a girl at all, but a boy — a slangy, school-hating, fun-loving, wilful, big-hearted boy. "Nagged" continually at home, he wastes his time upon the streets and finally runs away. The book tells of his adventures. Mrs. Pratt has a keen insight into the joys and sorrows of the little-appreciated boy-life. Like Robert J. Burdette, she is a master of humor, and often touches a tender chord of pathos. Every boy will be delighted with this book, and every mother ought to read it who is, all unwittingly perhaps, "freezing" her own noisy boy out of the home.

Grandma Crosby's Household. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

The story of a little girl's endeavor to conquer her natural stubbornness.

Home Primer. Square 8vo, 100 Illustrations, $.50.

Just the book to place in the hands of children just learning to read.

How Two Girls Tried Farming. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A narrative of an actual experience. "The two girls who tried farming solved a problem by taking the bull by the horns, and that is often as effectual a means as can be resorted to. They had for capital one thousand dollars. With this they bought thirty-five acres of scraggy farm land. Then they hired out as lady help for the winter, and laid by enough money to buy clover-seed, and a horse, and a few other necessities. Dolly had learned to plough and harrow and make hay, and even to cut wood. Both girls worked hard, and it is pleasant to chronicle their success. Now they have a prosperous farm, and raise cows, sheep, pigs, and chickens; and as they do everything to the best of their ability, their products are in constant demand." — St. Louis Post-Despatch.

Little Woman (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A fourteen-year old girl has the responsibilities of a household thrown upon her shoulders, and it seems at first more than she can bear. But she proves herself a "little woman," for she depends not on her own weakness, but upon Him who strengtheneth. The record of her trials and her triumphs is so captivating that any girl who begins the book is sure to finish it.

Mrs. Hurd's Niece. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"We can scarcely speak in too high praise of this story-book. It is a good tale, well told. The characters are interesting; the situations are natural and entertaining; the conversations are bright and often decidedly witty; while the moral of the story from beginning to end is pure and elevating. It is one of the books which bear fruit in better lives and better deeds." — Chicago Standard.

White Hand (A). 12mo, $1.25.

A true picture of American society.

FARMER, LYDIA HOYT.

The Story Book of Science. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

"The book is a fairy tale, a model fairy tale in which truth is not sacrificed to fiction, but clothed in a fascinating garb. Among the subjects treated in the present volume are the discovery of glass, tea, coffee, pepper, and potatoes; sponges, oysters, and coral; stories of the wind and other important and fascinating topics." — Boston Commonwealth.

FARMING FOR BOYS. By the author of "Ten Acres Enough." 12mo, illustrated, $.75

Recommended by the State Board of Wisconsin for the public school libraries.

A handy little old man in the story sets out to show the boys how to make farming interesting. He finds things rather dull at first; but he understands boy nature as well as farming; and under the guise of keeping them busy, he teaches them dozens of things that farmers ought to know, but generally don't.

FAVORITE STORY BOOK (THE). By the best authors. With colored frontispiece. 4to, boards, $1.50; cloth, $2.25.

FEUDGE, FANNY ROPER.

History of India. 12mo, cloth, 100 full-page illustrations, $1.50.

A succinct account of the leading events in the history of this remarkable country, its physical traits, customs, works of art, and other distinguishing features of the past and present.

FITCH-PIERCE, MARY R.

Child Classics of Poetry. Compiled. 8vo, extra cloth, $1.50.

This exquisite gift-book is designed to familiarize children with the poetry of such authors as Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Bryant, Dr. Holland, etc.

Child Classics of Prose. Compiled. 8vo, extra cloth, $1.50.

Each one of the selections in this dainty volume is a gem, and will be an enduring source of delight to young readers. The illustrations make them familiar with some of the finest presentations of child-life.

FOA, MADAME EUGÉNIE.

The Boy Life of Napoleon, afterwards Emperor of the French. Adapted and extended for American children from the French original. Illustrated by Vesper L. George. One vol. Square 8vo. $1.25.

A timely and altogether attractive volume, and the only life of the boy Napoleon extant. Madame Foa was one of the most popular of French writers for young people, and her delightful account of the great emperor's boy-life has been revised and enlarged by the American editor so as to include all the latest information touching upon the childhood of the most remarkable man and military leader of the nineteenth century.

FOLSOM, A. P. and M. T.

Young Folks' Poetry. A choice selection of poems for Sunday-school and day-school recitations, selected and arranged by A. P. and M. T. Folsom. 12mo, $1.00.

FOSTER, MRS. M. J. C.

Immortal Hopes. Compiled from classics; with introduction by J. M. Buckley, D.D. 24mo, lavender, gold and silver, $.50.

FRENCH, HENRY WILLARD.

Colonel Thorndike's Adventures. See Downing (Marlton).

Lance of Kanana (The). Illustrated by Garrett. 12mo, $1.00.

A brilliant story of Oriental adventure in the tents and deserts of Arabia. The heir is a noble boy with a noble purpose. It is a tale to bring young patriots to their feet.

Oscar Peterson: Ranchman and Ranger. Fully illustrated, 12mo, extra cloth, $1.50.

A thrilling story of peril, hardship, and adventure in the wild West, with Indians, cowboys, and pioneer settlers for familiar figures. The plot is healthily exciting, the characters strongly drawn, and the story gives vivid pictures of life on the plains.

Through Arctics and Tropics. Around the World by a New Path for a New Purpose. A perfect storehouse of incident and anecdote, covering life and things in all quarters of the globe. Profusely illustrated, with colored frontispiece, cloth, $1.50.

FRÉMONT, JESSIE BENTON.

Far West Sketches. 12mo, $1.00.

Mrs. Frémont, beyond any other woman, saw the picturesque, the tragical, the humorous, and the noble aspects of the pioneer movement.

Souvenirs of My Time. 12mo, $1.50.

Jessie Benton Frémont, as well as her husband, General Frémont, and her father, Senator Benton, are historical figures. At fourteen she was bridesmaid to the youthful bride of Mr. Bodisco, then the Russian minister at Washington. The account is a genuine bit of history. It is followed by chapters on "Washington in Past Days,"

"Family Life at the White House," dealing especially with the days of Van Buren and Jackson; "Mrs. Madison and Mrs. Hamilton;" life at St. Louis, New Orleans, and in California, in her youthful days; and her journeys and experiences abroad, where she was received at the courts of several countries.

Will and the Way Stories. 12mo, $1.00.

Mrs. Frémont is always a fascinating writer, but never more so than when she touches upon the scenes and incidents of her early life in the great West.

GAGE, WILLIAM LEONARD.

A Leisurely Journey. 16mo, $1.00.

"Mr. Gage has, it is evident, excellent powers of observation, and no less excellent powers of description. The most interesting pages of his volume are, perhaps, those describing his visit to the Lake Country, and recalling memories of the poets of the Lake School — Coleridge, Southey, and Wordsworth. The chapters devoted to Germany, describing household life, the condition of music, the life of American students in Berlin, the religious state of the country, and like topics are also exceedingly readable." — Christian Union, N.Y.

GILMAN, ARTHUR, A.M.

American People (History of the). 12mo, illustrated, $1.50; 8vo, illustrated, gilt top, $2.50.

Working very much on the general lines and methods of Mr. Green, in his history of the English people, Mr. Gilman notes the progress of the arts, of life, of literature, education, and social life, and in discussing political affairs, brings them up to the high standard of independent liberalism." — Independent, N.Y.

Gilman's Historical Readers:

As first books in American history, nothing has been offered to the schools which gives so clear a view of the whole subject in a style to interest the youth.

The series is graded.

No. 1, from the romantic nature of its story, is appropriate for the use of the youngest pupils.

The subject of No. 2 is more difficult, and the style is naturally adapted to the slight progress that ought to be made in using No. 1.

No. 3 discusses the principles of government, and the great topics that have engaged the attention of the American people during the last century.

No. 1. Discovery and Exploration of America (The). 128 pages, $.60.

No. 2. Colonization of America (The). 160 pages, $.80.

No. 3. Making of the American Nation (The). 192 pages, $1.00.

Kings, Queens, and Barbarians; or, Seven Historic Ages. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Magna Charta Stories. Edited by Arthur Gilman, A.M. 12mo, $1.00.

"The purpose of the volume is to present to young readers accounts of notable instances in the world's history, of men who have made their lives heroic in their sacrifices and struggles for Freedom." — Chicago Advance.

Short Stories from The Dictionary. 12mo, $.60.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

"A very good book, which should be placed in the hands of children who have used the dictionary somewhat and begin to ask questions about the meaning of words." — Boston Beacon.

Tales of The Pathfinders. 12mo, illustrated by Robert Lewis, $1.00.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

Sketches in chronological order the thrilling adventures of the early American explorers, from the discovery of the continent to the Revolutionary War.

GIRL'S ROOM (A). By Some Friends of the Girl. 12mo, $1.00.

"A series of bright and helpful sketches about the furnishing and decorating of girls' rooms, various kinds of feminine fancy-work, and entertainments, and games for girls' enjoyment. The book is full of practical hints, which quick-witted girls will be glad to act upon." — Boston Journal.

GOODWIN, CHRISTINA.

After Schooldays. 12mo, $1.00.

"A pretty story, inculcating the prime necessity that young people should fit themselves to be self-supporting. Two sisters take up, the one dressmaking, the other making of cakes, jellies, and later, serving dinners and lunches. All girls may not have these particular gifts; but every one can count for service in an emergency, if only she has learned to do one thing well." — Springfield Republican.

Grammar School Fridays. 182 pages, paper, $.50.

Selections in prose and verse for declamations and public readings by young people. Many found in no other collection.

GRANVILLE, J. MORTIMER, M.D.

Health at Home Library. 5 vols., 16mo, $.60 each; the set, $3.00.

GREENE, BELLE C.

Hobbledehoy (The). The story of one betwixt boy and man. With text and full page illustrations by C. Chase Emerson. 12mo, $1.25.

No other book occupies precisely this field of stimulating romance. It is the story of a boy just changing from boyhood to manhood — the awkward, ambitious, honest, manly "hobbledehoy." It depicts the feelings, the desires, the aspirations, the awkwardness, and the manliness of the young fellow who is neither boy nor man, as no other story has ever done successfully. A charming story, charmingly told — a help, an inspiration, and an ideal.

New England Idyl. 12mo, $1.00.

A typical Vermont farm furnishes the scene of this pretty idyl. Hester Ruggles, a girl of twenty-four, is the support and guardian of her seventeen-year old, ambitious, pretty sister, her steady, helpful brother of sixteen, and the pet of the family, a boy of eight.

GREENE, C. A., M.D.

Build Well. 12mo, $1.50.

In this volume is given the basis of individual, home, and national elevation. It is filled with plain truths relating to the obligations of marriage and parentage.

GRIFFIS, W. E., D.D.

Arabian Nights' Entertainments (The). Library edition. 4 vols., fifty full-page illustrations, $6.00; half calf, $10.00.

A splendid four-volume library edition of this great classic of Oriental romance, carefully printed from new type, richly bound, and illustrated with over forty full-page pictures of exceptional excellence. The introduction was prepared for American readers by the editor, Rev. Dr. Griffis, an accomplished Orientalist.

GRIMM, JAKOB LUDWIG.

Fairy Tales. Translated by Lucy Crane. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

GRINNELL, JOSIAH B.

Men and Events of Forty Years. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50.

It was to Mr. Grinnell that Horace Greeley made the famous remark, "Go West, young man, go West." The "young man" obeyed the injunction, established a town, was the founder of several others, of Grinnell University, and in every way a power for good in that growing country. His book is biography and history blended, with graphic pictures of places and people.

GUERNSEY, ALICE M.

Skeleton Lessons in Physiology and Hygiene. Pamphlet, flexible cloth cover, $.25.

Lessons are given on the nervous system, circulation, digestion, respiration, and the effects of alcohol and narcotics on the system.

GUINEY, LOUISE IMOGEN.

Brownies and Bogles. 12mo, $1.00.

"This little volume might be fitly styled a fairy handbook, as in it the author describes every kind of the 'little people' that is found in traditions or literature in all the countries of the world. The author mingles her descriptions with anecdotes illustrative of the different qualities and dispositions of the various fairy folk described, and the narrative is made even more interesting by the fifty original drawings by Edmund H. Garrett which are scattered through its pages." — Boston Transcript.

HALE, ANNIE G.

Uncle Mark's Amaranths. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

"Not a love story, but a story of love in a broad and abiding sense." — Golden Rule, Boston.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT.

"For more than thirty years the name of Edward Everett Hale has been among the foremost in American literature, and it is no exaggeration to say that no one man has done more in his way to strengthen, encourage, and aid young people in right thinking and right living than he." — Literary World, Boston.

Boys' Heroes. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Recommended by the State Board of Minnesota and other States for their public school libraries.

A popular, gossipy account of Hector, Horatius, Alexander the Great, Hannibal, King Arthur, Richard the Lion-Hearted, Bayard, Robinson Crusoe, Israel Putnam, General Lafayette, Napoleon, and Ralph Allestree.

"An original conjunction of heroes certainly, and every boy who reads Mr. Hale's account of them will not be willing to omit any from the list." — Christian Register, Boston.

Massachusetts (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50; half leather, $2.00.

Dr. Hale's "story" is a unique and comprehensive association of nineteen historical epochs in the history of Massachusetts, presented in the terse, picturesque, practical and absorbing manner that has made him a master among American history writers.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT, and Miss SUSAN.

Family Flights. 8vo, illustrated, boards, $1.75; cloth, $2.25 each.

Recommended by the State Boards of several States for their public school libraries.

Fresh, piquant, graphic, full of delicate humor, marked by grace in diction and thorough scholarship, these books are not only unsurpassed, but unequalled by any books of similar character. They comprise:

A Family Flight Around Home.

This "Flight" around home takes in the principal towns and localities in Northern New York, and in the Eastern States, to which belong historical reminiscences of the Revolutionary War.

A Family Flight Over Egypt and Syria.

The family — four in number this time — make their flight from New York, landing at Bordeaux, and pushing on without stop to Marseilles, which they reach just in time to catch the steamer for Alexandria. At Alexandria they remain for two days, and then hurry on to Cairo. Here the Nile journey begins, and an entertaining record of each day's experiences is given. After their return to Cairo and a few days' rest they start for Suez, where they traverse the one hundred miles of the famous canal to Port Saïd, on the Mediterranean. From there they take the steamer to Jaffa, the most ancient town in the world. From there they push on to Jerusalem, and after an exhaustive exploration of the sacred city extend their travels to other historical localities of the Holy Land.

A Family Flight Through France, Germany, Norway, and Switzerland.

A month is spent in Paris, affording opportunity not only for general sight-seeing, but for study of the French language, the historic monuments, and the famous works of art. A winter in the cities of Germany gives a like opportunity for studying the language and history of Germany, and for enjoying a German Christmas. In Norway, "the land of the midnight sun," they meet with much that is novel and quaint, and in Switzerland they roam over the mountains associated with the name of William Tell.

A Family Flight Through Mexico.

This time the scene chosen for the flight of Miss Lejeune and her fellow-travellers is Mexico, where they visit the principal cities, see the noteworthy features, and learn some of the history of that Republic.

A Family Flight Through Spain.

In no respect inferior in interest or attractiveness to its predecessors. The country it describes is one of the most romantic and picturesque of any in Europe, and there is hardly a locality in its whole territory that has not some historic association to engage the attention of the traveller.

HALL, Rev. J. A.

Glimpses of Great Fields. 12mo, $1.25.

"The first chapter is devoted to force. In the second chapter he deals with the phenomena of mind and with the materialistic theory, the weakness of which it exposes. In the three chapters which follow and which have for their special subjects, 'Life,' 'The Brain,' and the 'Spiritual Body,' the argument is carried clearly and logically to the end, leaving no point uncovered and no so-called scientific objection unanswered. The author's style is remarkably simple and direct, and the work is wholly free from dogmatism or assumption." — Boston Transcript.

HAMILTON, GEORGE W.

Finding Blodgett. The story of a boy and his dog. 12mo, $1.00.

A stirring story of effort and pluck, and how a boy labored for justice — and got it. An excellent bit of character-sketching of life among the drovers.

HANAFORD, PHEBE A.

Dickens, Charles (Life and Writings of). 12mo, $1.00.

"Without the details of the more pretentious biographies, it gives the salient facts of his life and career, while the extracts from his writings, made with rare discrimination, present to the reader some of the most lovable of his creations, and the choicest specimens of his literary skill." — Belfast Republican Journal, Maine.

HANKS, S. W.

Crystal River Turned into The Black Valley Railroad Country (The). A famous Temperance Allegory. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

HANSCOM, ELIZABETH DEERING.

Lamb's Essays. A Biographical Study. Selected and annotated. 12mo, gilt top, $1.25.

A volume for the home-library shelf, comprising the most notable and personal of the Essays of Charles Lamb, with annotations explanatory of all the special references, hitherto but little understood.

HARLAND, MARION.

Cookery For Beginners. 16mo, boards, $.50; 12mo, $.60; cloth, with blank pages for new receipts, $1.00.

It contains just such counsel and instruction as every young housewife requires when she finds herself obliged to depend upon her own resources amid the perplexities and embarrassments of early housekeeping." — New York Observer.

HARRIS, AMANDA B.

American Authors for Young Folks. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

She tells us about the earlier group of American writers, — Irving, Cooper, Prescott, Emerson, and Hawthorne, — all of whom are gone, and also of some of those who came later, among them the Cary sisters, Thoreau, Lowell, Helen Hunt, Donald G. Mitchell, and others.

Door-Yard Folks. 12mo, illustrated by E. H. Garrett, $1.00.

"Door-yard folks" are animals: moles to begin with, toads, then humming-birds, fishes, foxes, squirrels: zoölogy. The winter garden is winter — bare twigs put in water and in-door sunshine: practical botany.

Little Folks' Birthday Book. Arranged. 12 full-page illustrations and pictures for every day. Square 24mo, tinted edges, cloth, $1.00.

Old School-Days. 12mo, $.60.

Pleasant Authors for Young Folks. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

A volume of short biographies for young people — Scott, Miss Mitford, Charles Lamb, Leigh Hunt, Kingsley, MacDonald, Ruskin, Charlotte Brontè, and others are described.

Poet's Birthday Book (The). Edited. 24mo, 24 full-page illustrations, cloth, $1.00; seal, $2.50.

Original poems for each month by Longfellow, Whittier, Mrs. Whitney, Will Carleton, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Edgar Fawcett, Mrs. L. C. Whiton, Celia Thaxter, Mrs. S. M. B. Piatt, John James Piatt, J. T. Trowbridge, and T. B. Aldrich, also selected day verses from all the poets.

Pleasant lines for birthdays, with not a word of sadness or discouragement in them.

Wild Flowers and Where They Grow. With 60 illustrations by Miss L. B. Humphrey; 8vo, cloth, gilt edges, $2.00.

It is a real pleasure to accompany Miss Harris in her rambles through fields and woods, where wild flowers grow, and the pleasure is heightened by the faithful illustrations contributed by Miss Humphrey." — Chicago Journal.

HARRISON, PROFESSOR JAMES A.

The History of Spain. 12mo, cloth, 100 illustrations, $1.50.

"It is more useful than many of the larger works which were consulted for the information given in this volume; for it is a continuous narrative, giving the facts after careful sifting, and putting them in a way to be remembered when read." — Cleveland Herald.

HAYNE, PAUL HAMILTON.

Poems. 8vo, illustrated, cloth, $3.00; gilt edges, $3.75; half calf, $5.00; Turkey morocco, gilt edges, $8.00.

"He has interpreted Nature, we think, with as clear an insight as the poet of Rydal Mount. He has made the melancholy moanings of his Georgia pines sob through his verses. He has given voices to the Midnight Thunder; to the Windless Rain; to the Muscadines of the Southern Forests; to their Woodland Phases; to the Aspects of the Pines, as has not been heretofore done."— MARGARET J. PRESTON, in Preface.

HAYNES, MARY STORRS.

Crown of Life (The). Selections from the words of Henry Ward Beecher. Edited. With introduction by Rossiter W. Raymond. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; holiday binding, gilt top, $1 25.

New Streams in Old Channels. Selections from the writings of Dr. Lyman Abbott. Introduction by Theodore T. Munger. 16mo, $1.00.

Right to the Point. Selections from the writings of Theodore L. Cuyler, with a sketch of Dr. Cuyler's Life, and an Introduction by Rev. Newman Hall, LL.D. 12mo, $1.00.

HEATON, JOHN L.

Vermont (The Story of). 8vo, illustrated, $1.50.

Pre-eminently a modern story of the Green Mountain State, this bright, vigorous, and practical volume admirably chronicles the rise and progress of a State that has built itself by its sons and daughters into the life of a mighty nation. (Story of the States Series.)

HEREAFTER (THE). 12mo, cloth, $.60; paper, $.25.

The Boston Herald on Christmas Day (1887) propounded the following question: "What are the strongest proofs and arguments in support of the belief in a life hereafter?" and afterwards printed short answers from twenty-three religious teachers, mostly Boston clergymen — including Unitarians, Catholics, and Jews. This material is republished in this little book.

HEROINES OF THE POETS. Édition de luxe. Twelve poems by the most famous poets from Chaucer to Browning; the heroines pictured by Lungren, on India paper. Folio, cloth, gilt top, rough edges, within set in color, and lettering in gold, $12.00. Popular Edition, 8vo, cloth, gilt edges, $3.00; padded seal, $4.00.

"In the attractive volume we have the grave, sensitive, and lovely Aurora Leigh of Mrs. Browning, the Enid of Tennyson, Robert Browning's Balaustion, Robert Burns's Highland Mary, John Keats's Madeline, Coleridge's Genevieve, Wordsworth's Lucy, Scott's Ellen, Herrick's Corinna, Shakespeare's Cordelia, Spenser's Una, and Chaucer's Griselda. The artist has entered happily into the poets' conceptions." — Zion's Herald, Boston.

HEYWOOD, PHILIP D.

An Ocean Tramp. 12mo, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman, $1.25.

"The adventures in the work before us are so startling, so real, and so graphically described, that one cannot help agreeing with the author that life ashore in jail is better in many respects than the average experience of a sailor on a merchantman." — Republic, St. Louis.

HILL, MRS. GRACE LIVINGSTON.

Chautauqua Idyl (A). 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

"I have read Miss Livingston's little idyl with much pleasure. I cannot but think that if the older and more sedate members of the Chautauquan circles will read it, they will find that there are grains of profit in it; hidden grains, perhaps, but none the worse for being hidden at the first, if they only discover them." — E. E. HALE.

Katharine's Yesterday: A Christian Endeavor Story Book. Cloth, illustrated, 12mo, $1.50.

A collection of some of the most earnest and helpful stories in the interest of the Christian Endeavor movement, by one of the most popular of the Christian Endeavor workers and writers. The stories all have a purpose; but they all possess interest, life, and sympathy. The book is one that will merit the approval and meet the needs of all earnest workers in helpful ways, and especially all interested in the work and mission of the noble societies for Christian Endeavor.

Little Servant (A). 12mo, $.50.

A pretty story of the possibilities for good in child life.

Pansies for Thoughts. Selections for each day's reading, from the writings of Mrs. G. R. Alden (Pansy). 16mo, cloth, $.75.

Parkerstown Delegate (The). 12mo, $.50.

A touching and beautiful Christian Endeavor story, in which the young hero, though a helpless invalid, achieves a grand work, and embodies the living principles of the society.

HILLOCK, ELIZABETH A.

Ned Melbourne's Mission. 12mo, $1.50.

Ned Melbourne was the son of a clergyman in the far West, and the nephew of a wealthy New York merchant, who sends for him to come to the city to be a companion and friend to his young daughter, while he himself goes abroad for his health. He meets with some curious adventures on his way to the great metropolis, and makes acquaintances which exert a very strong influence upon his future life. He has no idea of the "mission" he is to perform, and does not realize it until it is performed.

HOLDER, C. F.

A Strange Company. Illustrations by Beard, 12mo, $1.25.

"Many of the facts he cites will be new to older readers, such, for instance, as that of birds that fly under water the same as in the air; of four-footed animals with bills, and of birds with teeth. In a chapter devoted to the speech of animals, we are told how some of the noises made by insects are produced for purposes of communication, and how birds, fishes, and animals convey intelligence one to another. In another chapter the sports and games of animals are dealt with." — Philadelphia Press.

HOLROYD, DOROTHY.

Within the Shadow. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Cecil Chester, the heroine, is brought up in wealth and comfort, but has very few friends besides her lover, a lieutenant in the navy. The lover is on the sea, and the shadows begin to fall over poor Cecil's life one after another until the climax of darkness is reached. By a strange coincidence her own engagement ring, the sign and pledge of her present and future happiness, is the cause of this very depth of misery into which this poor girl is cast." — Salem Gazette.

HOMESPUN, SOPHIA. (Mrs. Harper Monmouth.)

Blue-Eyed Jimmie; or, The Good Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Johnny Jones; or, The Bad Boy. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Much Fruit. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

An earnest plea, in story form, to the young, for kind deeds and words for the Master's sake.

Nettie Nesmith; or, The Bad Girl. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Ruthie Shaw; or, The Good Girl. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

HOPKINS, SELDEN R.

A Young Prince of Commerce. 12mo, $1.25.

A penniless boy's fortune. Hard work and brains make a strong combination, and circumstances are propitious. Beginning as chore-boy on a farm, Albert Vangrift becomes successively store clerk, bank president, railroad director, and vice-president of a railroad syndicate representing $10,000,000. He wins the hand of a girl whose life he once saved, and recovers his parents, supposed to have been lost by shipwreck.

HORWITZ, CARRIE NORRIS.

Fairy Lure. Translated from the German. Illustrated by Bridgman. 12mo, $1.50.

A selection of some of the best and most fascinating Arabian and German fairy stories. Adapted for American readers by the translator of Swanhilde.

Swanhilde, and Other Fairy Tales. 12mo, $1.50.

Dainty fairy tales, from the German; daintily illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

HOVEY, RICHARD.

Seaward. An Elegy on the death of Thomas William Parsons. With Notes and Biography. Royal 8vo, gilt top, uncut edges, in box, $1.50.

The poem is issued in charming style, with full page photogravure portrait, and exquisite illuminated initial; is beautifully printed and bound.

HOW TO LEARN AND EARN; or, Half Hours in Some Helpful Schools. By Jessie Benton Frémont, Mrs. John Lillie, and other American authors. 12mo, 100 illustrations, $1.25.

The titles of the different chapters show the character of the book — "Cadet Life at West Point," "Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind," "Some Indian Schools," "The Training School-Ship Minnesota," "Abqut Some Sewing-Schools," and others.

HUMPHREY, Mrs. FRANCES A.

Adventures of the Early Discoverers. 4to, illustrated, cloth, $.75.

A highly entertaining and instructive combination of history, biography, travel, and adventure. The author tells of the "Hide and Seek Islands," the voyages made to the New World by the Northmen, the Spaniards, Portuguese, and English, sketching by the way the lives of Vespucci, Columbus, Raleigh, Drake, and others.

Dean Stanley with the Children. 12mo, illustrated, $1.00.

Five of Dean Stanley's sermons to children; with an introduction by Canon Farrar.

"In this charming book the author makes us feel the presence of that character so dear to all who know him, — Arthur Stanley, Dean of Westminster. It is one that every Christian mother will delight to read with her boys." — Springfield Register, Illinois.

Favorite Authors for Little Folks. 128 pages, cloth, $.60.

Sketches, with portraits, of authors who have made themselves at once familiar and dear to young readers by their stories and poems, — Longfellow, Whittier, Lucy Larcom, Aldrich, Trowbridge, Stowe, Holmes, Alcott, Hawthorne, the Carys, Bryant, and Margaret Sidney.

How New England was Made. Boards, $1.25; cloth, $1.50.

A graphic account of the making of New England, for younger readers, by one of the best of historical story tellers. It covers the ground from the days of Myles Standish to those of Israel Putnam and Ethan Allen.

Little Folks of Other Lands. Written in collaboration with Fannie A. Chaplin. 203 pages, cloth, $.60.

Similar to the preceding in type, short sentences, and illustrations. Furnishes excellent reading in connection with first lessons in geography.

HUNTINGTON, FAYE.

Couldn't be Bought. 12mo, illustrated, $.75.

"A delightful collection of short stories for boys and girls, adapted to the Sunday-School library. The volume takes its name from the leading story. The author has a pleasant and attractive style, and her stories have a large amount of 'telling' force in them." — Lutheran Observer.

Echoing and Re-echoing. 12mo, illustrated, $1.50.

Modern Exodus (A). 12mo, $1.50.

Shows what young men can do in the interests of religious and temperance work in a small, irreligious neighborhood. There are strong contrasts of character, and the incidents of the story are strongly told. The book should be a power for good.

Mrs. Deane's Way. 12mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Stories of Great Men. 16mo, $.50.

"Stories of Great Men" contains twenty-six brief biographical sketches of eminent men, written in a style suitable for the entertainment and instruction of young people. They begin with Addison and Alexander the Great, and close with Daniel Webster and Xenophon.
